Sharp's Tax Recipe Hits Income, Liquor, Tobacco

BUDGET HIGHLIGHTS

By The Canadian Press

Income, liquor and tobacco taxes increased.

Five per cent surcharge imposed on basic personal income tax, effective Jan. 1, but not applied to first $100 of tax.

Liquor and tobacco taxes increased 10 per cent, effective immediately.

Increases put liquor tax up 15 1-3 cents on 25-ounce bottle; beer eight cents on 24-pint case; cigarettes two cents on pack of 20; wines one cent on 25-ounce bottle; cut and pipe tobacco, 10 cents a pound.

Income surcharge worth $25,000,000 in fiscal year ending next March 31 and $185,000,000 in next year.

New taxes to be required next year for medical care insurance, due to start July 1.

Payment period for corporation income tax to start two months sooner than at present, effective immediately, increasing revenue flow by $290,000,000 in 1968-69.

Capital spending, subsidies and lending programs to be reduced, including housing loans.

Civil service growth to be restrained.

Budget deficit for current fiscal year, forecast in June at $740,000,000, now forecast at $785,000,000.

Current year's expenditures estimated at $9,900,000,000 with revenues of $9,115,000,000.

White Paper Next Step

OTTAWA (CP) — "All I intend to say at the present time about tax reform I said in my budget yesterday," Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons today.

The next word on the subject will be a government white paper, not expected for several months.

'Meany Budget' Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—It was announced as a mini-budget but it was nothing but a "meany budget" to Conservative critic J. Waldo Monteith.

"An irritating increase in income tax," Colin Cameron of the NDP said, and protested the decision against major tax reforms.

Opposition Leader Stanfield described it as "a costly price for the people to pay" for the government's earlier errors in judging the economy.

That summed up the major Commons reaction Thursday night after Finance Minister Sharp's budget speech announced a $520,000,000-a-year boost in taxation. Most of it will come from a surcharge on personal income tax.

Mr. Monteith, Conservative MP for Perth, was the only Commons critic to get the floor after the finance minister's 7,500-word speech.

"A very merry and prosperous Christmas to you, too," he called across to Mr. Sharp.

"At least it will be a somewhat less spirituous one," he added, referring to the increase of 10 per cent in federal taxes on liquor, beer and wine.

MISJUDGED ECONOMY

In a more serious vein, Mr. Monteith said the finance minister had failed to predict correctly what had happened to the economy for the last year. Only a year ago he had said everything was going well.

Now he was increasing taxes "almost on the eve of Christmas."

"When is this disregard for the plight of the taxpayer going to stop?"

Mr. Cameron, MP for Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands and his party's chief financial expert, told reporters outside the House he was disappointed that Mr. Sharp had apparently thrown the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation "down the drain."

The Carter report had decided properly that people should pay taxes according to their financial ability. But the minister had decided to do nothing about it.

Mr. Cameron said the minister's "nuisance taxes" will not control inflation. They should have been imposed on insurance companies and other areas recommended in the Carter report, not on the ordinary taxpayer.

All in all, the budget merely added to the economic problem.

STANFIELD CRITICAL

Mr. Stanfield said outside the house that the government had for some time been too complacent about inflation and the budget was a late attempt to restore public confidence in the federal hangling of economic affairs.

New taxes were likely to accelerate a slowdown in the economy rather than produce expansion.

The new Conservative leader declined to say whether he approved the government's apparent rejection of the Carter report.

Real Caouette, leader of the Creditiste group, said the budget was nonsense and would invite an increase in unemployment.

"We are asking the Canadian people to pay more taxes when they don't have enough money to make a proper living," he said.

A. B. Patterson, acting Social Credit leader, said the budget will fan the flames of inflation instead of dampening them.

Clarification Sought

LIQUOR PRICE UP NEXT WEEK

B.C. liquor stores are not likely to raise prices until early next week.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said this morning that the Liquor Control Board is trying to obtain clarification of the new federal tax increase so that it will know how prices will be affected.

Mr. Bonner said whatever the tax boosts are, they will be passed on to the public in order to protect provincial revenues.

But, he said, it may take more than the weekend to compute the increases.

He said the board does not know if the tax increase affects liquor on store shelves or just that in the warehouse or only purchases from suppliers beginning today.

He said the federal tax impact varies from product to product and clarification of how the increase will affect this also is sought.

Mr. Bonner also warned that Scotch drinkers may find that devaluation of the British pound doesn't help them at all when recent increase in wholesale prices and the new federal tax are calculated.

"As you can see, spirits are in a state of flux today," he quipped.

Price Spiral Must Stop, Says Bonner

Premier Bennett today declined any comment on Finance Minister Sharp's budget but three of his ministers indicated they were mildly unhappy with it.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today said the time has come for the nation to stop the price spiral before it makes the economy so dizzy "that we fall down."

He indicated that B.C. would be willing to see the Economic Council of Canada given a national role for setting economic guidelines — particularly in wage settlements.

To make this work, he said all provincial governments would have to give a prior "moral support" to whatever the council decided was the allowable range for wage and price increases each year.

This would be a step towards the system used in Europe, particularly Sweden, and Mr. Bonner conceded it might be difficult for the Canadian public to accept but the effort must be made to close the gap between productivity and prices.

He said if only "we halved the coffee breaks across the country" the current economic difficulties could be solved.

HOUSING FUNDS

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said the B.C. Government considers the housing funds cutback the most serious section of the new budget.

He said this should have been the last place Ottawa picked to cut expenditures and the federal government's failure to give housing priority probably means

5% Surcharge Starts January 1

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco go up by 10 per cent in Canada today. Personal income taxes will face a five-per-cent surcharge next Jan. 1.

The tax increases are part of the government's anti-inflation program, Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons in his budget speech Thursday night.

The surcharge affects five of every six Canadians paying income tax. The other increases affect anyone purchasing cigarettes or drinks.

A 25-ounce bottle of liquor will bring in 15 1-3 cents more for the federal government.

Beer will cost about eight cnts or nine cents more for a case of 24.

Wine will go up one cent per 25-ounce bottle in federal taxes.

Cigarettes will return the federal treasury two cents per pack of 20 or 2½ cents per pack of 25. The excise tax on cigars will be raised from 15 per cent of the manufacturer's selling price to 17½ per cent. The excise tax on cut tobacco and pipe tobacco will increase from 80 up to 90 cents a pound.

Mr. Sharp emphasized his anti-inflationary policies of restraint on government expenditures and increased tax revenues are aimed at checking the rise of prices, costs and wages and to reduce excessive pressures on capital markets.

Even more taxes are in the offing, Mr. Sharp warned, if his budgetary measures are not successful in persuading Canadians to apply "rigorous restraints" in price rises, cost and wage increases.

If they continue to go up in the next five or six months then he will have no alternative "but a collective fiscal restraint exercised by Parliament."

Translated in layman's terms that meant simply—higher taxes.

Mr. Sharp said, "This is a case where the proverbial ounce of prevention now is far preferable to a pound of cure later."

Restraint Urged in Pay Hikes

He will launch a campaign early next year to mobilize public opinion to support "voluntary co-operative restraints in price, cost and wage increases."

The take from the tax increases in the budget will add $520 million to the government's revenues in the full fiscal year 1968-69.

Corporations are also hit hard.

A two-month acceleration is proposed on income tax instalments by corporations. This, said Mr. Sharp, will bring about greater equity between corporate and individual taxpayers in timing of tax payments.

The finance minister skittered around medicare. He made it obvious from his brief references to medicare that cabinet has no firm information as yet on how many provinces will be entering the scheme next July. A decision remains to be made inside cabinet on whether the medicare plan will be implemented in full or by stages July 1, 1968.

On the recommmedations of the Carter Royal Commission on taxation Mr. Sharp makes it clear the government will not buy them as a package. It was learned that the government has not yet made up its mind which recommendations will be implemented and which ones will be rejected.

Investment Needed for Growth

The minister made the point that Canada will need to generate and invest a large volume of savings over the next decade in order to carry out the economic growth and development desired.

To do this large amounts of foreign capital must be attracted to supplement savings.

Mr. Sharp said he agreed with those who felt the commission did not give adequate weight to this consideration in its recommendations.

Corporations do not escape in the budget. The change in the corporation tax is designed to give the federal treasury a substantial increase in receipts next year, without adding in future to the costs of production or distribution of Canadian business.

Corporations at present begin the payment of their tax in the fifth month of the taxation year to which it relates and complete these payments four months

LABOR UNHAPPY

Business Leaders Approve If Ottawa Spending Cut

By AB KENT

Business leaders here met Finance Minister Sharp's mini-budget with reserved approval, while labor found it "disquieting" because employment will drop.

Two industrialists expressed concern that there actually would be government restraint on spending as Mr. Sharp indicates.

"If the federal government will exercise the thrift, caution and prudence which the minister says will be excercised in government spending, then I have no objection to the personal income tax surcharge," said J. Ernest Richardson, president of B.C. Telephone Co.

Yarrows Ltd. shipyard general manager John A. Wallace (ex-president of B.C. Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association) said:

"Restrictions have got to be applied — some kind of brakes. But I hope when Mr. Sharp comes down with government spending he will cut back excessive spending."

The view was echoed by Vancouver Island regional representative of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, William Du Moulin.

He said "any marked decrease in federal government borrowing at this stage would have a beneficial effect on the bond market. This would be very welcome.

"It is not certain as yet in what areas the minister of finance will cut back federal spending.

"When this information is made public I think we will be in a better position to judge the future economic outlook."

EGYPT CLAIMS THREE ISRAELI JETS DOWNED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Cairo radio said Egyptian anti-aircraft guns shot down three Israeli Mirage jet fighters today in the Suez area. Israel said only one jet was lost.

The Cairo broadcast reported the three planes fell on the Israeli-held eastern bank of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Suez. It said the pilots bailed out and one landed in the gulf.

An Israeli army spokesman said the pilot and navigator of the crippled jet bailed out over the gulf 12 miles south of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the Suez Canal. Planes and ships were searching for the fliers.

U.S. Denies Cong Arrested On Way to Truce Session

SAIGON (AP) — Well-informed sources said today a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

The U.S. embassy issued a statement later saying:

"Allegations about planned or actual meetings between high officials of the U.S. embassy and representatives of the VC-NLF as reported by The Associated Press are false. The U.S. embassy would, of course, not undertake any such contacts without the knowledge of the GVN (Government of South Vietnam)."

In Washington, a state department spokesman said: "We have nothing to add to what the embassy in Saigon has said."

The "actual meetings" referred to in the U.S. embassy statement apparently were in regard to reports from other sources that a meeting between U.S. officials and Viet Cong representatives did take place in a "neutral embassy" in Saigon within the last 10 days.

A Saigon newspaper said the proposed Bunker meeting was arranged by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency without letting the South Vietnamese government know about it. A member of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives also implied that the CIA tried to set up a contact with the Viet Cong without advising the Saigon government.

The sources who reported the meeting that didn't come off said it was arranged for early in November but national police arrested the Viet Cong envoy in Saigon before he reached the embassy.

The sources said it was believed the police did not know the purpose of the Viet Cong agent's visit to Saigon, but the agent "spilled the beans" after he was questioned.

Hitch Snarls Cyprus Peace

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A last-minute hitch was reported today in an agreement among Cyprus, Greece and Turkey to end the recent threat of war. Cyprus was said to be holding it up. (See Page 19.)

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada likely will stand against any increase in the size of her United Nations peacekeeping contingent in Cyprus unless there are clear signs this would be a step toward an eventual political solution to troubles on the island.

CHILDREN OF ASIA

No Bed of Roses for Flower Girl

By KATHRINE THOMAS

Hong Kong is one of the most crowded cities in the world.

According to a 1966 census, there are nearly four million people packed into a mere 400 square miles of land.

Can we even imagine what life for the poor is like in such a teeming city?

Mrs. Ho Jo Chin who is 35 and the mother of seven children, lives in Hong Kong.

Her husband, is a bricklayer who used to make about $2 a day but, with a recent crisis in the building trade, he no longer has steady employment.

So Mrs. Chin gets up at 3 a.m. and walkes several miles to the flower market, to buy her stock for the day.

At 8 a.m. she takes up her position in the market. Long experience has taught her she can attract housewives by offering her flowers more cheaply than other vendors.

If she has had a lucky day, she may wind up with a profit of 50 cents.

There is no time for illness or almost no time to have a baby.

Mrs. Chin delivered her seventh child in a clinic in the morning, got up that afternoon and walked back home where the other children were waiting.

The next morning, haggard and worn, she brought the day-old girl to the Unitarian Service Committee to have her seen by a doctor.

She left the child in the care of the USC Nursery because she had to hurry to work at her stall in the market.

Without her sale of flowers her family could not survive.

Their home is a tiny room, one of hundreds in a huge resettlement block eight stories high, providing shelter for about 1,500 persons.

Mrs. Chin was shattered to learn there was something wrong with her child's eyes and that the baby would have to go to the hospital.

Medical services are expensive in Hong Kong for the poor. But Mrs. Chin was helped by the USC—through funds perhaps donated by Victorians.

Her child was cured and now every day in Hong Kong you will find Mrs. Chin at the market rain or shine, selling flowers, the young child tied to her back.

Your contributions to the Times Christmas Appeal can help to make life for women like Mrs. Chin a little more bearable.

Contributions should be sent to the Children of Asia Fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

. . . TAX HIKE

after the end of the year. This timetable of payments contrasts with individuals who have income tax deducted from their wages each pay day.

In future corporations will be required to make their first instalment payment in the third month of their taxation year and complete their payments on account of their estimated tax by the second month following the year.

The corporations will make the transition to this new payment schedule by increasing their first 10 payments for their next taxation year starting December 1 this year. Under the present law these payments would each be one-twelfth of the estimated tax for the year; during the year of transition they will each be one-tenth of that amount.

The repayment of the 1966 refundable tax on corporate cash profits is to start next June and continue to May 1970.

Mr. Sharp said that for 1967-68 tax increases and cuts in spending program will hold the budgetary deficit close to the June budget forecast. It was estimated then at $740 million.

Changes to Add $520 Million

In 1968-69 tax changes will add $520 million to budgetary revenues and reduce the deficit to $80 million before medicare and expo deficit write-offs.

The finance minister said the budget was to achieve three objectives:

(1) To restrain the inflationary increases in prices, costs and the cost-of-living that are undermining the country's prosperity;

(2) To ease the disturbing strains in the capital market that threaten Canada's continued economic growth;

(3) To meet in a non-inflationary way the costs of continuing public programs essential to social security and long-run national development.

Looking ahead Mr. Sharp saw for the economy in 1968 a somewhat greater increase in production than in 1967 in real terms and smaller increases in prices. He expects to see a resumption in growth of exports and a continuing increase in the expenditures of Canadian consumers, probably at a greater rate than this year.

Housing expenditures are expected to rise next year, he said. Mortgage funds should be readily available.

Mr. Sharp said that education is now Canada's first priority. Parliament has authorized increases in the contributions to education by the federal government.

The minister claimed that the cabinet had wielded the axe brutally in cutting governmental expenditures for 1968-69.

He said the government will be cutting back or dropping a number of things it had been doing. Some programs that had been carried on for years will be dropped. He did not name them.

Medicare, Expo News to Come

Some major construction projects will be postponed, some subsidies reduced, some expansion of programs — including some the government has promised — will be held back, he said.

Mr. Sharp forecast the yield next fiscal year from current tax laws at about $9,700 million. With the government's expenditures at the level of $10,300 million — apart from Medicare and Expo — the budget deficit should be $600 million.

"I believe we can and should aim to eliminate most of this deficit," he said.

To accomplish this he put forward his new tax proposals.

The personal income special surtax of five per cent is on the amount of the basic tax assessed on an individual in excess of $100. It will remain in effect until the transition to a slower growth rate has been accomplished — that could be for a year or longer. The maximum additional tax is limited to $600.

The surtax will not apply to single persons with incomes of less than $2,000 a year nor to a married man with two children having an income of less than $3,000.

In conclusion Mr. Sharp said: The federal government cannot by itself control inflation. What this government can do and is determined to do — with the support of Parliament — is to keep its own finances in order, take action to steady the economy and give leadership to the other governments in Canada and to the country at large."

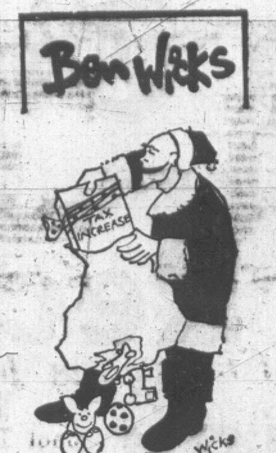
Storm Hits Eastern U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Residents of the heavily-populated belt from Washington to New York have experienced their first heavy snowfall of the season.

The storm hit the eastern U.S. seaboard Thursday and dumped up to 12 inches of snow on the string of cities stretching from Virginia, through Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey into New York.

The snow forced cancellation of flights to and from Washington National Airport and Friendship International Airport, between Washington and Baltimore.

Today's racing program at Laurel Race Course at Laurel, Md., was cancelled because of snow on the track. Officials cancelled Thursday's nine-race program early in the day.



. . . BUSINESS

tary Larry Ryan was disturbed that Mr. Sharp is "turning his back on the goal of sustained high employment as so hopefully set out by the Economic Council of Canada.

"The proposition that the workers must be the chief bearers of economic sacrifice will never be accepted by organized labor," Mr. Ryan said.

He suggested the finance minister is deliberately creating unemployment to deflate the economy. If it were a universal application, he said, there would be no objection.

"But why must a segment of the labor force always have to forfeit the right to work in such situations? What may be mere fiscal abstraction to the minister . . . assumes a very real and deep meaning to those whose jobs are wiped out and who must bear the ultimate burden."

Mr. Ryan said it is time a "less agonizing approach is found."

It was also regrettable that the capital gains tax, as proposed by the Carter taxation commission, was rejected, Mr. Ryan said.

'BITTER TASTE'

"Income taxes always leave a pretty bitter taste," remarked Victoria Chamber of Commerce president William Armstrong.

But he said the government had no alternative to cutting inflation and maintaining the spending power of the dollar.

He predicted a benefit in interest rates if the government is going to reduce its demands on the capital market.

A slowdown in the real estate industry was a possibility seen by Gordon Munro, financial chairman of Victoria Real Estate Board. He said the minister's statement that NHA would not get as much financial help from the government would reduce mortgage money available and bring more competition to the market.

'Not a Candidate'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Governor John Connally of Texas said today he has discussed the defence secretary job with President Johnson but "I am not a candidate for the job."

Senators Ask UN Action On Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved without dissent a call for United Nations action on the Vietnam war but delayed a vote on a proposal to protest State Secretary Dean Rusk's refusal to testify publicly on the war.

The resolution, adopted Thursday by an 82-to-0 vote, expresses the sense of the Senate that President Johnson consider directing the country's UN representatives to seek action by the world body on the Vietnam issue.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who sponsored the resolution, said there is urgent need for Johnson to seek UN involvement in an attempt to find peace.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the foreign relations committee said he doesn't know whether the UN can be effective on Vietnam but "the United States has no choice but to take every road that might lead to peace."

Fulbright's committee put off action Thursday on the proposal that it protest formally to the president Rusk's refusal to discuss the war at a public hearing. Fulbright said while there was a strong feeling Rusk should answer questions in public, committee members were split on how far to press the issue.

U.K. Loan Pledge Brings More Trouble

LONDON (Reuters) — Trouble loomed on the left for the Labor government today after the disclosure that it promised the International Monetary Fund it would keep a tight lid on wages and spending in connection with a big loan.

The hard facts about Britain's economic future became clear Thursday when the government revealed pledges it made to the IMF when it sought a $1,400,000,000 standby credit to back the pound in the wake of its Nov. 18 devaluation.

Roy Jenkins, the new chancellor of the exchequer, made public a letter sent by his predecessor, James Callaghan.

The letter not only confirmed deflationary steps announced along with devaluation of the pound by 14.3 per cent but included a promise to take whatever other measures might become necessary to obtain a balance-of-payments surplus.

that homebuyers will be faced with more inflation.

Mr. Campbell also said Mr. Sharp "is not coming clean with the Canadian public" when he claimes that deficit financing will reduce government borrowing.

Besides financing the Expo 67 loss and the current deficit, Ottawa will have to "roll over" about $800 million of debt next year which means it will borrow a total of "close to two billion dollars."

This will drive interest rates higher, he said.

ECONOMIC RUIN

Trade and industry minister Ralph Loffmark said the budget shows Canada is on the road to economic ruin unless federal policies are changed drastically.

"Financial mismanagement is going to so cripple Canada that we will either have a major change in political power or, failing that, a collapse—if the western world does not collapse first."

He said the tax increases did not solve the major problem of too much government spending and contended that a Social Credit government would balance the next budget and wipe out the national debt in a decade if elected to power.

PATCHWORK

Opposition leader Robert Strachan said the federal mini-budget is only a patchwork effort.

"There is no indication in it that Sharp or the Liberal Government intends to embark on the re-organization of the economy," he said.

"Radical changes are needed in the government's attitude towards national productivity and its program to increase it.

"You can't increase the money supply without increasing productivity."

Dow Injunction

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto Engineering Society may seek an injunction forbidding interference with job recruiters on campus, a society official said Thursday. Last week, about 150 university students and professors blockaded a Dow Chemical of Canada Ltd. recruiter and prevented several engineering students from attending interviews.

Mr. Sharp's Ounce

FINANCE MINISTER SHARP'S interim budget contains no real surprises. It had been widely expected that the income tax surcharge might be as high as 10 per cent—the rate that earlier had been proposed for the United States—so that the five per cent surcharge with a $100 exemption should be acceptable enough provided it exerts an appreciable influence on the inflationary trend.

As a device to siphon off excess purchasing power it may not have a very marked effect, particularly in view of the great consumer dependence on credit buying in these times. But the extra revenue for the government—some $185 millions in next year's full application—should assist in reducing the federal deficit and hence curb government borrowing.

Liquor and tobacco, the favorite luxury targets of most governments when relatively painless taxes are sought, will bear moderate increases. Mr. Sharp appears to be at pains to avoid any pinches in the family budget that will be severe enough to cause a country-wide outcry. To this extent his anti-inflationary measures will lose effectiveness. Unless they are strong enough to make an impact on the public they are not likely to have much influence on inflation. The grand total of increased revenue expected is $520 millions.

In government retrenchment in spending programs may lie a more effective weapon against rising costs. Still requiring clearer delineation, Mr. Sharp's plan will call for further cut-backs in disbursements for capital projects, and reductions in grants and lending programs. It is in these areas that an anti-inflationary policy can hurt, for it means saying no to local hopes for visible improvements such as buildings and housing projects, and to less concrete but nonetheless popular projects in many fields. Mr. Sharp warns that these postponements will include some works that had been promised.

Restraints to be imposed on growth of the civil service may win favor among taxpayers—if not prospective employees—but apparently will not be carried to the point of decrease. The federal payroll has shown very large increases over the past few years.

Essential to any federal government attempt to cope with inflation, of course, is the co-operation of other levels of government and of the public at large. There is a wavering line between retrenchment which curbs consumer demand and that which curbs production. Except for moving tax payments forward by two months, Mr. Sharp has not sought more from corporations. He does, however, anticipate a small possible reduction in production as a result of his restrictive measures. But the goal of a budgetary deficit reduced to $80 millions in 1968-69, if achieved—and continued in succeeding years—should have a significant effect on our prospects of stabilization.

The Finance Minister calls his measures an ounce of prevention. The current Canadian predicament seems to call for more than an ounce if significant results are to be achieved. The government must demonstrate that it can control its own expenditures as an example for the rest of the country to follow. Deeds must follow words.

Trying Too Hard

PREMIER BENNETT HAS MADE a fair number of wild statements during his political career but seldom anything to match his charge that Prime Minister Pearson is responsible for the intrusion into Canadian domestic affairs of French President de Gaulle.

The three main bases for this extravagant claim are that Mr. Pearson made a "disgraceful" error by inviting General de Gaulle to Canada; that he was responsible for the subsequent furor over the "Vive Quebec libre" cry; and that this week's Confederation of Tomorrow conference in Toronto "only set the stage for de Gaulle to make another of his statements."

It should be sufficient to point out: First, that all heads of state whose countries were represented at Expo were invited to visit Canada during the Centennial year. Does Mr. Bennett suggest that the President of France should have been singled out for a snub at that time? Secondly, after the Montreal outburst, Mr. Pearson firmly rejected the attempt at French interference in Canadian affairs. This was done diplomatically but unmistakably and the Prime Minister gained in stature in the judgment of most Canadians for his handling of the matter. And thirdly, Mr. Pearson, as Premier Bennett well knows, did not arrange the Toronto premiers' conference, took no part in it, and bears no responsibility for any of the statements made in Toronto or any of the decisions.

Mr. Bennett's fulminations are on a par—in terms of misconstruing events—with similar words of Mr. Davie Fulton concerning the latest outburst by President de Gaulle. The Prime Minister, Mr. Fulton charged, had given the French President an opening by his tough speech in London when he commented unfavorably on France's response to Britain's application for membership in the European Common Market.

The fact is that Mr. Pearson's speech and the President's Elysee Palace press conference were almost simultaneous events. It was quite obvious that General de Gaulle was not reacting to anything; he was pursuing a carefully laid line of thought deliberately framed to exacerbate the Canadian French-English crisis.

Selling Farms and Working Them

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FEDeration of Agriculture has framed an interesting proposal for conversion of farm lands into green belts. The Federation seeks government study of the plan but the issue, no doubt, will eventually be decided on a basis of costs.

The farmers ask that federal or provincial governments buy certain tracts, reserve them from concentrated development and lease them back to the farmers to work. Unstated at this point are the possible purchase prices and the rates at which the property would be leased.

There is some justification for farmers' discontent about present values placed on farm land adjacent to urban centres. Owners contend that the market for subdivision land raises values beyond the point of economic agricultural use. But at the same time, they point out, zoning restrictions may prevent an owner from subdividing.

Two points emerge in consideration of the proposal. One is the social desirability of preserving at least some good farm land from the encroachment of housing. The other is the benefit that communities of the crowded future will derive from green-belt areas which provide breathing space for the people. Both of these are matters which could rightly be the responsibility of government, and should be investigated on that basis.

A sticking point, of course, may be the question of prices. The farmer-owners might well demand that the government buy the land at the equivalent of subdivision values and lease it back at rates acceptable to agricultural use. Some compromise would be necessary on both sides, no doubt, but the principle of the preservation of agricultural soil and of open spaces in the face of the rapidly expanding population demands that a far-seeing policy be established soon.

Can the Mini-Calculations Work?

Western

THE Canadian taxpayer is a solid, dependable chap who would far rather contribute a bit more of his substance to the national treasury than see his government embarrassed by serious cuts in public expenditures. On this firm conviction Mr. Sharp has based his latest budget. As he intimated earlier Mr. Sharp proposes to hold expenditures to $10.3 billion in 1968-69, an increase of 4½ per cent. As it turns out, however, spending has already risen by $200 million beyond the calculations of June. Thus the true increase is about 6 per cent without taking into account cancellation of the Expo deficit, which is not a new disbursment, and of course, Medicare. Revenue is also up but on balance the deficit has widened by $90 million from June to December.

It is up to the taxpayer to close it. Perhaps because the government is making no contribution on the saving side in 1967-68, Mr. Sharp is limiting the immediate additional tax-bite to $45 million. This will leave a deficit of $785 million. But the minister hopes in 1968-69 to bring the budget virtually into balance (a mere $80 million deficit) and to this end $280 million more will be asked of individuals while another $290 million is obtained by a two-month acceleration of corporation instalment payments.

Conventional Explanations

For taxpayers who may not relish this prospect, Mr. Sharp parades the usual reasons why expenditures are bound to rise and draws on the usual statistical resources to prove that the government is far thriftier than we sometimes assume. Everyone should feel better to know that expenditures, which seem so painful when translated into taxes, are in fact about the same proportion of GNP as they were 10 years ago. We have a splendid economy from the tax collector's standpoint. Again the public service has merely grown in proportion to the population. Why it should grow at this rate with Mr. Benson's computers, efficiency probes, labor-saving devices and so on, no one has ever explained and Mr. Sharp does not explain now.

What has happened in our sorry progress from June to December to make a budget, finely calculated "to exert the degree of support our economy requires this year," inappropriate before year-end? The simple answer is that Mr. Sharp was over-optimistic about inflation. The advance of costs and prices has profoundly disturbed the capital markets and is now dangerously eroding our international competitive position. While the minister nowhere admits that he has lived through a financial crisis, he does tell us that "our large cash balances of last April were down to rock botton at the beginning of this month" and that the Canada Savings Bond campaign, which brought in funds in the nick of time, had to be carried on under "very adverse circumstances."

Where Major Effort Failed

How can we be sure that a new budget of mini-calculations, a little more here and little less there, will succeed where the major effort failed? Between us and the semi-balance of the spring of 1969, there is a long trail fraught with many risks and uncertainties. Mr. Sharp has already found it extemely difficult to forecast the costs, dependent on provincial spending, of the various programs consolidated under the Canada Assistance Act. The same is true of the complicated equalization formula. And the same is bound to be true of Medicare which the budget assumes to be somewhere along the trail.

Mr. Sharp warns that if the present ounce of prevention fails to work, we must expect a pound later. There will then be no alternative to a "collective fiscal restraint exercised by Parliament"; that is another tax increase. He does not rely wholly on this warning because, as announced earlier, he also plans "a determined campaign to achieve by voluntary co-operation (not by guidelines) a large reduction in the unacceptably high rate at which costs and prices are increasing, including wage settlements."

One wonders if this ounce by ounce policy will make sufficient impact to break an inflationary psychology.

The wonder increases when the government attempts to impress us with unknown economies, the net effect of which is to increase its own spending by six per cent a year. What are the prospects of an educational campaign when the resolution of ministers seems also to be measured in ounces?

Carter Report

Of major long-term importance is the passage in Mr. Sharp's message referring to the controversial report of the Carter Commission. The minister has been impressed by the fact that submissions to the government concentrate on four points. His own comments are reserved but since the business community scarcely needs instruction in its own briefs, the summary can be intended only as reassurance from a government which has grown progressively less convinced of the Carter wisdom.

In particular, Mr. Sharp is evidently concerned about the effects of such sweeping changes upon the economy; about the difficulties which would flow from the introduction of a system quite different from that of other countries; about the criticism that the report gives inadequate weight to the need for generating very large savings and attracting foreign capital (Mr. Sharp is "inclined to agree"); and about the regional impact of various proposals particularly those related to the mining and petroleum industries.

This will be taken generally to mean that the government rejects the report in so far as the recommendations concerning capital gains and depletion allowances are concerned. Mr. Sharp also observes that circumstances have greatly altered since the commission launched its studies and says that the coming changes "will be more in the nature of reforms of the existing tax-structure rather than the adoption of a radically different approach."

The message will seem clear enough to the business community.

Embraces Burke

Re M. Rockwood's recent criticism of my running in the city elections; it will probably come as a shock to your correspondent to know that I do intend, if elected on December 9, to represent to the best of my ability the interests of all the people, not just one particular group. I take it that that would be the position of any man or woman about to enter public life in a democracy.

Thus I find strange the assumption that a labor man would consider himself accountable only to the unions. The premise from which correspondent Rockwood appears to be working is that of the corporate state.

The labor people I know would embrace Burke, rather than Mussolini, as a guide in such matters. Their elected representatives would be expected to work for the good of the whole community.—Laurence Ryan, secretary Victoria Labour Council (and aldermanic candidate).

Priced Out

It is unfortunate that so many local union carpenters are unemployed, and one can sympathize with their plea to Mr. Bennett to get on with more school building.

But inflation and our present tight money situation were hastened and worsened by the extraordinarily high wage increases demanded last year by construction mechanics. It all added to the wage cost spiral.

A great deal of work formerly performed by union carpenters such as housing, repairs and medium-sized jobs is now being done by non-union carpenters who receive five to six dollars a day less (including fringe benefits, coffee breaks, etc.).

I am not decrying all these fringe benefits and high wages. I am merely suggesting they have come too fast. The rest of the population, including the government, can't afford to pay them. They just don't earn the same kind of money.

It seems bad business to price oneself out of the market, but even now I understand the unions are formulating plans for fresh increases and more holiday pay for presentation in April, 1968.

I have been through this before. When union policy gets out of line, the men quit the union in droves, and work for what they can get, which is a bad thing for all of us. But economics are stronger than a blind union vote for goodies. Remember the VMD.—M. P. Paine, 3620 Quadra.

Congratulations

Victorians are to be congratulated for their whole-hearted support of the student-led "Miles for Millions" walk on November 25. The significance of the Victoria Walk and the immense community participation cannot be underestimated. . . .

Thank you for your full co-operation and congratulations to all Victorians for a most significant local and national effort.—Rev. W. F. McLean, Deputy Director.

"MRS. WILSON USED TO LOOK LIKE THAT. SHE SAYS!"

Looking Back

From the Times, Dec. 1, 1907.

Ottawa—The government plans to introduce a bill with regard to old age annuities.

The object of the bill is to encourage the opening of savings accounts by the working classes, so that they may have provision, for old age, say at the age of 60.

That is, if a man of 20 begins paying an annual contribution of $12 a year, he will be entitled to $120 a year when he reaches 60.

The government will undertake the business management and payment of annuities.

Brief Sun, Then Clouds

By TIM TRAYNOR

THE charm and elegance of the ceremony in which Prime Minister Pearson received the freedom of the City in London's spacious Guildhall this week were a reminder that all goes not ill with England. Mr. Pearson was perfectly equal to the occasion, projecting just the right mixture of humor, urbanity and statesmanship, as he received from the lord mayor and aldermen their ultimate honor. It was only an interlude soon to be overtaken by harsher realities but it was none the less admirable for that.

The Guildhall, civic assembly of the original, mercantile London from which the institution takes its name, is partly medieval but it is well lit, colorfully decorated and has nothing of the cavernous aspect of the Gothic cathedral.

For the occasion, the bewigged, bemedalled aldermen were clad in ermine and scarlet, flanked by great yellow floral displays, fronted by the city's splendid golden mace and sword and caressed by sprightly airs from a string ensemble at the rear of the hall.

Borne to the hall in a horsedrawn landau carriage, Mr. Pearson made ceremonial pledges and received symbolic rights, then commended the city for its success in meeting the challenge of balancing individual freedom and social obligation. It seemed appropriate there in the Guildhall.

Within the hour, however, it was back to the world of discord.

Took De Gaulle to Task

Speaking amid the 18th century splendor of the lord mayor's mansion house, Mr. Pearson took President de Gaulle firmly, if not explicity, to task for his spoiling activities in Canada, in NATO, and toward the British bid for Common Market membership.

He said Canada would solve its problems without foreign intervention, criticized France's reversion to the discredited doctrine of national self-sufficiency to the detriment of NATO collective security, and spoke of "wrong and unwise" attempts to place unnecessary obstacles in the way of full British participation in Europe.— a development which would confirm Europe's link with America and prevent the Europeans becoming an isolated third force between the United States and Soviet power block.

Even as Mr. Pearson spoke, the French president was adding fuel to the fires which had provoked the prime minister's rebukes. His press conference at the Elysee Palace carried him to new heights of imperiousness.

Canadians will no doubt be preoccupied with their own grievances but they are far from the only ones with cause for alarm. The Times of London dismisses Gen. de Gaulle's yearning for a return to the outright gold standard as "ridiculous" and it is only to be imagined what senior American officials must be thinking. And never has the general been so completely negative about Britain's application for Common Market membership.

Britain is making many economic and military changes of the type he has always urged, but all were disparaged Monday as he insisted that negotiations with Britain would destroy the community, that Britain was still fundamentally different from the other European countries and that the essential revolution had still to be accomplished.

Warning to Partners

There was a warning to France's five Common Market partners not to try to force his hand and there were fewer of the usual palliative gestures than usual. He seemed to be hedging on his earlier vague offers of associate membership, which are persistently echoed by French officials and have had increasing currency throughout the Six and in Britain.

The British government is keeping its upper lip stiff and refusing to take no from anyone but the Six as a whole, but it is clearly faced with the question: is there any element of bluff in what the general says? If there is not, Britain is up against a brick wall until the general dies.

The only way the truth can be laid bare once and for all is through a challenge to France by her five partners. Chancellor Kiesinger of West Germany has said a veto on the British application would provoke a community crisis but will he, and the other four leaders, risk the paralysis or disintegration of the community in a showdown with France over Britain? The strongly pro-British foreign minister of Holland has said the moment of truth is yet to come, but that it is imminent.

Meanwhile, resentment in Britain has reached unprecedented heights. On a television program following Gen. de Gaulle's press conference, the strongly pro-European Liberal elder statesman Lord Gladwyn attacked the general's "Napoleonic view" and said his behaviour was "really too much."

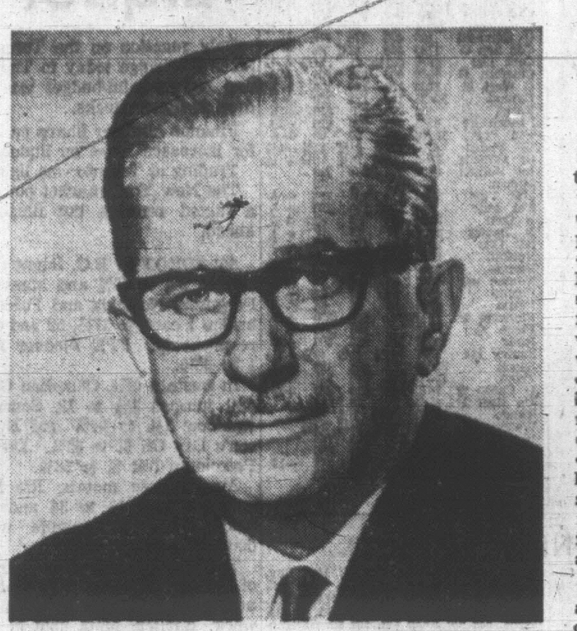
Douglas Jay, former minister of trade and an opponent of entry into Europe, said the Gaullist government was "almost as great a nuisance as the Germans were in the 1930s." He advocates an industrial free trade area between Britain and the Common Market and, failing that, some new—possibly Atlantic-oriented, trading area. Continuing Gaullist intransigence will undoubtedly strengthen the hand of Mr. Jay and those who think like him.

Johnson on Canada

This is the official translation of the major part of the opening speech by Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson at the Confederation of Tomorrow conference in Toronto this week.

At this meeting, probably the first of many, we have gathered merely to weigh our problems and do some exploratory work.

However, judging by the keen interest it has aroused throughout the country, as evidenced by the number of leading journalists it has attracted to Toronto, I believe this conference, preliminary though it may be, is already looked upon as a major step in the evolution of modern Canada.



DANIEL JOHNSON: "Cultural duality . . . a historical stroke of unusual good fortune which gives Canada a second dimension . . ."

When Canadian Confederation was created in 1867, it was by common consent of the provinces. There were only four at the outset. They and the others which came in later with substantially the same rights and obligations thus meet in Toronto today, as originators and constituents of Canadian federalism, to examine their creation and decide where it could stand perfecting and adapting to the requirements of our time.

We know how quickly and thoroughly conditions have changed in recent years, not only here but all over the world. We can use this knowledge to advantage, taking inspiration from what has been done elsewhere, yet bearing in mind that no two countries are identical and that we alone can build the Canada in which we wish to live.

If we are to proceed with maximum clarity and effectiveness, I believe it is very important that we begin by making a sharp distinction between two categories of problems.

The first includes all problems which have no direct relationship with language or culture; in other words, those where Quebec's interests coincide with those of the other provinces.

Federalism is still a valid formula for solving this kind of problem. Even if her population were culturally homogeneous, Canada is such a vast and diversified land from the geographical standpoint as to defy sound administration by a unitary government.

Keep Control

This means there are a number of fields over which all provinces will want to retain control, just as there are a number which Quebec, as well as the other provinces, may find advantageous to put under joint control.

It does not follow that the division of powers lad down in 1867 for a largely rural country with a population of just over three million is still the one which best suits Canada.

Our present constitution contains many anachronistic forms and obsolete provisions. Even more serious, because of its obscure passages and not infrequent silences on the real problems of our day, it has ceased to be a dynamic instrument for co-ordination and progress.

The Fathers of Confederation could not have foreseen the awesome technological changes which were to transform the structures of society and the role of governments. In drafting our fifth constitution since 1760, they were governed by the realities of their time.

Now it is our turn to act on the basis of today's conditions, just as some fifty other countries have done in adopting new constitutions since the last world war ended.

By this, I do not mean we should level the structures we have so painstakingly erected during the last hundred years and rebuild from the ground up. The fact remains that the changes still required, even as they affect problems which have no direct bearing on our distinctive cultural traits, are sufficiently numerous and sweeping to call for a new constitution.

Better Methods

I refer in particular to the need for more orderly and institutionalized relations between our different governments, especially in economic and fiscal matters. We must have well established machinery for consultation and co-ordination so as to shield the provinces from the sudden impact of federal policy — related to, say a Carter Report or a tariff agreement — which would upset their economic stability or industrial organization, thereby affecting their people's welfare.

In her approach to this first set of problems which imply the need to reconcile the imperatives of autonomy with those of interdependence, Quebec feels at one with the other provinces; and the course she proposes is that of co-operative planning and co-ordinated action.

But Canada is not merely a federation of 10 provinces. It is also the home of two linguistic and cultural communities, that is, of two nations in the sociological sense.

I know it has been more customary in the past to speak of two races. If we now prefer "nation," it is because this word has much broader significance; it is not confined to the two founding peoples, but extends to all our fellow-countrymen of various origins who participate in either of our two national cultures.

Thus, ethnic origin is much less fundamental to this concept than cultural attachment. Whatever the term used, we cannot overlook this basic fact: There are in Canada not only two languages but two distinct ways and philosophies of life; two societies, one of which has had its roots solidly implanted in North-American soil for three and a half centuries.

This gives rise to a second set of problems of a socio-cultural nature; they derive from the necessity to achieve harmonious relations between the two communities while allowing each to develop freely as benefits its own genius. This is the area where the need for a new constitution is most pressing.

For while our present constitution still contains elements which are valid for organizing Canada as a partnership of 10, we are forced to conclude that much of this other two-partner Canada remains to be invented. This is probably why our country has so far been a Canada of two solitudes.

Direct Links

Yet it seems to me that, rather than regard our culthe duality as a divisive or isolating factor, or as a necessary evil to be contained as much as possible, we should welcome it as a historical stroke of unusual good fortune which gives Canada a second dimension and direct, close links, not only with the English-speaking world but with the more than 20 nations which share the French language and culture.

Of Canada's two cultures, the French is in obviously greater peril than the English in the North-American context.

It is basic in a country like ours that the constitution recognize the collective rights of both cultural communities. The British North America Act included a number of guarantees for the English-speaking minority in Quebec, but scarcely any for French minorities in the other provinces. Thus, rather than provide equality, the constitution has tended to force French-speaking people and their way of life back inside Quebec's boundaries.

To a French Canadian, leaving Quebec has meant and still means giving up his cultural identity sooner or later, either for himself or for his descendants. As proof, I quote the 1961 census: only 850,000 out of 1,300,000 Canadians of French origin living outside Quebec still spoke French.

Given Mandate

That explains why our government was given a mandate to marshal every argument at its command in support of a new constitution which would establish the juridical and practical equality of our two national communities.

We do not want to impose our language indiscriminately on all Canadians; but wherever their numbers warrant it, we do want French Canadians to serve their country and be served by it in their own language, as full citizens.

Responsibility for establishing this equality does not rest with the Quebec government alone. It is shared with us by the other provinces and the federal government.

Ontario and other provinces have recently announced concrete steps which could have great significance for French-language instruction in the schools. This is an excellent start with which I am delighted. Even so, you will forgive me for pointing out that Quebec is by far the leading province in her respect for the minority culture.

Quebec has always made it a point of honour to go well beyond the 1867 constitutional provisions for the language, schools, cultural and social institutions of her English-speaking population. She does not regret having done so; in fact, this is one of her most cherished traditions.

I will say, however, that this has made the difficulties experienced by French groups in the other provinces all the harder for her to bear. Anything which tends to restrict the legitimate freedoms of such groups strikes a sensitive chord in Quebec, besides playing straight into the hands of those who no longer think it possible to establish equality in relations between our two national communities.

Rights of Both

I take for granted that Canada's next constitution will proclaim the association of our two cultural communities and clearly set forth the collective rights of both. In that case, what is to prevent us from setting up a permanent body staffed by equal numbers of Canadians from each cultural community, to ensure respect for these collective rights?

At present, there is no permanent body constituted on a binational basis, nor is there any agency to bring about the equal partnership which we feel is the only organization possible for the Canada of tomorrow.

Finally, it is self-evident that Quebec, faced with these socio-cultural problems, is not a province like the others. As the heartland and mainstay of French Canada, she is in a very special situation, so much so that it is probably fair to say her special vocation would grow more exacting if the government in Ottawa were to become less binational in its organization and conduct.

We would be the first to admit that Quebec is not French Canada. She has no legal responsibility for French groups settled outside her boundaries, yet hers is the only government which can speak on behalf of a French majority.

Life Pattern

For it is only in Quebec that French Canadians have the political strength which comes from numerical superiority. There alone can they provide themselves with institutions, a life pattern and an environment tailored exactly to their need and personality.

Accordingly, there is a role in guaranteeing equality for the French-Canadian nation which only Quebec can play. This is why she needs increased powers.

In 1867, control over education, civil law, welfare institutions and other areas stipulated in section 92 of the present constitution may well have given her sufficient power; today, she needs much more, as I stated a year ago September at the fourth meeting of the Tax Structure Committee:

"Specifically, what does Quebec want? As the mainstay of a nation, it wants free rein to make its own decisions affecting the growth of its citizens as human beings (i.e., education, social security and health in all respects), their economic development (i.e., the forging of any economic and financial tool deemed necessary), their cultural fulfilment (which takes in not only arts and literature, but the French language as well) and the presence abroad of the Quebec community (i.e., relations with certain countries and international organizations)."

Someone once said that a constitution is a product of the intellect; I believe it is also an act of faith. Personally, I am still optimistic. I am confident that this conference will be the starting point for a new Canada in which linguistic and cultural duality will no longer be a source of misunderstanding and conflict, but a factor for co-operation, mutual enrichment and assertion of our Canadian identity.

COMMITTEESPEAK

By ELEANOR TIMBRES and ANDREW CAVE
The Manchester Guardian

We had to learn the language. Long accustomed to jobs in autocratic trades where the nearest you came to discussion was arguing with the boss, we found ourselves pitched in middle life into work that called for many hours of sitting on committees.

At first we sat bemused: could people really be saying what they appeared to mean? In the end we tumbled to it. Committee work has its own pace, technique, tactics: if you are to master them you must first become fluent in Committeespeak.

Committeespeak isn't just a set of hypocritical wraps for mean thoughts. It's just that most people wouldn't dream of saying before 17 other people what they would cheerfully say face to face.

The mere fact of sitting round a table in such numbers brings with it a Congress of Vienna stiffness. Professional men of notorious open-heartedness and probity become pocket Metternichs. Women who in private tell each other everything purse their lips like a Transylvanian countess with a secret message in her fan.

The interests they represent may not have much at stake. The real business may be settled later on over drinks in the bar. Yet they somehow feel inhibited. The collectivity has them in its grip.

Afterwards they will probably all grumble to their husbands or wives, or even to each other, that committees are dreadful and why can't people come to the point, anyhow?

It's no use. The committee, as Parkinson has shown, is a little subculture with its own uncodified inescapable ritual, its own laws and taboos. Avoid them who dares.

For those who haven't yet taken the plunge, or who have but haven't quite tuned their internal simultaneous translation equipment, we provide the following simple glossary of Committeespeak. Remember — it won't just be you who'll be aware of the inward significance of what you say. Everyone else will. That's the beauty of the thing.

"I am not absolutely happy about . . ." I'm against it.

"Are we quite sure that we want to . . ." It stinks.

"I would just like to point out, so as to get the record straight . . ." See what you've done to my brilliant idea.

"We have a pretty heavy agenda, I hope we can avoid straying too far from the point . . ." I have a train to catch.

"I'm not quite as well briefed as I should have liked . . ." I have just this minute looked at the agenda for the first time.

●

"As we have heard in great detail from Mrs. X . . ." Haven't we just?

"I'm afraid, Mr. Y, that was settled at our last meeting . . ." Come only every third meeting, will you?

"I'm not sure what other people think, but . . ." Now who could be dense enough not to agree?

"Am I alone in thinking that . . ." I can't be!

"I hope someone will correct me if I am wrong . . ." Try it and see.

"There seems to be some confusion about . . ." You have missed the point, haven't you?

"I may be stupid, but . . ." Ho! Ho!

"As I understand it, then . . ." How many more angels on this pinhead?

"If I may take the liberty, I think perhaps what Mrs. A meant to say was . . ." Someone's got to make sense of her English, not to mention her logic.

"That is an interesting-valid-thoughtprovoking - refreshing point of view . . ." Beside the point - boring -eccentric-juvenile.

"We clearly need time to consider this . . ." I must get home and sort out what it is you're putting over on me.

"Would someone care to volunteer to . . ." Speak up, deadheads!

"Shall we take a vote . . .?" I'm starving!

"Are we all agreed, then . . .?" Shut-up!

Growing Sense of Revulsion Among Americans on Vietnam

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Lippmann

NEW YORK — Nothing is more puzzling to Americans than that the most powerful nation on earth is taking so long to subdue a poor little country like North Vietnam. According to conventional wisdom, the enemy should have recognized long ago that the odds against him are overwhelming and he should have given up. He has not done so as yet, and, if he is going to do it, he is taking a long time about it.

What is more, it begins to appear that even if he surrendered there would probably be no more than a temporary truce before guerrilla fighting broke out again. As a matter of fact, it is very difficult even to imagine how this war can end. Even if Hanoi and Haiphong were bombed back to the Stone Age and Ho Chi Minh signed an unconditional surrender on an American aircraft carrier, there would be no peace and Saigon and Gen. Westmoreland would still have to remain on the alert.

Battles Can't Decide War

The war, it would seem, is unwinnable in a much deeper sense than is commonly realized. It is not that our forces cannot defeat the enemy's forces in battle. It is that the battles they fight cannot decide the war.

It is unwinnable in the sense that a horde of elephants cannot win a struggle with a swarm of mosquitoes, not because the mosquitoes are too brave or too fanatic, but because mosquitoes do not surrender to elephants. No mosquito can surrender all the mosquitos that can be bred in the marsh and no government or committee or general can surrender the revolutionary peasantry of the Asian continent.

What we are witnessing is not a conflict between two military forces of different sizes, but of two military forces that are different in kind. The conflict is between two quite different military systems. One consists of a highly centralized organization using the deadliest weapons; the other consists of endlessly decentralized swarms of guerrilla fighters and terrorists.

North Vietnam is testing, so we are often told, whether "wars of national liberation" can succeed. That is true. It is testing whether guerrilla fighters with a continent behind them and an inexhaustible horde of discontented people can be subdued by military forces developed and organized to fight against equally organized powers with equally advanced weapons.

Our most bewildering and perhaps our most significant experience in the Vietnamese war has been that the kind of military force which brought down Japan and Germany does not bring down Ho Chi Minh and the Viet Cong.

Up Against Something New

The fact that although we are able to destroy the enemy's country and are not able to win the war is something new in our experience of warfare. We are up against something which is different in kind from anything that West Point and Annapolis anticipated.

We defeated Japan and the victory endured in the sense Japan rose again and prospered and we are hoping to make it our ally.

But if we could dictate peace in Hanoi after the surrender of Ho Chi Minh, it would be only a question of time before the anti-Communist and pro-American regime we had set up in South Vietnam would be undermined and would crumble.

Constantly Renewed

In the long run, perhaps the most important consequence of the present war in Vietnam will be the demonstration that the strongest military power in history cannot by the use of its superior firepower impose its will on a distant people. The elephants can kill every mosquito they can trample upon. But in the marshes, the swarms of mosquitoes are constantly renewed.

I have read not all but a good many of the books about modern military technology — both those dealing with big weapons and with guerrilla fighting. I have not seen anything which describes how the big and little technologies of war fail to come to a decisive confrontation, how they are like ships which brush against each other in the night without colliding.

I wish I knew enough to write such a book, for I believe it would lead us to understand the radical novelty of the present post-Imperial Age — the age which was brought on after the destruction in World Wars I and II of the old international order of the old empires.

Because the Vietnamese and American ways of waging war are so radically different in kind, there is no prospect on either side for a lasting military decision.

The best that the North Vietnamese can hope for is that they can make life so miserable for Americans that after a while they will weary of the struggle and decide to go away.

The best that the American people can hope for is that their enemies will be worn down to a point where they will have to subside.

No Triumphant Withdrawal

The American people have no hope that they can withdraw in triumph, leaving behind an independent, anti-Communist, anti-Chinese, pro-American state in South Vietnam.

We are seeing how a war waged without hope of a military decision degenerates into savagery. The laws of civilized warfare have been made a mockery in Vietnam.

There is the terrorism of the guerrilla fighters. There is the terrorism of the bombers which cannot and do not distinguish between civilians and soldiers.

The cruelty of the war reflects the frustration of the combatants, who realize that their battles are always indecisive and always have to be fought over again.

Perfectly decent young Americans find themselves under orders to commit acts which in the conventional wars are called atrocities, and the civilians at home find themselves justifying these atrocities on the very low ground that the other side is also committing atrocities.

Some of us who prefer to argue about the war in terms of our national interest and of strategic principles have shrunk from stressing the cruelty and the inhumanity of the actual conduct of the war. But we are a minority among the dissenters.

Ashamed And Revolted

Over and beyond the growing objection to the casualties and the costs and the lack of a credible war purpose, the real thrust of the popular dissent is moral revulsion. There is a growing sense of guilt. Our people are becoming revolted and ashamed by the spectacle of themselves engaged in a war where a big, rich, super-armed giant is trying to beat the life out of a dwarf. Less and less are Americans enjoying the idea of themselves in such an uncivilized, unchivalrous, inhumane role.

Everyone knows that this is the most unpopular war in American history. It is also the war which most deeply affronts the American conscience.

As the war goes on and when, if ever, it is over, we shall be sorting out the political and strategic lessons of what is for the United States — and what may be for all the world — a unique experience. Never before have we seen the greatest military power on earth find itself impotent to impose its will on a weak and alien power.

Age of Empire Is Now Over

It will take time before we realize fully that the age of the empire is over, especially since we can see only dimly the shape of the international order which will follow. While we are deeply engaged in the task of making peace in Asia and in the Pacific, our most intimate and urgent task is to make peace in the conscience of Americans.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye took most of the light action on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in trading today.

Both rapeseed and flax prices showed firmness due largely to the light offerings rather than aggressive demand.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Liquor Stocks Decline

Only reaction on the Toronto Stock Exchange today to Thursday night's mini-budget was a drop in liquor stocks.

Finance Minister Sharp called for increased taxes on liquors.

Trading at Toronto was light.

The New York market put on a mixed showing but finished ahead.

AT TORONTO B.C. Sugar advanced 2¼ to 43¾ and Massey-Ferguson, Noranda and Falconbridge 1 each to 17½, 52 and 87, respectively. FPE Pioneer fell 1 to 30½.

In western oils, Canadian Gridoil jumped 1⅛ to 12, Scurry-Rainbow 1⅛ to 44⅝ and Hudson's Bay Oil ⅜ to 45¾. Dome Petroleum fell ⅞ to 58⅛.

Among base metals, Rio Algom declined ½ to 34 and in golds Giant Yellowknife was down 60 cents to 7.80.

Trading was halted in shares of Meta Uranium, the most active mining stock so far this week. Earlier, Meta sold at 37 cents, up 2½ cents.

"The halting of trading is to permit a public announcement to be made by management of Meta and for further inquiries to be made by the exchange," a statement said.

AT NEW YORK the market seemed to be groping for a trend following Thursday's decline.

Shelving of the U.S. income tax proposal for the balance of this year was regarded as a bearish factor but news elements were not accorded much weight as the market was seen as consolidating recent gains purely on a technical basis.

AT MONTREAL gains and losses were about evenly matched in trading today.

Senior mines and oils were active. Noranda jumped one point to 52, and B-A Oil ½ to 37¾. International Nickel dipped ¾ to 122½.

Papers were mixed as Bathurst climbed ½ to 25 affter announcing a 50-cent fourth-quarter dividend. MacMillan-Bloedel was stronger and Fraser slid ½ to 17¾, reacting to news of sharply lower earnings.

AT LONDON the stock market fell further today and, although a few leading industrials were off the bottom, losses ranging to one shilling or more were widespread.

Fresh institutional selling of gilts, brought falls of as much as 5-16.

In a dull dollar section Canadian Pacific dropped five points. Inco and Noranda headed the list of falls elsewhere among Canadians. Losses in Canadian banks ranged to four shillings.

AT VANCOUVER Massey-Ferguson and Neon Products led the way in the industrial section today as prices strengthened in light trading.

Volume was 696,175 to noon, below the usual average to noon.

Prices remained firm, however, as Massey-Ferguson gained .75 from Thursday's close to $17.25. Neon added .37 to $8.87.

Royal American and Sunlite were the most active oil issues and both gained — Royal American .04 to $1.05 and Sunlite .06 to .89.

Brenda was the big gainer in the mining section, adding .55 to $7.75. Endako was up .37 to $12.25. Westland Copper slipped .10 to $1.14 and Craigmont dropped .25 to $12.50.

No Frosting On Cake GM Warns UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A meeting of the United Auto Workers General Motors Council was called today to set a date for a GM strike, if one is necessary.

The UAW and General Motors resumed negotiations on a new contract this week for the first time since Oct. 31.

General Motors has indicated it is willing to write a contract with the UAW that is within the limits of the economic agreement won for the union's 160,000 members at Ford Motor Co. and 103,000 at Chrysler Corp.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands on GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if the union goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "it will be in for a big fight."

The union told the company Monday that what it called "erosion of the bargaining unit" by moving automated jobs out of union jurisdiction will be an important issue.

Representation, specifically the company requirement that union committee men work at least an hour a day on their regular jobs, is also expected to cause trouble.

The union represents 380,000 workers at GM.

Treasury Bills Register Gain

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian bond market was off ½ point in quiet trading Thursday.

Long-term Canada and provincials were down ½ point with the 4½ per cent Sept. 1, 1983, issue closing at 80¼ bid and 80½ asked.

Short-term Government of Canada bonds fell 5 cents with the 5½ per cent Dec. 15, 1969, issue closing at 99.10 bid and 99.25 asked.

Day-to-day money traded at 4¾-5 per cent.

Treasury bills were up with the 91-day bills closing at 5.46 per cent and the 182-day bills at 5.65 per cent.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Shopping Spree Started

By AB KENT
Business Editor

Prospects for healthy Christmas retail trade this year are good—barring a depressing effect from Finance Minister Sharp's increased tax announcement.

Local department stores are looking to at least as good a business as Christmas 1966 and one reports sales up already, even though the pre-holiday promotion has just begun.

Kent

The latter store's manager said part of this increase could be attributed to delayed purchasing which consumers had put off last summer or early in the fall due to economic uncertainty.

However, Mr. Sharp's attempt to mould the Canadian economy back to manageable proportions after a run of inflationary prosperity may postpone some buying intentions again.

The previously mentioned store has a "better-balanced inventory" that it had last year, and with a majority of stores today, is able to offer perhaps the widest selection of merchandise ever seen on Canadian shelves.

* * *

Some of the larger items like automatic washers, dryers, dishwashers and portable TV sets have begun to move, sooner than ordinarily in the Christmas spending spree.

Color TV—not the hot item it was last year—is soft just now as potential buyers hold out for lower prices.

With travel booming, luggage sales are strong and cover a very selective range.

"The public seems to be spending money," one manager said. While business is good, so far there are no "great changes" from last year at his store.

Hydro-sponsored advertising has helped with the sale of dishwashers, one manager said. This is encouraging more wives to regard them as a necessity rather than the luxury item they have been.

More families are getting portable TVs as a "second set" for recreation rooms, patios, children's rooms and master bedrooms.

In the toy line, battery-operated items are stronger than ever as youngsters increasingly seem to prefer playthings that "do something."

Road-racing sets, strong last year, are again in demand, and a new gadget called a spirograph appears to be capturing the imagination. This toy draws designs based on concentric circles, fascinating old and young alike.

Clothing items are harder to pinpoint since fashion plays an important part, but one store said suedes in men's and women's styles are popular this season.

* * *

A new method of shipping ore concentrates from mine to refinery is being used by Utica Mines Ltd. for its rich Horn Silver undertaking near Keremeos.

Every two days a 25-ton truck load of concentrates leaves the mine-mill operation en route to Cominco's smelter at Trail. The payload is carried in aluminum containers providing a quick, loss-proof system of shipping.

Utica's crushing mill capacity has been increased to a sustained 400 tons per day, seven days a week. This was achieved, said general manager Stephan Radvak, by installing a higher horsepower driving motor, replacing one which gave the mill rated capacity of 300 tons a day.

Mr. Radvak says the mill is giving 96 per cent recovery for average ore containing 20 ounces of silver per ton.

* * *

At $2 per ounce, less $11 per day operating cost and ignoring recoverable lead, zinc, gold and silica credit, the indicated profit per year is $4,118,000, the company said.

Utica is carrying a mill construction loan of $1.9 million over 10 years, and of five million shares authorized, 4.78 million have been issued.

Further exploaration and blocking out of ore is continuing following the accidental discovery of a new ore shoot during road building earlier this year.

* * *

Canadian lead and zinc producers could be hit hard if the Johnson administration bends to pressure being exerted by several western U.S. senators to have lead-zinc import quotas reimposed.

The price of lead and zinc may go lower as supplies become over-plentiful, threatening the stability of U.S. producers. Imports are surging, demand slackening, and this worries the Americans.

In favor of the Canadian producers, however, is Mr. Johnson's affirmed intention of carrying out the spirit of Kennedy Round tariff reductions, which means the lowering of protective trade barriers.

Chevrolet Recalls New Cars

DETROIT (AP)—The Chevrolet division of General Motors is asking the owners of 2,857 cars to return them to their dealers for correction of a variety of defects which could affect the safety of the vehicles.

No equipment failures have been reported, Chevrolet said.

Fifty-seven standard-sized Chevrolets are being recalled for correction of incorrect parking brake cable parts which could allow the parking brake cable to chafe against transmission parts and seperate.

In addition, 1,700 Corvettes are being recalled to correct a possible chafing between a front-wheel brake line and a fender skirt. Normal operation of the car under the present conditions, the firm says, could cause loss of front braking power.

Also, 700 Corvairs are being recalled to replace front compartment lock parts to prevent the hood from flying up and obstructing drivers' vision. And 400 other Corvairs are being recalled to make sure wheel stud heads are not subject to stress failure, which the company says could cause wheels to come off during operation of the vehicles.

At Oshawa, Ont., General Motors of Canada Ltd., has recalled 157 1968-model cars, a company spokesman said today.

He said 72 Corvettes are being recalled to correct a possible chafing between a front-wheel brake line and a fender skirt. The spokesman said if failure did occur, the rear-wheel brakes would remain operative because of the dual braking system.

The company also was recalling 59 Corvairs to replace front compartment lock parts. Another 26 Corvairs are to be checked to make sure wheel stud heads are not subject to stress failure.

Little Pleasures Now Centre on Wild, Wild Women

OTTAWA — It may well be that life's little pleasures were once centred on cigarettes, whisky and wild, wild women.

No longer, brother.

The only thing Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp steered away from in his budget last night was the wild women.

With great fiscal zeal he slapped a cautionary tax on liquor, beer, wine, cider, cigarettes, cigars, cut tobacco and pipe tobacco.

It all has to do with his appeal for voluntary restraint and, in this case, he gave the prospective volunteers a shove.

As of today a 26-ounce bottle of liquor will cost an extra 15 cents.

A case of 24 bottles of beer will be 8 cents more.

A bottle of wine, domestic or imported, will be up by 1 cent, which is probably the best deal of the lot.

Cigarette smokers will fork out an extra 2 cents for a small package and about 2½ cents for a large one. Comparable increases will apply to other tobacco products.

And this is not the end of it.

The 10 per cent increase applies only to federal taxes and it is impossible at the moment to judge what kind of a mark-up the provincial governments may decide to impose.

For the remainder of 1967 the added taxes are expected to produce $20 million and the increase in revenue for 1968-69 is estimated at $95 million.

As far as everyday living is concerned, these taxes will hurt more directly than the additional 5 per cent personal income tax boost.

It is enough to make one go back to drinking corn likker and smoking straw.

Employers Must Use Restraint

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—How can a man ask higher pay to meet increases in the cost of his booze and tobacco while his boss explains that meeting the demand would not be good for the economy.

That may have been in Finance Minister Sharp's mind as he selected liquor and tobacco as two prime targets for the tax increases he announced Thursday.

But he also has appealed to employers to use restraint in increasing salaries because of the pressure such increases would put on the economy.

Governments traditionally have found booze and cigarettes the easiest areas in which to increase taxes.

Ten-per-cent increases in taxes on those commodities, plus a five-per-cent surcharge on personal income tax, were aimed at what the economists tend to call dampening down the economy.

To put it simply, the minister wants:

—More revenue so the government can come closer to living within its income;

—To reduce inflationary pressures by discouraging pressure for higher wages and other cost increases.

The five-per-cent surcharge on current basic income taxes is regarded as modest—only half of what President Johnson has unsuccessfully asked for in the United States and less than many observers here had expected from Mr. Sharp.

The surcharge, Mr. Sharp remarked in an aside in his budget speech in the Commons, means $64 a year for a married taxpayer, with two children eligible for family allowances who earns $10,000 a year. For the $15,000-a-year man with two children it is $145, less than 40 cents a day.

Mr. Sharp's objective is to increase the government's revenue so as to reduce its need to borrow funds to covr a deficit.

The finance minister told a press conference after his budget speech Thursday night he is hoping next year to cut his budgetary deficit to $80,000,000 from $785,000,000 this year.

This budgetary deficit includes only the money the government spends under parliamentary appropriation and statutory authority and what it raises by way of normal taxes.

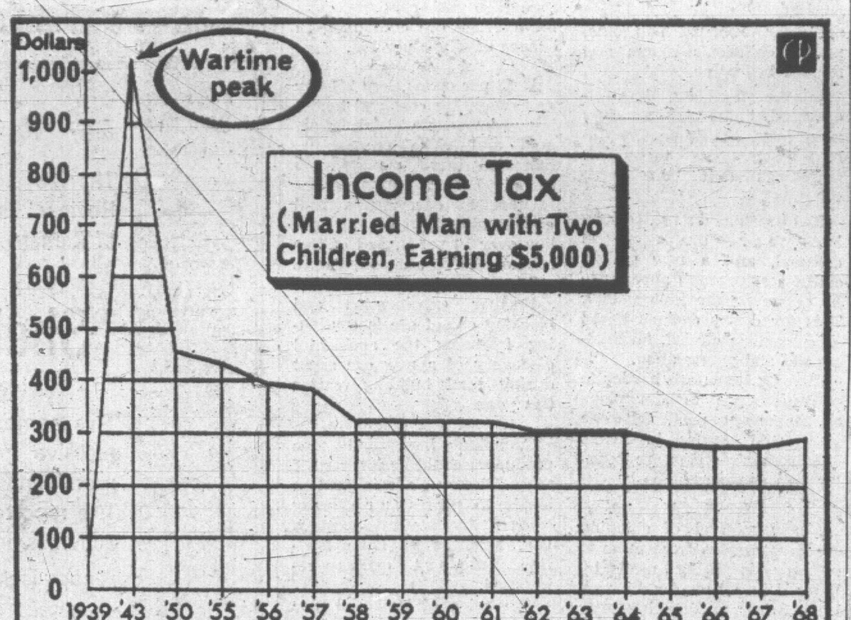
In addition, the government pays out old age pensions and some other welfare benefits from what are called non-budgeting revenues.

Both budgetary and non-budgetary revenues and expenditures are taken into account to find the total impact of the federal government's operations on the Canadian economy. The result is the so-called national economic accounts.

Currently these national accounts are running at a deficit of about $300,000,000 a year. This is what layman economists call pump-priming: Putting more money into the economy than the government is taking out. It has an incentive effect on the pace of economic activity.

The new taxes will convert this $300,000,000 deficit in the national accounts into a small surplus. Officials of the finance department are unable to say precisely how large this surplus will be in the new year.

But a surplus in the national accounts means the government is taking more out of the economy than it is spending. This has a restraining effect—a counter-inflationary tendency that Mr. Sharp feels is necessary now.



MARRIED MAN with two children earning $5,000 a year who paid $281 income tax during 1967 will now pay $291 a year. Graph traces fluctuations in amount of personal income tax paid by such a man from 1939 through 1968. Change becomes effective January 1. Figures include provincial taxes but not old age security tax.

COMMITTEE REBELS

LBJ Having Hard Time Imposing Hike in U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — While Candians will pay higher income taxes next Jan. 1, Americans won't pay more taxes on their income this year but might in 1968 if President Johnson cuts spending enough, says the key man in the U.S. legislative taxing process.

Representative Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House of Representatives ways and means committee—where all tax bills originate, told reporters Thursday that it's out of the question for Congress to pass the administration's tax bill in the remaining weeks of the current session.

The Arkansas Democrat's remarks followed completion of his committee's hearings on Johnson's plan for a 10-per-cent surcharge on income taxes, combined with an administration spending cut plan.

In presenting the plan, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said it would be unthinkable not to start work on it promptly. But Mills let the hearings lapse without scheduling any working sessions.

NEEDS APPROVAL OF 3

The tax spending plan would require action by three committees—ways and means for the $7,400,000,000 tax increase; appropriations for spending cuts, projected at $4,100,000,000 but which Mills said should be greater; and government operations for a proposal, initiated by Mills, for a commission to make a long-range study of government programs.

Mills said he doubts even his committee could complete its part of the work by Jan. 1.

Mills said the administration should be able to cut expenditures by $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 more than its estimate, and that such a cut "would enhance the acceptance of a tax increase by the American people."

Mills also gave the administration a broad hint his committee may want to see the 1969 budget figures before deciding on taxes.

"I believe," he said, "that more . . . information is needed in this area before we can come to any conclusions on the tax increase."

'NEED MORE JOBS, NOT MORE TAXES'

OTTAWA (CP)—Tax increases announced by Finance Minister Sharp Thursday night were criticized by the Canadian Labor Congress as ill-timed.

"Canadian workers faced with an unemployment rate of 4.7 per cent and continuing layoffs need jobs, not more taxes," Donald MacDonald, acting president of the CLC, said in a statement reacting to the minister's budget speech.

"This certainly is no time for a government to take measures which will inevitably slow down the nation's economy," he said.

"Our economic growth has been seriously lagging . . . less than 70 per cent of that of 1966."

Mr. MacDonald said the increased tax burden will, as usual, fall most heavily on persons in the middle income ranges.

"There seems to be a peculiar contradiction in the decision to impose increased taxes to drain off the income of individuals and at the same time to not only exempt corporations but to actually accelerate refunds to corporations, thus placing additional funds in circulation."

Excise: Hateful Word

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

OTTAWA (CP) —"Excise, a hateful tax upon commodities. . . ."

That was Samuel Johnson, the great English literary figure, writing a couple of centuries ago.

His sentiments about excise may be shared today by Canadians who like a drink or a smoke as they ruefully contemplate the 10-per-cent increases in liquor and tobacco taxes announced Thursday by Finance Minister Sharp.

There are two forms of excise in Canada, one levied only on goods of home manufacture under the Excise Act and the other on home-manufactured and imported goods under the Excise Tax Act.

Mr. Sharp used both acts, along with the customs tariff, to implement his tax boosts, effective today.

Some dictionaries give the general meaning of excise as any toll or tax. They add a specific meaning as a duty charged on home goods either in the process of their manufacture or before their sale to the home consumer.

This has led to an impression in some quarters that the word excise does not apply to imported goods. But it does in Canada under the Excise Tax Act, no matter where the commodities are from, right in line with Samuel Johnson's lament.

GOES 'WAY BACK

As long ago as 1215, when the Magna Carta was signed, people thought in terms of excise. That historic document contained a reference to payment of evil or unjust tolls on goods entering or leaving the country.

During the middle ages, the favorite targets for excise taxation were goods exchange in inter-regional or international trade.

Canada has levied duties under the Excise Act since Confederation on goods of domestic manufacture. The duty is levied on the commodities while in possession of the Crown and they remain in its possession until paid.

The government gets at imported goods of the type affected by the Excise Act under the customs tariff. It is set high enough to compensate for the excise duty rate on home goods, with something more added for protective purposes.

TOOK TWO STEPS

Thus when Mr. Sharp proposed his liquor-tax increase Thursday night, he took two steps.

First, he tabled a resolution providing for an amendment to the Excise Act to increase the duty on Canadian-made spirits, brandy, malt liquor and beer.

Then he tabled another resolution to amend the customs tariff so he could extend the heavy hand of added taxes to imported spirits and beer.

The increased taxes on tobacco and wine were imposed under the Excise Tax Act, which had its beginning in the Special War Revenue Act of 1915, during the First World War. It applies to home and imported goods.

From small beginnings, this measure has spread to cover a wide spectrum of commodities since it is the law under which the federal sales tax is levied.

The Surtax and You

OTTAWA (CP) — Following tables illustrate the effect on three classes of taxpayers of Finance Minister Sharp's five-per-cent surtax on personal income tax.

In each table, columns of figures show:

First, total income.

Second, present combined federal and provincial tax, including old age security tax, in all provinces except Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The taxpayer is assumed to be taking the optional standard deduction of $100 for medical expenses and charitable donations.

Third, proposed surtax.

A BUDGET deficit for the current fiscal year forecast in June at $740 million, now is forecast at $785 million, a figure which would have jumped to $830 million had Finance Minister Sharp not announced tax increases.

Tax Said Unexpected

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul Pare, executive vice-president of the Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada Ltd., Thursday night called federal tax increases on tobacco a "disappointment to us."

Mr. Pare was commenting on a 10-per-cent federal tax boost on liquor, beer, wine and tobacco announced earlier Thursday by Finance Minister Sharp during his budget speech.

Mr. Pare, whose company is the leading cigarette manufacturer in Canada, said in a statement that the additional tax on tobacco was "unexpected."

The tax increases raise the price of cigarettes by two cents on a pack of 20 and 2½ cents on a pack of 25 cigarettes.

A spokesman for Imperial Tobacco said that in Quebec, federal and provincial taxes already account for about 26 cents of the average 45-cent cost of a package of 20 cigarettes. The increase would likely mean a price rise to 47 cents,, 28 cents going in taxes.

Taxes and prices varied in other provinces but the tax bite was already more than half the price of a pack of cigarettes across Canada before the new increase.

'We Can't Afford It'

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Wages and prices are rising too rapidly, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp warned in his budget speech Thursday.

They are going up more rapidly than in the United States and more rapidly than in most other western industrialized countries.

"No group can afford this erosion of our international competitive position," said the minister.

He is disturbed by the fact that prices and costs will continue to rise.

This is creating an "inflationary psychology" which is having serious effects on both the capital market and the labor market, he said.

"In the labor market this psychology is leading to continued demands for wage increases that are clearly far in excess of any prospective increase in productivity, and therefore clearly inflationary," said Mr. Sharp.

"Increases in major wage settlements negotiated over the first nine months of this year are reported by the department of labor to have averaged 8.7 per cent a year over the life of the agreements. A roughly comparable average for the U.S. is 4.4 per cent per year," he said.

In the capital market the same psychology is leading to an unwillingness to lend money for long terms on bonds and mortgages except at very high interest rates, he pointed out.

Ottawa Curtails Housing Money

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—More private money will go into housing next year and less federal funds, Finance Minister Sharp forecast in the commons Thursday.

Housing expenditures can be expected to rise next year, he said.

Mortgage funds should be more readily available as a result of the more flexible interest rates on insured loans as well as a reduction in the competition for funds and the entry of the banks into the market.

But while he forecast more private funds would be directed into mortgages next year, Mr. Sharp said the government lending programs would be cut back.

He explained that the problem in regard to the demands the government made on the capital market arose, not only from the government's spending programs, but also to a large extent from its lending programs.

In the current fiscal year the government is lending Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, for housing and related purposes a net amount of $608 million, after taking into account repayments the government receives.

The government is advancing to the Veterans Loan Board for housing and farm credit purposes $60 million.

"The size of these lending programs will have to be restricted. I am confident we can do this without serious economic effects, when account is taken of the better flow of mortgage funds we can now expect the private market to provide," said Mr. Sharp.

Luxuries Good Place For Revenue

VANCOUVER (CP) — The chairman of the board of governors of the Vancouver Stock Exchange Thursday said he was disappointed that Finance Minister Sharp was not more specific in his cost-cutting intentions.

Donald C. McDermid, however expressed general praise for the government's taxation measures announced in Thursday's budget.

"The taxes are reasonable," said Mr. McDermid. "Luxuries like tobacco and liquor are good places to raise revenue. The personal surtax is not as much of a burden as most people anticipate.

"However, I do think that while Mr. Sharp was being so specific about his taxes, he could have been more specific about government spending."

Revenue Minister Benson was to deal later with details of government spending.

NEVER!

We agree with Datsun. You have enough to do gathering in the groceries and keeping the kiddies tucked quietly into their seat belts, without having to change gears as well.

That's why we're pleased to offer this Datsun 1600 Automatic. Into its budget price, it packs more features to gladden your feminine heart than any car we've ever known.

It's really smart. Nice lines. Lovely colours. The steering is light and positive. (You can park it in a teacup.) It has a full-flow air circulation system that works with the windows closed. The car never gets stuffy and your hairdo never blows awry. On cold days, the heater quickly clears all the windows to give you excellent vision.

For safety, there's an impact absorbing body, brakes borrowed from the best racing cars, back-up lights and, because children often ride in the rear seat, Datsun padded the backs of the front seats too.

The ride is velvet. All wheels are independently sprung. Also Datsun hinged the rear axle in the middle so that both wheels stay on the ground when you take a corner. You'll have new confidence when the roads are icy or rain-slicked.

But, best of all the Datsun 1600 isn't one of those timid small car automatics with no go. It has a big 96 h.p. engine that will cruise you at twenty in traffic or move you at better than ninety miles an hour. It's smooth and zippy in every gear.

Oh, and one more thing. Expect one hundred thousand mile reliability. That's been built-in too.

'Carter Tax Reform Just Too Much'

By Times News Services

OTTAWA — Canada will not get a Carter tax system.

The radical reforms of the Carter royal commission on taxations are just too much for the country, Finance Minister Sharp said Thursday night in his budget speech.

He turned his back on Carter recommendations as the basis for forthcoming tax reforms, announcing that the government will chosoe instead to make Canada's existing system fairer.

NDP financial critic Colin Cameron immeniately said the "throwing of the Carter tax report down the drain" was the most important feature of the budget.

The finance minister nevertheless ascribed "great value" to the work of the $3,500,000 royal commission "in helping us all to recognize the deficiencies in our present tax system and to devise sensible ways to reform the system."

It was news to warm the hearts of thousands of Canadian businessmen, who through their associations have implored the government to reject the Carter report.

WEIGH IN THINKING

Mr. Sharp said four points of public discussion on the report have weighed heavily in government thinking."

—The effect of the recommendations on the economy and various taxpayers is difficult to predict.

—The Carter tax system would differ markedly from that of the United States and other countries, creating economic difficulties and technical problems, particularly in respect to capital movements.

—Many people believe that the Carter system would not generate enough savings and attract enough foreign capital to provide for economic growth and development.

—Carter proposals could harm some regions, particularly those linked closely to the mining and petroleum industries.

Toronto accountant Kenneth Lem Carter and five other commissioners proposed that many forms of income now exempt from taxation should be brought into the tax base:

The commission asked for integration of corporate and personal income taxes, full-rate taxation of capital gains, higher taxes on gifts and bequests, and elimination of various tax advantages for mining, petroleum and life insurance companies.

The recommendations would also have meant lower taxes for most wage and salary earners. Most labor groups backed the report.

Mr. Sharp pointed out that the government's tax reform program must be undertaken in circumstances quite different from the terms of reference of the Carter commission when it was formed in 1964.

"The commission was designing a system to yield a revenue comparable to that of 1964," the minister said.

"Clearly we will need a tax system in 1969 and subsequently which will produce more revenues than that of 1964 — even after allowing for the growth in our economy since then, and the consequent increase in prices and incomes and federal revenues."

The government now will continue its study of all the briefs, the Carter report and its own plans for tax reform with a view to publishing a White Paper on the subject early next year.

Final legislation will be introduced later next year and it is possible the whole question of reform will not be decided until 1969.

Generally, Ottawa does not hide its light under a bushel when engaged in a good work. In the case of the Centennial medals, however, the approach is so quiet as to be almost furtive.

I wish the state department had chosen a less modest approach in distributing its 20,000 tokens in all provinces. As matters stand, local medal recipients would go un-noted were it not for friends and relatives who are passing the news along.

That's not as it should be, and I hope before the year is out, Greater Victoria will choose to honor these medal winners with a band, several windy speeches, and a solid round of applause from a large assembly.

The idea will probably horrify medal-winners, who regard their services to their fellows in matter-of-fact fashion, and seek no praise for doing their jobs.

But they deserve a bash — and I hope they get one!

The other day, in came a sizzling letter from A. B. Randy, 3318 Oak Street, with bill for $3.15 from Reader's Digest Condensed Books attached.

"Never a week goes by," Mr. Randy writes, "that something does not come along, a new gimmick, new winnings, new invitation to subscribe to new books that you did not ask for and, if you do not return them, they go after you for payment."

This complainant, and others, have entangled themselves in a bit of business titled 'Reader's Digest Cross-Canada Lucky Number Draw.'

If you want to buy the merchandise this outfit has to sell — and remember, the key words here are buy and sell — I expect you'll get value for money received.

Otherwise, file those glowing persuasions in your wastebasket, because nobody's about to give you something for nothing with no strings attached.

Let me warn you further of a questionable practice now being indulged in by certain sales departments that drum up trade by direct mail.

These now assume that if you return the card or envelope without indicating a "Yes" or "No," your silence means assent. (This clause may be pointed out in fine print, so watch for it.)

While we're on the subject, be warned also that any person selling a fire-detection device should be prepared to demonstrate it.

If he can't or won't, back off, fast!

Door-to-door and direct-mail deals can be tricky. Where these are concerned, it's far safer to inquire of our Better Business Bureau before you sign rather than after.

Then, it's too late.

★

At intervals this last week and more, I have been diving into a highly readable anthology compiled, edited and otherwise assisted by a brilliant Victorian.

Her name is Ursula Jupp, and the book is called Home Port: Victoria. Its 168 well-illustrated and indexed pages carry true yarns about ships and men who have sailed from Victoria since the port was young.

These accounts were told at their meetings by old sailors of Victoria's Thermopylae Club, in which Mrs. Jupp holds the rating of stewardess and historian.

"Thirty years ago," the author tells us in her opening chapter, "the gatherings were composed almost entirely of true deep-sea sailors. Many had 50 or more sea-years behind them, and when in those days the call was made, 'Anybody with a yarn?' who knew what tale might not come from memories that totalled well over 500 years . . .?"

By happy circumstance, Mrs. Jupp knows. She presents the record of sealer and steamer, clipper and towboat and their crews in a book which I hope will be followed by others no less interesting.

Home now, looking forward to Saturday when Lanny King Yee, his Chinese cooking class students, and their mouses and spouses will feast on 'Roasted spare-ribs dancing in the dew of tomatoes', 'deep-fried prawns under the watchful eyes of dragons', and other taste-treats washed down with the Tea of the Sixth Happiness.

Hungry-making, no?

GETTING READY for tonight's old-time costume ball are Mrs. Annie O'Connor and Walter Simpson, of Victoria Silver Threads Centre. They are among 500 registered pioneers who will compete for prizes in the Old Age Pensioners Hall, 1608 Government Street, starting at 8:30 p.m. This is the third and final costume ball organized by Greater Victoria Centennial Society. "Tickets were free but we ran out of them a week ago," said coordinator Jerry Gosley. (Times photo.)

SHIP CRACKS CHECKED

Several cracks have occurred in the aluminum panelling of the Canadian Coast Guard's $12,000,000 weathership, Vancouver, it was learned today.

The cracks are not considered dangerous, but the ship is back in Yarrow's Victoria yard while a faulty coupling on one of the ship's three turbo-generators is replaced.

The ship was to have sailed this morning for Weather Station Papa, 860 miles off Victoria. The voyage was postponed until the coupling could be replaced.

Repairmen are also investigating the cracks which have appeared in the aluminum panelling around the bridge area.

SAFE SHIP

"These cracks have nothing to do with the hull and the ship's safety is not affected in any way," said district marine agent L. E. Slaght.

"But the coupling has to be replaced and, if all goes well, the Vancouver will sail for Weather Station Papa Sunday morning."

The Vancouver is due to take over duties from her sister ship, Quadra, at the weather station. Each ship spends a seven-week stint at sea and five weeks in port.

TROUBLED

The 404-foot Vancouver has been haunted by trouble ever since she was launched in July, 1966. There have been difficulties with the radar tracking system, flume stabilizing shaft, the electrical system, and one of the turbo-generators.

Last week the Vancouver left Victoria Machinery Depot after undergoing a $65,000 routine overhaul.

"We decided to check the couplings on the turbo generators before the ship sailed," Mr. Slaght said, "and we found one of them was showing signs of excessive wear."

'Knew We'd Be Caught' Says Woman

A woman appeared in central court Thursday charged with three counts of false pretences under $50 and 10 counts over $50.

Valerie Einarson of Portage la Prairie had been charged earlier with two counts of false pretences under $50.

Thursday she pleaded guilty to all 15 counts and will be sentenced Dec. 7 after Magistrate Ostler has studied a probation officer's report.

"I guess I knew we would be caught sooner or later," said the 20-year-old Miss Einarson.

The man with whom she had been living, Glen Davis, 20, also of Portage la Prairie, Thursday pleaded guilty to one count of false pretences and was remanded to Dec. 7 as well for sentence.

Court was told Miss Einarson obtained cash and goods from stores after writing cheques on non-existent bank accounts.

Logan Park Trip For Youngsters

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Douglas-Hillside for an expedition to Logan Park off Interurban Road.

Young Hunter Killed by Bullet From Friend's Gun

A 19-year-old deer hunter was killed Thursday afternoon when accidentally hit by a bullet from his hunting companion's rifle in the Highlands District about three miles southwest of Brentwood Bay.

Dead is Robert Goodrow, of 3586 Calumet, a sales clerk at Capital Iron.

ROBERT GOODROW
. . . hit in chest

He was hunting with his friend Gerry Loudon, also 19, of 1579 Sonria Place, in rough bush country north of Durrance Lake, when struck in the chest by a .303-calibre bullet from Loudon's rifle.

There followed a desperate race for help by Loudon and later by police and volunteers before Goodrow's body was found near the foot of a 200-foot embankment shortly before dark.

Gerry, son of Times reporter Peter Loudon, first ran half a mile uphill to where Goodrow's car was parked on Ricky's Roost Road.

Within a quarter mile the car got stuck in loose gravel and the youth ran another mile to the home of Vernon Harknett on Durrance Road.

CUT HANDS

The house was empty and locked and Loudon cut his hands badly in smashing glass to get in and phone police.

When officers arrived Loudon tried to lead them to the accident scene but could not locate it.

Saanich police, Sidney RCMP, Victoria RCMP identification branch and Langford volunteer ambulance crewmen hurried to the scene to help in the search.

The body was found after a two-hour search and just before the Saanich police dog was put into the rocky, bush area to start tracking.

Goodrow and Loudon had been hunting about two hours before the accident. They were on each side of a gulley when Loudon fired at what he thought was a deer which his companion had flushed out for him.

After the body was found Loudon was taken to hospital to have cuts on both hands sutured.

FIRST DEATH

Goodrow's death is the first fatal hunting accident on the lower Island this season. The dead boy was wearing dark clothing and a red hunting hat.

Gerry was an experienced hunter, his father said. He began hunting three years ago under the guidance of a close family friend and expert hunter. It was because he had received expert training that he was allowed to go hunting on his own this year.

The two friends had hunted together several times before.

The victim, who graduated from Victoria High School last year, is survived by his mother, Joyce, at home, and a sister, Shirley, in Vancouver.

Sidney coroner D. G. Ashby said today an inquest would be held but a date has not yet been set.

U.S. JOBS?

Shipyarders Interviewed Next Week

A number of Victoria shipyard workers are inquiring about prospects of work in the United States, a spokesman for the Boilermakers' Union said today.

Some will be interviewed here Monday or Tuesday by an official from a shipyard at Pascagoula, Mississippi, which is seeking 75 shipfitters and pipefitters.

He is reported to be flying up here to get workers "in a hurry."

"Our chief responsibility in this regard is to advise members on wages and living costs," the union spokesman said. "In Pascagoula, the balance is very favorable and we would not discourage members from going there.

"At the same time, workers born after 1925 have to consider the possibility of being drafted for war service if they take employment in the United States."

RED TAPE CUT

The Pascagoula shipyard has promised that Victoria workers accepting employment will be subject to "a minimum of red tape."

The official who plans to visit Victoria Monday or Tuesday described it as a pleasant city of 35,000 on the Gulf of Mexico between Biloxi and Mobile Bay.

He said the firm had previously planned to seek skilled workers in Scotland, but decided to try Victoria on learning that Victoria Machinery Depot had withdrawn from shipbuilding.

'Know Your Horse' Course Set

Ever-increasing interest here in horses is expected to be reflected in a large registration for a horse course the Greater Victoria school board will start in January.

"Know Your Horse" will be covered in a series of 10 night school classes—one a week—at Central Junior High School, Room 207, starting Jan. 11.

Experts will lecture on a wide variety of subjects pertaining to horses. On the final night of the course there will be an open question session with all four of the instructors in attendance.

The lecturers will include three doctors of veterinary medicine, Dr. David Gaunt and Dr. A. Bonnell of Victoria, and Dr. David Reid of Duncan, and a Victoria farrier, Roy Jewell.

The weekly sessions will start at 7:30 p.m. and registration fee for the series is $15 per person.

Registrations will be accepted immediately at Greater Victoria School Board offices.

The lectures will cover such subjects as common ailments, conformation, legs, worms, teeth, mares and foals, breeding, feet and bad habits, feeding, shipping, and the use of restraints.

Youngster Badly Hurt In Hit-Run

Bicycle Rider Condition Poor

A 12-year-old cyclist is in poor condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with head and internal injuries following a hit-and-run accident in the Colwood area Thursday.

Stephen Giles, 3324 Wickhein Road, was knocked down from his bicycle on Owens Road about 4:30 p.m. by a car which left the scene of the accident.

Two young people were treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital after the motorcycle on which they were riding went out of control on the wet pavement at Cook and North Park at 8:20.

Injured were Lee Malone, 16, of 1030 Nicholson and Jessie Janowski, 17, of 1579 Bay.

PEDESTRIAN HURT

Harry Shipman, 74, of 853 Burdett, was treated for abrasions and was discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital, after a traffic accident Thursday night.

Police said the elderly man was walking on Burdett near Quadra about 9 p.m. when he was struck by a car driven by Albert Brooke, 136 Beechwood.

Alen Longhurst, 3543 Richmond, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital in fairly good conditions suffering injuries received Thursday afternoon when his car was in collision with another vehicle, went out of control and hit a parked car and then hit a service station door.

HEAD-ON CRASH

A head-on crash on the Sooke Road at about 5 p.m. Thursday sent two people to hospital.

Jerry Carter, 570 Dunford, is in good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with leg injuries Driver of the other car Mrs. Warren Allen, Rocky Point Road, is in fairly good condition with facial lacerations and a broken collarbone.

Rupert Queen To Return On March 28

Queen of Prince Rupert will resume operation March 28 with a twice-weekly round trip between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert, it was announced Thursday.

She will step up to a regular round trip on alternate days schedule May 19, added Monty Aldous, general manager of B. C. Ferry Authority.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Gov. Walter Hickel of Alaska announced that one of three Alaska State Ferries now calling at Prince Rupert will be switched to the new Puget Sound run before the end of the year.

It will make a twice-weekly run to Puget Sound and will not stop at Prince Rupert.

The spokesman said Gov. Hickel had not given serious consideration to the move until Premier Bennett announced the Queen of Prince Rupert would not be returned to service this winter.

The ferry authority's flagship underwent final sea trials Thursday following repair of damage sustained Aug. 11 in a grounding.

More Phoney $10 Bills Feared Here

A new series of counterfeit $10 bills has appeared in eastern Canada and may show up locally, city detectives warned Thursday.

The bogus notes bear serial numbers R over E 8621081.

Earlier this week a number of phoney $20 bills were turned over to police.

Mainland Store First Affected

A pre-Christmas strike of Victoria and Lower Mainland butchers loomed today.

First strike notice was served this morning in the long-simmering contract dispute between six major grocery chains and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union.

Given notice was a High-Low store in New Westminster.

The notice expires Sunday and the union is then free to strike at any time.

Sixteen Greater Victoria stores of three of the chains are involved in the dispute.

According to the union, the chain stores have said they would construe strike notice to one store's operation as strike notice to all, and lockout action would be taken in all other units.

The Victoria area stores are those of Super-Valu (including Maverick), Shop-Easy and Safeway. They are part of lower mainland bargaining units having a total union eleigiblity of 667 employees. Of these, 621 voted on strike action Thursday, 601 favoring the move, 22 opposed.

96.6 PER CENT IN FAVOR

The affirmative vote is worked out to 96.6 per cent in favor of striking.

The Super-Valu unit voted more than 94 per cent in favor, Shop Easy 100 per cent in favor and Safeway more than 97 per cent in favor.

The union is seeking a $1 hourly increase and a four-day 36-hour week. Current rates range from $2.30 an hour to $3.35 an hour.

The union earlier rejected a conciliation board report recommending a wage increase of 20 cents an hour in each year of a two-year contract.

Major Storm To Sideswipe Lower Island

A major storm struck the northwest coast of Vancouver Island today with gale winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour, gusting to 80.

The Greater Victoria area will feel the edge of the blast, weatherman Allan McQuarrie said this morning.

This means winds from the southeast at 35 to 45 miles an hour and rain. Strong west winds are predicted Saturday as the storm moves inland.

Gale warnings are out for all waters off Vancouver Island's north and west coast, said Mr. McQuarrie.

The storm centre passed right over CCGS Quadra on weather station Papa, 900 miles northwest of Victoria, Thursday night.

Within three hours the wind changed from east at five miles an hour to north at 65 miles an hour and the temperature dropped from 46 to 37 degrees in heavy rain.

Barometric pressure at the storm's centre was 28.05 inches, said the weatherman.

GONE TO SPIRIT LAND

A-Hoo-La, Friends Mourn Gentle Jimmy

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A-Hoo-La the sea lion, the salmon, the birds and all the animals are mourning today the loss of one of their greatest friends—kindly, gentle Jimmy Fraser.

Jimmy, a Songhees Indian, who was known across Canada as a weather prophet and story-teller, has gone to the spirit land of The One Who Dwells Above.

He died Tuesday in a Chilliwack hospital from old age, but he will rest among his ancestors when he is buried Saturday at the Songhees Indian cemetery following a funeral service at the Queen of Peace Church in Esquimalt at 9 a.m.

A mystic, Jimmy for many years predicted the weather with a remarkable degree of success.

CONSULTED SPIRITS

He claimed he based his predictions on the signs of nature or by "chatting" with birds, animals or fishes or by, consulting the spirits of these animals.

He was one of the last from a world that is gone, an animistic world when Indians were closer to nature and the basic things of life.

When he lived in his one-room shack on the Craigflower reserve, he rose every morning, and facing the rising sun, prayed to the spirit world.

To Jimmy the winds, the rocks and trees were not materialistic natural phenomenas, but spirit powers.

The west wind which brings rain to the coast, was a female spirit weeping for the loss of her lover, the south wind. A rock at sea was a spirit waiting to entice a boatman to his doom.

JIMMY FRASER
. . . listen tonight

Jimmy's relatives, most of them living on the Songhees Reserve, think he was close to 100 years old.

His grandfather was the famous "King Freezy," chief of the Songhees, when Sir James Douglas established his fort in Victoria. He was proud of his ancestors who were widely known as peace-makers before the arrival of the white man.

But Jimmy's great love was for animals.

"Listen," he would say, "Do you hear the voice of A-Hoo-La the sea lion. She is telling me the salmon is on the run."

Or on another occasion: "The frog speaks of the north wind bringing snow to the hills."

And if anyone doubts the powers of Jimmy, let him listen tonight for the wails of A-Hoo-La.

$327 in Clothing Taken from Store

Value of clothing taken from Elegant Knitwear in a robbery overnight Wednesday is now estimated at $327.

First reports on the Menzies Street store robbery indicated value of lost clothing at $222 but a further check of stock showed another $105 worth of ladies' clothing missing.

Ask The Times

Q. When was horse racing last held at Willows Park?—E.O.

A. According to the B.C. Jockey Club records, there were 14 days' racing from Sept. 11 to Sept. 27 in 1948.

A. What is the origin of the phrase "Up Guards and at 'em?"—C.J.P.

A. The command is attributed to the Duke of Wellington at the battle of Waterloo according to military historian Creasey, although writers have questioned this opinion, wondering on what grounds he attributed the statement to the Duke because it was a light infantry regiment involved in the final charge, at Waterloo, not the Guards.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

"HAY, NOT HERE . . ." seems to be plea of anguished store employee (left) while rider helps to lead horse out of department store during Western Day celebrations in Ottawa. Unlike proverbial bull-in-china-store, no damage was done. Except, perhaps, heart flutter suffered by store employee.

IT'S 'PROMISING,' SAYS WEATHERMAN

OTTAWA (CP) — It will be cloudy but snowless for the Grey Cup football game Saturday, the weatherman said today. Temperature for the 10 a.m. PST kickoff is forecast for 32 degrees.

"Mother nature has . . . co-operated by producing a partial block in the form of a high pressure area centred near Ottawa," forecaster Des Wright reported.

"It now appears certain that inclement weather associated with a midwestern U.S. storm will not reach Ottawa until after game time "

★ ★ ★

Winds are to be light and easterly, up to 15 miles an hour.

Crisp, clear skies Saturday morning are expected to give way to cloud in the forenoon with snow arriving Saturday night.

The forecaster's Grey Cup summary: "Promising indeed."

Fans are being advised to "bundle up" for the game.

Winds in the 15 to 20-mile per hour category during the past few days have helped to dry what dampness there was on the Lansdowne Park turf. The grounds crew had only one worry—a strip of turf outside the 15-yard has marks.

Protective plastic covering is over most of the playing area, pinned loosely to allow the wind to get under it and further dry the field.

Touch of Horse Sense To Grey Cup Nonsense

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Football fans from across Canada were streaming into the city today to bolster the Grey Cup spirit that finally burst to the surface Thursday.

Fears that 1967 might be the year of the quiet Grey Cup evaporated Thursday when a crowd of about 8,000 filled the three-block-long downtown mall for a Western Day celebration.

Most horses, riders, wagons and spectators were from the Ottawa Valley area, but acted as if they were away from home for the first time.

★ ★ ★

The horses and riders had the run of the streets, banks, department stores and any building with doors large enough to allow their entry.

"What can you do?" asked the assistant manager of one bank as three horses mingled with waiting customers.

"You just have to stand by with a shovel and wait to clean up after they leave."

He was lucky. The horses left nothing more than minor scuffs on the polished floor.

★ ★ ★

It was a different story on the mall where city workmen followed the horses with brooms and shovels.

While most of the crowd just stood and watched, some office girls on their lunch break took part in the activity, accepting offers of a ride on the horses.

The streets were quiet Thursday evening, but most hotel bars and lobbys were jammed. Hotels have removed most furniture from the lobbies and extra security guards were on duty.

★ ★ ★

The new Miss Grey Cup is 19-year-old Julie May Dixie of Ottawa.

The petite, blonde school teacher, tears glistening in the corners of her blue eyes, was named Thursday—much to the delight of 1,000 admirers.

Miss Toronto Argonaut, 18-year-old Sue Rance at Toronto, was an excited runner up. Third choice of the judges was Miss Winnipeg Blue Bomber, Anne Zelenyj, 20.

★ ★ ★

You've all heard of the "look-in" pass in football—that's where the receiver nips downfield about 10 yards, then cuts sharply back toward centre to gather in the ball.

Well, Mel Profit—former movie extra who plays football for Toronto Argonauts and writes a column for The Telegram—has come up with a new expression which he calls the "look out" block.

"This occurs when a lineman misses his block and turns to yell 'look out' to his quarterback just before he gets hammered."

★ ★ ★

A playing record will be established when John Barrow and Tommy Grant step onto the field at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park Saturday.

The game will be the ninth appearance in the Canadian final for both players.

★ ★ ★

Tiger-Cats, anticipating freezing temperatures and a frozen field, are taking precautions to offset the weather prediction.

"We'll use running shoes, special football shoes with corrugated rubber cleats and specially designed hand covers," coach Ralph Sazio said.

Dr. C. C. Hopmans, the club's orthopaedic consultant, has come up with an invention that might solve one chilling problem.

It's a hand covering made of a metallic-like material, similar to the substance from which astronaut's uniforms are made. The players shove their hands into the covers and the material traps the body heat.

The covers, enough for each member of the club, were stiched together by Dr. Hopman's staff of secretaries and nurses.

NOT EAGER, Ernie Bushnell, of Ottawa's Grey Cup Week committee, appears reluctant to accept joyful kiss-of-gratitude of new Miss Grey Cup, Julia Dixie. He presented new queen with keys to a new car. (CP Wirephoto.)

Ferrill Sits Out Game With Bucks

Flashy centre Dennis Ferrill won't be with Victoria Cougars when they meet Kelowna Saturday night in a British Columbia Junior Hockey League game at the Memorial Arena.

Out of action for a week with pulled groin muscles, the high-scoring (for Cougars) forward has been told to take it easy for another week.

"Next week will probably do the trick," coach Doug Anderson said today. "The treatments didn't work while he was skating."

Ferrill played in last Saturday's game but aggravated his condition.

So Anderson is keeping him out of action for a week to make sure the treatments take hold.

Cougars have a three-game stint in the Okanagan next week and Anderson wants to have Ferrill ready for the tour.

Bob Webb, also out for some time with a hip injury, may play in Saturday night's game. He has said he feels ready to play and has been put back on the list.

Anderson plans to play Murray Finlay in goal this week, as he has to write exams at Uvic next week. Finlay is still in third spot for goals-against average at 4.00.

Ferrill is in third place on the Victoria scoring list, four points behind club leader Barry Clarke, who has collected 12 goals and seven assists for 19 points,

Wests to Use Schulz In Battle With Scots

Victoria Wests will throw something new at their foes Saturday when the Wests, renew an old rivalry with Canadian Scottish.

Lining up with the Wests when they defend the silverware in the final round of the Jackson Cup competition for first division sides in the Victoria and District Soccer League will be newcomer Jim Schulz.

Member of Victoria O'Keefes last season and with the Canadian Forces championship team from CFB Esquimalt this season, Schulz has the talent and toughness on attack to give Scottish defenders an uncomfortable afternoon.

Wests and Scots are slated to tangle on the Heywood Avenue pitch.

Two first division league matches are scheduled Sunday. Red Lion Inn will meet Hourigan's Kickers at Topaz Park and Gorge Molsons will face Luckies at Rose Street Park.

In second division action, Falcons will play the University Norsemen at Gordon Head, Victoria West will be at William Head, and Gorge goes to Sidney. Colony Inn and London Boxing Club clash at Central Park and Island Tug faces Mayfair Clippers at Bullen Park.

All games start at 2 p.m.

Bidders Refuse To Stay Away

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Despite a warning from president Warren Giles, of the National League, to stay away, bidders for new baseball franchises have showed up at the major league annual meetings.

A Seattle group known as Pacific Northwest Sports, headed by Max Soriano, appeared Thursday and today Kansas City groups follow up the Seattle pitch. They want franchises in 1969.

Giles repeatedly said he expected no expansion timetable to be adopted at the meeting here.

Groups from San Diego, Milwaukee, Dallas-Fort Worth and Buffalo are on the scene, distributing brochures and talking up their cities to anyone who will listen.

JOINT SESSIONS

Unless there is an unexpected roadblock, the two leagues are expected to finish their individual meetings in time to hold their final joint session in late afternoon. The joint meeting originally had been scheduled for Saturday morning.

The manner of stocking the new franchises and the cost of the players to the new owners still is being kept quiet by the American League. In previous expansion moves, the costs averaged about $2,000,000 but these are expected to be much more expensive.

PREPARING PLANS

"The plan for expansion will involve 30 players for each new team," said president Joe Cronin. "Chub Feeney (vice president of San Francisco) and Lee MacPahil (general manager of New York Yankees) have worked out a plan for major league expansion."

The player market slacked off a bit Thursday but there were a few deals.

Chicago Cubs, who tried 11 different right fielders last season, acquired 34-year-old Lou Johnson from Los Angeles Dodgers in return for infielder Paul Popovich and minor league outfielder Jim Williams.

ELLIS TO ANGELS

Cincinnati Rods dealt off right-hand pitcher Sammy Ellis, a disappointing 8-11 performer last season, to California Angels for relief pitchers Bill Kelso, 5-3 and Jorge Rubio, 0-2, both right-handers.

New York Yankees bought shortstop Gene Michael from Los Angeles Dodgers for an unannounced sum of cash.

Boston Red Sox acquired right-handed pitcher Ray Culp from Chicago Cubs for minor league outfielder Bill Schlesinger and an unspecified amount of cash.

Mount View's Island champion Hornets will have to wait two weeks before they travel to Vancouver to play John Oliver for the provincial high school soccer championship.

John Oliver defeated Victoria Tyees at Victoria High School for the title last year.

Odrowski Is David To Slumping Seals

Mahovlich Helps Leafs to 3-3 Tie

By The Canadian Press

Happiness for Oakland Seals is a defenceman named Gerry Odrowski.

Playing in his 15th National Hockey League game this season, Odrowski scored two goals Thursday night to lead Oakland Seals to an upset 3-1 Western Division victory over Philadelphia Flyers.

The win marked the first road victory for the Seals in 11 games and boosted Odrowski's season goal total to three. In their previous 10 road games, Oakland lost nine and gained a 2-2 tie with Philadelphia.

In other games Thursday night, Frank Mahovlich and Mike Walton each scored a goal and an assist for Toronto as the Leafs tied 3-3 with Detroit and Montreal Canadiens battled to a 1-1 tie with the stubborn Minnesota North Stars in an East-West interlocking contest.

The Philadelphia - Oakland game was a David and Goliath contest. The Flyers were first in the West going into the contest and Oakland was languishing in fifth place.

DEFENSIVE GAME

But the Seals scored twice while shorthanded and goaltender Charlie Hodge held off the Flyers until defenceman Ed Van Impe snapped his shutout with less than two minutes left in the game.

Odrowski, 29, of Trout Creek, Ont., played four years in the Western Hockey League with San Francisco and California before coming to Oakland this year. He earlier played three years in the NHL with Detroit Red Wings in 1960-63.

Walton's goal was his 13th of the year for Toronto and it moved him into the NHL's top 10 scorers with 20 points. It came on a rebound after a slapshot by Duane Rupp of Toronto struck goaltender Roy Edwards in the head and he fell to the ice.

EDWARDS INJURED

Edwards suffered a five-stitch gash on his nose and left the game. He was replaced by George Gardner.

In Montreal, Ted Taylor scored the tying goal for Minnesota with five minutes to play. He converted Bob McCord's pass into the net and ended the Stars' five-game losing streak.

Yvan Cournoyer scored his 10th goal of the season for Montreal in the opening period and goaltender Gump Worsley nursed the 1-0 lead until Taylor connected for the North Stars, who have played six consecutive games against clubs in the NHL's established Eastern Division.

CONFUSING BASEBALL RHUBARB . . . . . . AS PLAYERS TRY TO MEET OWNERS

'Might Have to Get in Gutter With Him'

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Major league baseball has a confusing, off-season rhubarb on its hands today between players and their owners.

"Somebody's lying. And I don't think it's the owners," said Paul Richards, general manager of Atlanta Braves. "If this guy continues these kind of tactics we just might have to get into the gutter with him."

Richards was referring Thursday to Marvin Miller, former negotiator for the United Steelworkers of America who now is executive director of the Major League Basketball Players' Association.

Miller and 21 players called an unusual news conference Thursday to express the players' "extreme dissatisfaction in the negotiations with the owners and representatives of the owners group."

The players gave the owners a "statement of policy" a year ago which demands, among other things, an increase in the minimum big league salary to $12,000 from $7,000 a year.

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, read a joint statement from the owners several hours after the news conference in which he claimed Miller knew beforehand the players could not negotiate with the owners here during the winter baseball meetings.

Cronin said there has been no mention of a strike despite unhappiness among players with the pace of negotiations.

"We were told further discussion would be needed in Mexico City," Miller said. "The only reason the players are here is to conclude the negotiations. Now we're told the owners are too busy."

Part of the confusion was in the type of meeting referred to by Cronin. The league president's statement said managers had been advised before coming to Mexico that "no bargaining meeting could be held in Mexico City until after the player relations committee, representing all major league clubs, had received guidance from the 20 owners."

"The owners are not paying any attention to the players' interests," Miller said. "Simple things which are accepted everywhere else have been turned down flat."

"What we are really trying to do is eliminate the enequities between clubs," said Bill Freehan of Detroit Tigers. "Some clubs pay everyone more than the minimum. But some others have a lot of players at the minimum."

Number Holds Destiny As Lions Lose No. 13

Bad luck came from a number Thursday night as Red Lion Inn suffered its 13th defeat in Victoria Senior Men's Basketball League play at Lansdowne Junior High, going down 60-53 at the hands of Labatts.

Lions took a 27-21 lead at half time as Ian McDonald fired 12 of his 18 points. But Labatts' zone defence put Lions in the cage the rest of the way.

Joe Patterson scored 18 points for the third-place Labatts while Gordie Jones collected 15 and Ed Kowalyk added 12 to spark Labs' comeback.

COLONY CONNECTS

In the other league game, Colony Inn stayed in front of Labatts and moved to within two points of idle league-leading Independents by dumping Farmer Construction, 65-52.

Ellery Littleton and Jim Cunningham led the winners with 14 points each while Fred Gubbels paced Farmers with 15.

FOOTBALL GREATS HONORED

OTTAWA (CP) — Three veteran athletes joined Canadian Football League Hall of Fame Thursday.

Among them was Carl Cronin of Chicago, the first import brought into Winnipeg. A graduate of Notre Dame University under Knute Rockne, he joined Winnipeg as coach and quarterback in 1932 and within two years took them to the western championship.

Named with him were J. P. (Jimmy) McCaffrey, former Ottawa Rough Riders manager who died this year, and A. H. (Cap) Fear, who starred with Toronto Argonauts from 1919 through 1926 and Hamilton Tigers from 1928 through 1932.

Cronin, who took Winnipeg to the 1933 Grey Cup game against Toronto in which they lost 13-0 at Varsity Stadium, sat out of football the following year after missing a bid to become coach of Hamilton Tigers.

But the following year he joined Calgary Broncs—now the Stampeders—and developed them into a strong Western force during his five-year stay.

Hoop Coach Believes Vikings Are Ready for Varsity Tests

By STEWART LANG

Bob Bell, director of physical education and varsity basketball coach at the University of Victoria, feels the time is ripe for the Uvic hoop squad to begin play on a regular basis with other varsity teams across the country.

Having just returned from a meeting of the Western Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Association, where he was delegated as an observer, Bell feels that indications are favorable to Uvic's inclusion in the organization. The financial commitments of such a venture, along with a proposed program will have to be passed by the University's athletics council before any action can be taken.

BOB BELL

If accepted, it would enable Uvic athletes to play senior varsity teams in other than exhibition games.

Despite losing two decisions (78-68 and 93-83) last weekend to UBC's defending B.C. junior championship team, coach Bell believes his basketball Vikings are able to play on a par with other senior varsity clubs.

LOST IN OVERTIME

Much of this confidence may stem from the fine performance by the Vikings in the recent Dinosaur Tournament at the University of Alberta (Calgary). The host Dinosaurs came out on top after squeezing past Uvic in an overtime battle. This was the first time the Vikings had tackled the senior varsity of another university.

This weekend they hit the road for two exhibition games — with Peninsula Junior College in Port Angeles Friday night and Olympic Junior College in Bremerton on Saturday — before keeping an important date at home.

Bell plans to worry about these two away games before turning attention to his club's first home game of the season against Centralia on Monday at the Uvic gymnasium at 8.

It could be that game which proves the mettle of the Vikings, for the team from Washington rated tops among the junior colleges last year by winning the state tournament.

FAST-BREAKING CLUB

Bell feels the team is shaping into a fast-breaking bundle of strength that will bear watching in future competitions.

Among the 10 Viking regulars who could play important roles Monday are Al Glover, becoming more accustomed to his new position after being switched from forward to guard; six-six Bill Carson, who might have made the difference had he been with the Vikings for the Vancouver games, and Ken Jackson, a slick shooter who has improved his defensive play considerably.

Other Uvic athletic squads will also be busy this weekend with some of them working on alien playing surfaces.

PUCK VIKINGS AWAY

The hockey Vikings will be playing exhibition games tonight and Saturday at University of B.C. and the men's volleyball team will be swatting Saturday in a tournament at Eugene, Ore.

On the home front, the Jayvees are slated to tackle the powerful Vancouver Grocers Saturday (8:00 p.m.) and Sunday (1:00 p.m.) in a pair of Inter-City Junior Basketball League tussles

The two women's field hockey teams will be playing Saturday at Lansdowne Junior High School and the Norsemen play Falcons at Topaz Park Sunday in a second division Victoria and District Soccer League match.

Both rugby clubs will battle Sunday, the Vikings against Cowichan at Gordon Head and the Norsemen against the second-division Cowichan Club at Duncan.

SAANICH REEVESHIP CANDIDATES TICKED OFF BY EXASPERATED TAXPAYER

'Forget the Spatting, Tell Me Why I Should Vote for You'

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Saanich reeveship candidates clashed head-on at a public meeting Thursday night.

Challenger Gordon Campbell, saying he is "amazed, shocked and disturbed by the things I have found out in the last few months," said incumbent Hugh Curtis declined an invitation by the Saanich Action Committee to attend a public meeting on sewage problems.

He added that local health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread and Charles Keenan, director of the Pollution Control Board, also refused.

"I say there can be no other interpretation that they did not want to be involved and answer questions," he said.

"The attitude is that this is a closed issue. Public officials who do that should not be asked for explanations but their resignations."

'Not Possible'

Reeve Curtis retorted that he was willing to attend the meeting and "I was told this was not possible."

He promptly circulated a letter which stated in part "I would like to attend the meeting and to offer any comments which are appropriate."

As the two candidates traded argument on the point, one of the 70 persons attending the meeting in Gorge Presbyterian Church Hall jumped up and said:

"I came to hear two candidates and why I should vote for them and not to hear spatting."

Mr. Campbell, a tax auditor with the federal government who said he will take a leave of absence if elected, told the meeting it is "amazing and unbelievable that not one single member of council argues against the regional sewerage report."

He said amalgamation "is not a dead issue, it is just under the surface" and promised to "we will not give up our political powers."

Much information on sewage had not even been scratched but this was "not surprising — municipal officials do not want us to know all the answers."

Referring to the $23 million price tag for main trunks and outfalls, he said this is "unwittingly or deliberately misleading" because each property must also connect up.

"What is the cost? We do not know the answer," he said.

Asked directly if he could say that the proposed sewer scheme is not the best one, Mr. Campbell replied:

"Yes. I have seen enough locally and in other places that the simple dumping of sewage into the sea is not good enough."

'Can't Stop'

To another question, he agreed it is "obvious we can not stop dumping raw sewage into the sea for some time and to some extent.

"But sometime we will know how to dispose to the land. Yes, for the moment, we would have to continue. If sewage can be so treated that the effluent is pure water then it can go into the sea."

He added that no common treatment plant could cope with the viruses from the effluent and that the long-term effect of viruses in the sea was not known.

"Full treatment can be done by the much-maligned septic tank," he said.

"It evaporates into the air or is trapped in the soil. Septic tanks can be made to work."

Reeve Curtis said local efforts have been to get sewers into the ground and the "rotten, stinking mess from the ditches."

"I suggest that the Pollution Control Board will say you shall or you shall not dispose of sewage to the sea.

"Are we to stop sewers while this is going on? I suggest we cannot stop," he said to loud applause.

Teamwork

Earlier, Reeve Curtis outlined developments which had taken place in Saanich in the last few years.

"I don't pretend all the accomplishments can be credited to me, but to team work. Harmony has been the rule rather than the exception since 1964.

"Too often before, Saanich has been split into bickering and I don't want to see this return. The Saanich population has increased 20 per cent in five years and that brings many problems."

He said council has met these problems, with improved drainage, road works, massive street lighting, securing Elk-Beaver Lake as parkland, the recreation referendum, tenders being called in a few days on the ice arena and early in the new way for the senior citizens' activity centre, planning under way for the senior citizens housing project and the $700,000 dispersed housing scheme for low-income people.

Looking to the future, he said the single most serious problem is sewage disposal. Effluent was going into ditches and apart from the health hazard there was a slowing down of commercial and residential development.

He said "real progress" has been achieved by area agreement on the regional sewer plan two years after the report came out.

The scheme followed an exhaustive study by competent people and the recommmendations had been studied by l,ocal engineers and health officials.

Major outfalls extending into deep water would, "we are told," disperse sewage by the natural forces of the water.

He said no municipally elected person in Greater Victoria is "finally and irrevocably" committed to sea dispersal, pointing to the necessary Pollution Control Board approval.

But in the meantime, "we must carry on with the scheme to get rid of land pollution. As your reeve, I intend to keep on attacking and break through the sewage problem."

$800,000 OFFER FROM McRAES?

A public meeting was told Thursday night Saanich was offered the McRae Estate for $800,000 if the family could keep eight acres plus their home.

Council candidate Lionel Speller said he has this "from good information and it is on record at the municipal hall."

"This is the deal that shold have been accepted," he said.

But with the council-approved deal of $1.2 million, the price set by the arbitration board, "ratepayers will be paying $400,000 for eight acres and a rather old home."

He also said he attended one council meeting where everyone said $1.2 million was "too expensive" yet council later agreed to it.

'NO AUTHORITY'

Later, however, Coun. Alan Newberry said the letter was signed by some of the McRaes "but the other McRaes said this letter had no authority and was not a bona-fide offer."

(Two weeks ago The Victoria Daily Times was given infarmation that the McRaes had offered their 132-acre estate to Saanich for $800,000. But George McRae said this was never offered and the information was "incorrect.")

Coun. William Noel, seeking re-election, recalled that he was the only member of council to oppose the offer of $1.2 million, of which $900,000 would be from a ratepayer-approved capital budget and $300,000 from general revenue in addition to interest.

"We are sticking out hands into your pockets for an extra 1.5 or two mills," he said.

He favored ratepayer approval for the extra $300,000.

FINISH THE JOB

He also said Saanich has undertaken many projects and "it is my wish to have another couple of years to to see these successfully concluded."

The regional board should be urged to give "the highest priority" to the sewage plan to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Comments by other candidates included:

PAT FRUMENTO: Support regional sewerage survey. If deep outfalls to sea don't end beach pollution, then treatment plants should be installed. More use should be made of schools after hours;

A. W. MESHER: Properly-installed outfalls extending well into the sea are well-suited for this area. With tidal currents there is very little if any chance of beach pollution. Area cannot afford to delay any longer. People should be given some sort of residential zoning so that the environment won't change;

JOSEPH BELTON: Favors planned progress, sewers for all urban areas, concerted effort to bring industry to Greater Victoria through municipal efforts. Agrees with Mr. Mesher on new home zoning;

FRANK WARING: Only promise is to do what is in the best interests of Saanich "and spend each tax dollar as if it was my own." Reason for running "purely a desire to give public service";

MRS. LESLIE BELEIT: Opposed to dumping raw sewage on to land or into sea because of "dangerous health hazard." Must get more information on treated sewage. Garbage disposal must be improved and more stability needed in zoning.

FOSTER ISHERWOOD: Planning and zoning "very important" for third largest municipality in B.C. Must have a tax base which will carry some of the increased taxes.

COUN. EDITH GUNNING: Interested in making housing easier for middle-income group but sewers necessary first. Favors more imaginative planning of apartments. Favors land disposal of sewage if possible, but rocky island with heavy clay sub-soil does not provide necessary conditions. As population grows it will be necessary to treat sewage before sea disposal and this is dealt with in sewer survey;

COUN. WILLIAM CAMPBELL: Quoted extensively from sewer report, saying he stands "100 per cent" behind it and "after reading this report and all the facts. I can't see how anyone cannot support this."

HOSTEL PLANNED

Yorkville 'Trap' For Runaways

TORONTO (CP)—Yorkville, Toronto's coffeehouse district, is becoming a trap for increasingly younger runaways, David DePoe, self-styled hippie leader and Company of Young Canadians worker, said Wednesday.

Mr. Depoe told a Voice of Women meeting that the hippie movement among persons with an average age of 20 years is dying. The average age in Yorkville today is 16 and they tend to use more potent drugs than LSD or marijuana.

DePoe said he and a group of Yorkville residents have made plans to open a hostel in the Yorkville area for runaways where they can sleep, eat and have someone to talk to. Several churches have contributed to ensure one year's payment of rent for a house.

"We are thinking of having a school where they can learn creative drama and art," he said.

Injunction Extended

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Superior Court Thursday ordered that a temporary injunction forbidding the Shipping Federation of Canada from firing longshoremen in Montreal be continued until 4 p.m. Tuesday.

APPEAL has been filed by Rene Castellani against death sentence in arsenic murder of his wife Esther in Vancouver. Castellani was convicted by assize court jury in October and sentenced to die January 23.

HOME GARDEN

Protect Clay Pots From Frost

By HILDA BEASTALL

There are still thousands of clay flower pots used by gardeners in this area, and every winter many are shattered by the action of frost.

Hilda

Those of us who still have a quantity of the old red clay pots and like to use them, find this loss during winter is annoying, since their manufacture has been discontinued locally for many years.

Dry clay pots do not break in frost, but if they are left outdoors there is little chance of their being dry in our wet winters.

The obvious way to eliminate this winter breakage is to see that all pots are brought under dry cover before the damage is done.

PREPARATION

Empties can be stored in a shed or garage. If a greenhouse is available, pots should all be scrubbed at the time of taking them in.

Not only is this a good way of keeping the place clean but also means they are ready for use on those winter days when the gardener is happy to own a greenhouse to work in.

If clay pots containing plants are outdoors now, and are to be left out, the pots will be safer if plunged over the rim in sand.

Stray Bullet Kills Pregnant Guide

CLARKSVILLE, N.H. (UPI)—A 20-year-old expectant mother, the only active licensed female guide in New Hampshire, was shot and killed Wednesday while assisting a deer hunting party.

Mrs. Jeannette Phillips, about eight months pregnant, was killed when struck in the arm and chest by a 44 magnum bullet.

Ambushed by Huks

MANILA (AP)—Five soldiers and two civilians were killed by heavily armed Huk terrorists Thursday in an ambush in Bulacan Province near Manila, the national constabulary reported.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Judy's new Telephone title is:

Directory Assistance Operator

THIS TITLE CAME WITH YOUR NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

We've changed Judy's title, but her function remains the same as ever — to give you service when you dial 113 to get a telephone number you can't find in your new telephone directory.

Judy has been an information operator. Today she becomes a directory assistance operator. So do the others in our directory assistance centre.

Next time you call 113, the operator will answer with the phrase "directory assistance", rather than with the word "information."

You'll notice another change, too, because we've given our directory assistance operators two new phrases to use when they provide you with the telephone number you've requested.

If the number you seek is listed in your new telephone directory, your directory assistance operator will advise you: "The number in your directory is (number)."

If the number you seek isn't listed in your new telephone directory, your directory assistance operator will advise you: "That is a new number. It is (number), if you would care to make a note of it." We've mailed a special card for your use in listing new numbers and your frequently-called numbers and your new directory has space on the inside back cover for additional numbers.

Judy's new title and the new procedure have been adopted to help emphasize that she's not able to provide any and all kinds of information, but that she's there to provide telephone numbers, and primarily to provide new and changed telephone numbers which are not listed in your new directory.

We expect the change will help us to provide better directory assistance service to you when you need it.

Practical Proposals Wanted at Probe

By ELIZABETH FORBES

In anticipation of public hearings to be held in British Columbia, beginning April 15 next year, the Royal Commission on the Status of Women in Canada, is inviting submissions from individuals, associations and organizations.

Forbes

It goes without saying that national women's organizations will gather pertinent facts and will prepare and present informative briefs But there is also an obligation upon every provincial and local assocaition with knowledge of the various needs and every individual (male or female) with actual experience of cases that demonstrate these needs, to pass such information on to the commission.

A little over a year ago when some 2,000,000 women in 33 organizations in Canada, were asking the federal government for this royal commission, the seven-page brief called for an inquiry into reasons for restricting women from full participation in the economic, educational, political, social and professional life of Canada.

The submission was based on the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which was accepted by the United Nations in 1948.

* * *

In requesting the government to set up a commission the delegation was hopeful that it could report in time for United Nations International Human Rights Year in 1968.

Specifically the brief called for inquiry into discriminatory laws and practices and "invisible barriers" against women.

Other areas cited for inquiry included outdated marriage and divorce laws, taxation of married women and involvement of women in fields of education, automation and immigration.

In February, this year, the commission was appointed by the Privy Council on recommendation of Prime Minister Pearson.

Now—if it is to fulfil its purpose—the women of Canada (including those of British Columbia) must be prepared, through their various associations and clubs or on their own initiative, to make intelligent, constructive and practical proposals so that the recommendations of the commission will point the way for a fuller and more important participation—by women—in the life of Canada, in society, in politics, in education and in business.

* * *

There are those who will say (indeed, they have already said) that there is no need for such a commission. Briefly, let me suggest two areas, where the need is very evident.

In the matter of buying a home, it is virtually impossible for a woman, no matter what her financial standing, to get mortgage money from leading companies. Unless she has a male guarantor.

This is something that has gone on as long as realtors can remember. It's not discrimination, they insist, as much as something that has never been done. Yet, they do nothing to try and rectify this "something."

Here, it would seem to us, is an area that needs probing. And an intelligent woman or group of women could easily gather the facts and get them in to the commission.

Pick up a copy of the Municipal Superannuation Act of British Columbia (as consolidated in June, 1966) and read some of its sections and sub-sections.

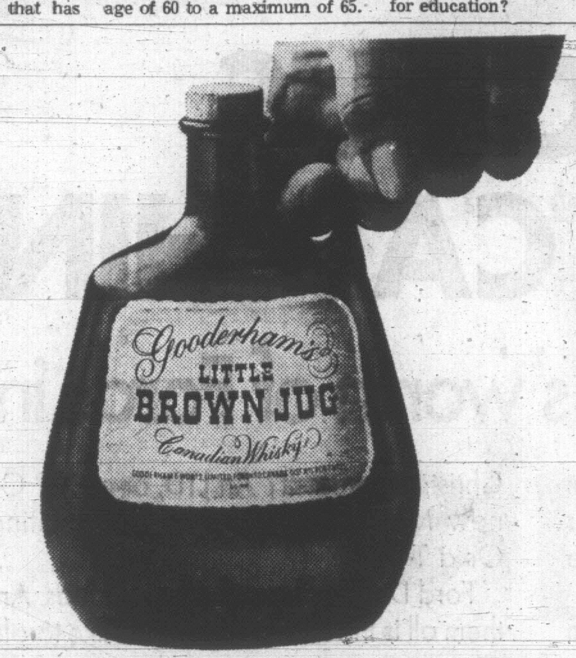
There's one that speaks of the eligibilty of males (other than policemen or firemen) from minimum retirement age of 60 to a maximum of 65. It also designates female hospital employees or other female employees in the same age bracket who have been approved by their employers.

In both instances the minimum monthly deduction from employees' planned earnings is given as five per cent. An employer's contribution for a male employee is based on a minimum of four per cent of planned earning until the age of 50 and eight per cent after that.

Contribution for a female, on the other hand, is set at three per cent until age 50 and six per cent after that.

* * *

Going a little further let me ask—have women in Canada equal access and opportunity for education?



The way to handle Little Brown Jug Whisky in the new jug.

It's been made easy.

Because Gooderham's Little Brown Jug Whisky is now in little brown jugs. And they come with little brown carrying handles.

The shape of the jug has changed. But not the flavour.

You get the same smooth and polished whisky aged for lightness, on the inside.

The only question is now, not how you'll pick it up, but when?

CONFEDERATION CONFERENCE

Positive Step Taken, All Provinces Agree

By IAN MacDONALD

TORONTO (CP) — The Confederation of Tomorrow conference that ended here Thursday convinced provincial representatives a positive step had been taken toward solving Canada's constitutional, economic and language problems.

To make sure the first step would not be the last, representatives of Canada's 10 provinces formed a permanent continuing committee to study the problems and plan future meetings.

Premier John Robearts of Ontario, who called the conference, said the committee has not decided when it will elect a chairman.

Meanwhile its secretarial staff, on loan from the Ontario government until things get properly organized, was collecting papers and reports from the conference.

Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec told reporters the conference was "the beginning of a process which will eventually bring this country to revamp the constitution."

"I feel that from the opening session to the closing today we have all travelled quite a distance. . . . At least we have admitted that there is something wrong with our federalism."

During the sessions the provinces agreed the constitution should be amended to help Quebec preserve its unique identity and to close the economic gap between Canada's rich and poor provinces.

And almost all of the provinces expressed a willingness to extend French-language rights within their borders.

But in the midst of all this agreement came a reminder Thursday that no solutions had been found or even sought to the urgent problems threatening Canadian solidarity.

"Immediate problems demand immediate action," Mr. Robarts told delegates. "Let us not wait until a crisis is upon us before we take action."

Mr. Johnson challenged all Canadians to work for a new constitution and criticized those who refuse to recognize rights of French-speaking Canadians in English-speaking provinces.

LAUDS PRESENTATION

Mr. Robarts praised Mr. Johnson for his lucid presentation of Quebec's case and added:

"Mr. Johnson was facing a more difficult situation than those of any other premier, and sometimes was somewhat alone in the position he took."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia called for a "break with the past" to right economic wrongs and Attorney-General D. V. Heald said Saskatchewan would not agree to constitutional changes that would give one province a special status over another.

Walter Weir, Manitoba's new premier, promised to consider "with the utmost concern" the problems raised at the conference.

Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick urged delegates to keep the conference discussions in mind and play a key role at the next federal-provincial conference.

PROPOSES UNITY

Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island went a step further by asking the provinces to take "some collective initiative" on constitutional change to the Ottawa meeting.

All the Atlantic provinces backed Mr. Robichaud's plea for some recognition of the French fact in Canada.

On economics, the major concern of Atlantic delegations, Mr. Robichaud said there must be "a nationwide determination to overcome regional disparities."

Attorney-General R. A. Donahoe of Nova Scotia praised Mr. Johnson for bringing to the conference the conviction that change and reform can be accomplished.

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said the conference established that "very real" problems confront Canada but that they aren't beyond solution.

Attorney-General T. A. Hickman of Newfoundland said the federal government should take "a long, hard look" at the basic education of Canadians and pour more funds into that field.

JOEY RECOVERING

Mr. Hickman was filling in for Premier Joseph Smallwood, recovering in Toronto's St. Michael's Hospital from surgery to repair a detached retina.

Mr. Donahoe was subing for Premier G. I. Smith who returned home Wednesday night to attend a special session of the Nova Scotia legislature.

Mr. Heald replaced Premier Ross Thatcher who returned to Saskatchewan on government business Tuesday.

The only premier who didn't attend any of the sessions was W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia.

New Quake Rocks Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (Reuters) — A new earthquake today shook the south Yugoslav town of Debar where at least eight Yugoslavs were killed and 7,000 made homeless by a severe quake Thursday.

First reports said there were no casualties or damage in today's quake.

The Albanian news agency said at least 10 Albanians were killed in Thursday's quake, which shook the entire country. It injured at least 124, the agency said.

Today's tremor was estimated in Debar at between five and six degrees on the 12-degree international scale. Thursday's disastrous tremor was believed to have hit at least eight or nine degrees.

Debar is a small Macedonian town near the Albanian border.

In Albania, more than 2,000 homes were wrecked and 28 schools damaged, the Albanian news agency reported.

The main force of the earthquake was felt in the districts of Dribra and Librazhd, east of the capital, Tirana, the agency reported.

SASQUATCH CLAIMANT CHARGED

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Roger Patterson, 34, the man who said he photographed an abominable snowman in the mountains of northern California this fall, has been charged with grand larceny involving a 16 mm movie camera.

Patterson pleaded not guilty to the charge in Yakima County Superior Court Thursday and was released on his personal recognizance.

Harold Mattson, general manager of a Yakima camera shop, said Patterson rented the camera May 13 and was to return it two days later.

LAST-MINUTE AMENDMENTS FAIL

Hanging Bill Through House

OTTAWA (CP) — Commons gave final approval, by 105 votes to 70, Thursday to a government bill limiting the death penalty to murderers of policemen and prison guards for a five-year trial period. The vote was held free of party lines.

On third reading of the bill to limit capital punishment, 73 Liberals were joined in support of it by 17 New Democrats and 15 Conservatives, including former prime minister John Diefenbaker and the new Opposition leader, Robert Stanfield.

Voting against the bill were 47 Conservatives, 15 Liberals, six Creditistes and two Social Credit members.

The Liberal opponents included one member of the cabinet, Northern Affairs Minister Laing. State Secretary Judy LaMarsh had opposed the bill on second reading but voted for it this time.

The bill now goes to the Senate, which resumes its fall session next Tuesday.

Opponents of the bill made two last-ditch attempts to amend it on its ninth day of debate in the Commons.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) proposed that the death penalty be kept for murderers of children under 16. His amendment was beaten 109 to 68.

Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) moved an amendment to reopen the whole question of what murder cases should continue to require the death penalty. It was beaten 114 to 57.

Any murder trial under way when the legislation is proclaimed will continue as if the old law was still in force. If a death sentence is handed down it will be commuted by cabinet.

Solicitor-General Pennell said Wednesday he hopes as many trials as possible can be held off until the bill is legally in effect.

Mr. Churchill's attempt to amend the death-penalty bill was supported by 45 other Conservatives, 14 back-bench Liberals, seven Creditistes and one Social Credit MP. But Mr. Stanfield, Mr. Diefenbaker and 14 other Conservatives, along with 76 Liberals and 17 New Democrats, stood against it.

SUPPORT McCLEAVE

Mr. McCleave had the support of 45 other Conservatives, six Liberals, four Creditistes and one Social Credit member. He was opposed by 80 Liberals, 17 New Democrats, 16 Conservatives and one Social Credit MP.

Current standings in the 265-seat House of Commons are: Liberals 132, Conservatives 95, NDP 22, Creditistes 8, Social Credit 4, independent 3, vacant 1.

'Dam' Economy Hurts Schools

'Just Enough Funds for Education To Keep Pot Simmering' Says Bunn

By DON VIPOND
Education Reporter

British Columbia has a "dam" economy with just enough funds for education to keep the pot simmering, Greater Victoria School Board chairman Peter Bunn said Thursday.

"That's a three-letter dam requiring no Petersonian beeps," he told students at the University of Victoria during a panel discussion on education organized by the B.C. Assembly of Students.

Premier Bennett's policy of devoting vast sums to power dams for hydro development is based on the theory cheap power brings industry.

But where will the trained people, the management come to man such industry? he asked.

Schools are now overcrowded and due to become even more so, he suggested in a reference to the provincial government's recent building freeze on all but essential classrooms.

Other panel members were Resources Minister Ray Williston, Professor George Brand from Uvic's education faculty and David Stupich, NDP MLA for Nanaimo and the Islands.

'Achievements Trail Objectives'

Education will always be a controversial subject with debate on what to teach and how it is to be financed, said former education minister Williston.

And achievement will always trail objectives, he said, because of time lags, changing plans and the impossibility of financing everything that's wanted.

The minister said he was not going to get into an argument over finances but there was only so much revenue and if education got more, some other area must suffer.

But hydro development was not taking "one red cent from education," he said.

Mr. Stupich disagreed.

The government, he said, made available at least $35 million to buy hydro securities last year.

More money is needed to finance education in B.C. so schools will produce people who can think.

"There's a lot to be learned about working with each other," said the Nanaimo member.

The province's education system is a good one, said Professor Brand, and is under constant analysis.

The central authority, the department of education, encourages experimentation when it is on a scientific basis and no teacher need feel inhibited with the "open-ended" curriculum.

Professor Brand said the system of government grants is as generous as in any part of Canada.

When a questioner noted B.C. was spending $1,165 per student in contrast to $2,370 in Alberta and $2,180 in Ontario, Mr. Williston said he "challenged" the figures.

He said he would like to see the calculations before commenting.

Organizers of the panel said they tried to get local MLAs and Education Minister Peterson to appear but all were busy elsewhere.

UN to Play Bigger Role As Cyprus Peace Restored

By CARL MOLLINS

NICOSIA (CP) — UN officials today welcomed the chance that the United Nations peacekeeping force could play a more active role in unwinding the hostility between Greeks and Turkish-Cypriots.

A proposal that the 4,500-strong UN force, including 900 Canadians, should take part in the demilitarization of Cyprus was contained in a peace package agreed to by Turkey and Greece.

UN peacekeeping has been under a cloud since the withdrawal of the UN Emergency Force from the Middle East before the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli war last June, and the failure of the Cyprus force to prevent the massacre of 25 Turkish-Cypriots Nov. 15 at Kophinou.

The Kophinou killings, which set off a threat by Turkey to invade Cyprus, heightened the feeling of frustration among the UN force because it lacked powers to separate combatants except by persuasion.

The UN force could get its first chance to use wider powers during the withdrawal within 45 days of illegal Greek and Turkish troops on the island—as reported in the latest peace agreement.

AGREEMENTS VIOLATED

Officials speculated that a widened role could begin if UN troops would be permitted to take over any fortified positions vacated as a result of the withdrawal of an estimated 8,000 to 12,000 Greek regular troops and about 1,200 Turkish soldiers in Cyprus in violation of the 1960 agreements that gave Cyprus its independence from Britain.

Officials foresee hard bargaining will be involved in any agreement for disarmament supervised by the UN force.

Disarming the Cypriot military and para-military forces built up since the 1963 civil war is closely linked with the island's politics.

Easy Passage Expected For Divorce Reform Bill

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP)—Little appears to stand in the way of the long-sought overhaul of Canada's divorce laws within a few months.

The government plans to introduce in the Commons next week a resolution that will precede a divorce reform bill to be introduced later.

Justice Minister Trudeau has assured the Commons it is the government's intention to get the bill approval in principle before Christmas.

As a government bill, it will automatically receive powerful support from Liberall MPs although a free vote has been promised. And there's no sign of serious objection from opposition members.

Both factors point to a fairly easy ride through the Commons for the bill, which will greatly broaden grounds of divorce. The basic ground now is adultery.

Informants say the reform bill will largely follow the June recommendations of the all-party Senate-Commons committee on divorce. New grounds will probably include desertion, wilful non-support, cruelty and evidence of marriage breakdown such as alcoholism.

DIVORCE MADE EASY

The act may also make other changes to make divorce easier in the first major overhaul of divorce legislation in a century. The overhaul has been promoted by a handful of MPs for a decade.

Once in the Commons, the bill may undergo some cross-fire on broadening the grounds. There is a group that prefers marriage breakdown as the prime ground for divorce, rather than the listing of specific grounds as the bill is expected to do.

If the bill wins speedy approval in Parliament, there appear to be no reasons to delay its proclamation as law promptly. The moment it becomes law, it is thought many thousands will be able to take advantage of it.

Hong Kong Border Tiff Ends

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong and China appear to have settled their five-month-old border dispute, but British sources were uncertain what the effect would be on the terror campaign within the crown colony.

One ranking official said the violence now might lessen, but he emphasized that the internal and border problems were "for the most part separate issues."

The Hong Kong government said it had agreed to compensate peasants in China for losses they suffered when the frontier was closed and other Chinese for damage done by British border troops to graves in the area. Chinese crossing into Hong Kong to farm their land were promised protection and permission to read the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung.

The colonial government dismissed a claim by Radio Peking that the British had met six demands for settling the dispute. The British said the Chinese "merely dressed up some discussions we had on the border."

On the local terrorist front, 49 persons have been killed and more than 1,000 wounded since May 11 in riots, labor strife, ambushes of police and troops and bombings.

Undue Hazard In Aircraft

LONDON (CP) — An official inquiry into the crash of a Canadair C-4 airliner last June with the loss of 72 lives heard Wednesday there was an "unnecessary hazard" to passengers in the plane's seat design.

The suggestion was immediately denied by Canadair through a lawyer who got permission to appear briefly at the hearing.

The plane carrying 79 passengers crashed near Manchester as it was heading there from a charter flight to Majorca. It was owned by British Midland Airways and under charter to Arrosmith Holidays.

Attorney-General Sir Elwyn Jones said at the hearing Wednesday that 35 of the passengers had died from burning and that many of them had leg injuries which an RCAF pathologist had identified as coming from a thin metal strenghtening bar on the seats.

He said the pathologist had described the bar as "the major factor resulting in the failure of passengers to escape from the crash, a major factor in the resulting multiple deaths from burning."

"He therefore suggests that strengthening bars in aircraft passengers seats are an unnecessary hazard that should be eliminated if it is possible in future design."

D.O.T. Will Build New Lighthouse

A new lightstation costing $124,110 is to be built on Sisters Island, just off Lesquiti Island in Georgia Strait, the department of transport marine division has announced.

The new lightstation replaces the existing facilities which are to be demolished during construction of the new station.

Contract was won by D. Robinson Construction (1952) Ltd. of Nanaimo.

The new tower will be 55 feet high, six feet wide flaring out to 13 feet at the top. Two 36-inch rotating lights will be installed inside a 10-foot glass lantern. The lights will be visible for 15 miles.

A four-bedroom home will be included in the installation and four lightkeepers will be employed working in pairs. They will be transported to the station by helicopter.

The lightstation will be equipped with a marine radio beacon, two 10-kilowatt diesel generators and two sets of foghorns.

IZVESTIA MAKES CHARGE

Is CBC Shielding Russ 'Criminal'?

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia says that the international service of the CBC is co-operating in the hiding of Illarion M. Kovalev, whom Russia alleges is a war criminal living in Montreal.

The newspaper said Radio Canada said in a broadcast that the Soviet Union erred when it said Kovalev lived at 5939 Third Avenue, Rosemount, a Montreal suburb.

The address was specified in a Soviet request that Kovalev be extradited to answer charges he committed atrocities in the Ukraine during the Second World War.

Izvestia said Soviet "investigative organs" have determined by monitoring mail to Kovalev's relatives in the province of Mogilev that he uses that return address.

Mogilev residents had reported they met Kovalev at the Soviet exhibition at Expo 67 last summer and he told them he was living in Montreal.

"In light of these facts the broadcast of Radio Canada cannot be interpreted other than as an attempt to cover up his traces."

The article was another in a series of Russian press attacks on Canada that followed demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa Nov. 7, the anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

Russia has lodged an official protest with Canada over the demonstrations. External Affairs Minister Martin rejected the protest in a Commons speech. But Canada has sent no official reply yet to Moscow.

The Soviet government requested Nov. 21 that Kovalev be turned over to Russian authorities for tria. They said Kovalev collaborated with the Germans in execution of Russian citizens.

After that request reporters interviewed a man living at the address given by the Russian. He said his name was Mario Klimko and that he had come to Canada 17 years ago, after living several years in Belgium as a displaced person. Klimko said he doubted Kovalev ever existed.

Times cartoonist Bob Bierman has been asked to submit 10 samples of his work to a special showing at Seattle by Pacific Northwest experts in the trade,

The showing at Charles and Emma Frye Art Museum Dec. 5 to Jan. 1 will include works of 17 cartoonists from Canada, Washington and Oregon.

Political, editorial, commercial, humorous and sports cartoons make up the show.

Indian School Gets $280 In Memory

A gift of $280 was presented Wednesday to Tsartlip Indian School at Brentwood in memory of Harry Gilbert, well-known fishing guide who died in June of this year.

Sister Mary Kenneth, principal, said the money would be used to buy audio-visual teaching equipment.

The money was raised after Mr. Gilbert's family asked that friends contribute to a fund for the school instead of buying flowers.

Symbolically, the money was handed over by Jamie Gilbert, 8, of 786 Saunders Land, grandson of Mr. Gilbert.

It was received on behalf of the school by John Cooper, 7496 West Saanich Road, a grandson of Chief Thunderbird (Baptiste Paul), famed wrestler.

Mr. Gilbert was a friend of Mr. Paul, who died in November, 1966.

BOGOTA (Reuters)—One child died and 39 persons were taken to hospital Wednesday following the second case of mass poisoning in Columbia in less than a week. A spokesman for the San Jose Hospital in Popayan, 300 miles southwest of here, said the patients, including 18 children, were taken to hospital there after eating contaminated beef.

'Why Secrecy On Report?'

Whose Reputations at Stake? Asks Esquimalt Candidate

Is the secrecy surrounding parts of the controversial Macdonell report to protect members of Esquimalt's police-fire department or council members?

This was the question posed by one council aspirant at an all-candidates meeting Thursday night.

"Legal action has been threatened if the unpublished parts of the Macdonell report are discussed," said Larry Cross.

"What are they trying to hide? Whose reputations are at stake — the members of the force or the members of council?"

"Council business is public business," he said in a strong plea for more openness in Esquimalt's business affairs.

The report, prepared about two years ago by a former senior RCMP officer, closely examined Esquimalt's joint police and fire department and recommended changes.

It had been held secret until sent anonymously to newspapers recently.

Following publication, Reeve Ray Bryant said legal action would be taken if sections of the report naming personalities were dealt with publicly.

Minutes Available to Public?

The reeve told the audience of about 350 at Esquimalt Junior High School Thursday night that it may be a good idea to make committee meeting minutes available except for discussions dealing with personalities or other matters which could lead to speculation.

The nine candidates participating seemed to agree on more points than they disagreed.

Mr. Bryant told the audience "two years ago I stood before you with no council experience. I want to thank you for electing me at that time.

"I now stand before you with the advantage of being the only candidate with experience as your reeve.

"The municipality is becoming involved more and more in matters which are becoming more and more complex and we need at the helm of this ship the most qualified person to steer us through these unknown waters."

Challenger Hits Closed Meetings

Challenger Art Mebs expressed little disagreement with specific actions of council in the last two years, but criticized the large number of closed meetings.

"I am convinced a great number of our internal problems could have been resolved by simple, frank discussions instead of in-camera meetings which created suspicion and misunderstanding."

The third candidate for the reeveship, George Argyle, listed several points for action, including a program of "productive activities" for the elderly, a day-nursery for children of working mothers, and 21st birthday identification cards to alleviate the problem of drinking youths.

He urged priority for industrial re-zoning.

"Until now residential areas have been our priority. Now we must turn elsewhere. With proper action our land could be filled with light industry, research laboratories, warehouses and apartments."

The six candidates for the three vacant council positions all spoke briefly.

Latecomer Ernest Brown called for a split in the fire-police force, suggesting reduced insurance rates would indirectly more than pay for it.

Incumbent Roy Elphick stood on his record as chairman of the zoning and planning committee.

"In only 18 months its achievements are significant, and I want the opportunity to carry on this work."

'It Is the Opinion of One Man'

Coun. Gerald Horne took exception to those who would use the press to air their protests.

"The Macdonell report was a job analysis. It is the opinion of one man. It was never intended to be the sole criterion for reform."

Dr. John Rogers made it plain "the only reason I'm up here is because I'm not satisfied with present administration."

He called for attention to "two unmentionables — fluoridation, which I support, and a separate police and fire force."

The sixth council candidate, Art Young, said he favored council policies.

He supported the present fire-police structure.

"I'm not satisfied a split department would significantly improve the service. The money could be better used elsewhere."

After the speeches, questioners attempted to spark debate on the fire-police force.

To those who would keep the present force, candidate Cross said "I've never made a claim against my fire insurance, but I'm not going to cancel the policy."

To those who say the "experts" have called for a split, Reeve Bryant argued: "In my books, you're the experts. When you say you want a separate police and fire department you'll get it. Until then, I'm satisfied we have adequate protection."

New Autopsy On Dead Girl

TORONTO (CP) — A second autopsy will be performed today on the body of Jane Milligan, 19, of Toronto, who died five months ago.

The body was exhumed on the authority of the attorney-general.

Mrs. Milligan was found June 11 in the bathtub of her apartment with a plugged in radio in the tub. Her husband, Terrance, 22, has been committed for trial for capital murder of his wife.

The original autopsy found death was caused by asphyxiation due to drowning.

They'll Get to the Bottom of It in Court

PARIS (Reuters) — A 20-year-old French model is trying to recover a 10-square inch piece of her bottom which she claims is worth a lot more than 10,000 francs ($2,040).

The model, Caludine Perot, said today moviemakers Jean Louis Van Del and Rene Marjac sold the skin off her left buttock, tattooed with a rose and an Eiffel Tower, to a collector.

Mini-skirted Miss Perot is suing the two men and their company, Ulysse-Productions, for a total 200,000 francs ($40,800) damages, alleging she was disfigured.

She said she was tattooed in 1964 as part of her role in the movie Secret Pris and the skin was later removed by a plastic surgeon as part of her contract.

"But I was 17 at the time and the contract is therefore void," she said. "I since heard the tattoo had been sold to a collector for 10,000 francs. But after all it's mine."

The case is expected to come up before a French court in about two months, when Miss Perot presumably would have to show court officials the extent of her loss.

Calcutta Snarled

CALCUTTA (AP) — Public transportation in India's major industrial city was crippled Thursday by a general strike called by leftists disputing political control of West Benal state with the central government in New Delhi.

FREIGHT GAINS

Japanese ships and planes operating overseas carried 69,000 passengers and 152,000,000 tons of freight in the fiscal year 1966 which ended last March, a freight gain of 18.8 per cent over the previous year.

CHARRINGTON TOBY BEER...
NOTED FOR ITS BRITISH GOOD TASTE

The British are noted for good taste. And so is British beer. Does this mean that Charrington Toby has MORE good taste than Canadian brews? No. It simply means that British brewers like Charrington omit a great deal of the fizz inherent in Canadian beer. And when interfering fizz is removed, you get full flavour. THIS is how Charrington Toby achieves good taste: less gas... fuller flavour. Have a Toby!

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The opening pre-emptive bid is designed to stir things up at the table. Sometimes it kicks right back at the man who bids it, but frequently it pays delightful dividends.

Opening lead—♦8

South could have passed over the three diamond opening, but South was not going to be shut out and we can't blame him. He didn't need to find much in the North hand to have a good shot at three spades or even more, and you can't sit around and wait for sure things.

West had his sure thing. He doubled and opened the eight of diamonds. South took the trick and tried to sneak in his singleton heart, but West went right up with the ace and led another diamond. East was in and played his five of clubs. West took two club tricks and led a third club for his partner to ruff.

East continued with the slaughter by leading a third diamond. South stuck in the ten of trumps, but West was ready with the jack. A fourth club was led and East was able to overruff dummy. Then East led another diamond, and it didn't matter whether South ruffed high or low. If he ruffed low, West would make his nine of trumps immediately. If he ruffed high, West would discard and make two trump tricks eventually.

At this point South came up with a classic remark. He said, "My bidding wasn't that bad. I could have saved two tricks in the play and been set only 800."

Do you see how? There were two ways. One would have been to lead the king of spades at trick two. The other would have been to discard his king of clubs when the third diamond was led, instead of ruffing with the ten as he actually did.

In any event, we prefer to credit East with a successful pre-empt and to sympathize with North and South.

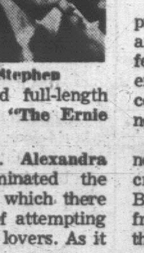
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

We've been waiting for Caroline ever since the National Film Board and the CBC announced they were going to co-produce some full-length features. We even told all and sundry the dates when writer-director Ron Kelly took his cast and crew to Vancouver for filming.



Stephen

The hour of truth arrived at 9:30 p.m., Wednesday and, frankly, she wasn't worth waiting for. And no thoughts of the generous exposure of bare buff will change the mind. (In several scenes of the film, Caroline and Marc were shown in the nude with their backs to the camera.)

"Waiting for Caroline" was the second full-length feature shown on Festival. The first was "The Ernie Game," a more superior product.

It wasn't the fault of the players. Alexandra Stewart, as Caroline, completely dominated the screenplay with the force of emotions, of which there were many. She was torn in the conflict of attempting to choose between two different worlds and lovers. As it turned out, she lost both.

In supporting roles, Francois Tasse, as Marc, and Robert Howay, as Peter, were strong enough not to be submerged by the magnificent Miss Stewart.

It was the story which bore tedium. At one stage of production, Kelly said "unless one stimulates an audience to be aroused rather than to be more soporific, it's a waste of time. I think people should come away with their complacencies somewhat jarred."

But that's not the point. Both were films professionally produced. At long last, these young men are proving that Canada can produce full-length film features. They, and others like them, should be encouraged to continue the line of endeavor in this country rather than to be lured elsewhere. Canada is now old enough to support a full-fledged film industry.

It was also good to see Bob Howay perform so notably. He once worked for CHEK-TV but always craved for acting. For the past while, he has been in Britain gaining experience on stage and TV. He came from a repertory company in Perth, Scotland, to play the role of Peter. Bob's future looks bright and we'll continually watch for the credit lines bearing his name.

The "more-for-your-money car."

If somebody ever tells you he drives an economy import with 96 h.p. engine that goes 100 m.p.h. has a safer, impact absorbing body, the safest suspension money can buy, a wraparound air-flow system that keeps windows clear, that it looks great, handles like a dream, and that he bought it from us for only $2025, believe him. It's the DATSUN 1600, the "more for your money car" at

Bed Shortage Has Cost Lives

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver surgeon said Wednesday many people have died because of a hospital bed shortage caused by government ineptitude and misuse of facilities.

Dr. Magnus Verbrugge, speaking at a meeting sponsored by the Vancouver South Federal Conservative Association, said the problem of a sick person obtaining a hospital bed has become so acute that a patient may have to wait weeks or months before being treated.

"I am convinced that many lives have been lost," he said. "The provincial government has allowed this dreadful situation to develop."

"At least 25 per cent of all acute care beds in the Vancouver area are occupied by patients who could be well cared for in less expensive facilities," said Dr. Verbrugge. "They are occupied by people who could be well looked after in convalescent homes or chronic care hospitals which cost far less to build and maintain.

"Until we build more suitable and cheaper accommodation for about 1,700 patients it's an utter waste of money to build new acute care facilities at a cost of $30,000 a bed."

OFFSHORE STATEMENT NEXT WEEK

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Thursday he will tell the Commons next week whether the government will seek any further Supreme Court opinions on jurisdiction over offshore mineral deposits.

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) asked in the Commons whether further opinions would be sought from the court regarding offshore deposits claimed by other provinces.

Mr. Pearson said he would reply "early next week."

CALVERT OF CANADA LTD. MONTREAL • TORONTO • VANCOUVER

Now Calvert is drying up the gin business.

As far as Calvert is concerned, nobody has ever made a gin dry enough for Canadian tastes.

Until now.

Our new gin is more than very dry. It's very very dry. And we're not keeping it a secret as to how we did it.

First, we went to Borneo for the tart, unripened Cubeb berry. Then we went to the parched Mediterranean for pods of St. John's bread.

These are the ingredients that make our gin so dry. And as far as we know, nobody else has ever used them before.

So try our new gin.

Not only is it very very dry, it's also very very good.

COWICHAN EXPERIMENT AIMS TO STRENGTHEN FAMILIES

'We Want Indians to Help Us Help Them'

BY DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN—If your house was surrounded by mud and you had no hot running water how clean would your children be?

Native Indians are still a deprived people in many respects—the reserves often lack water, sewage and road services.

And the individual Indian faces considerable discrimination.

●

The Cowichan Indians have been in foment for the past two years about their poor housing conditions.

In early fall a group of Cowichan Indian mothers marched on the Legislative Buildings to demand equal social welfare rights with the non-Indian.

A direct outcome was the initiation of a three-month experiment putting a social worker on the Cowichan reserve to study conditions.

Herkewel Singh got the job.

●

District supervisor of social welfare Peter Clugston reported Thursday the response has been "very encouraging."

"Herkewel has really been able to get involved as far as is possible in the short time available.

"He has been more acceptable to the individual Indian because the experiment has the blessing of the band council."

Mr. Clugston thinks the project is getting somewhere but was guarded in predicting success.

The three months are not yet up and he thinks the time already spent has only been sufficient to have a superficial look at the problems and consider some of the basic resources which may be needed.

●

Mr. Singh has decided priorities must be providing a form of home-maker service and short-term care for children whose parents are not looking after them at the moment for one reason or another.

Indian parents must be helped to do a more effective job of managing the home.

Mr. Clugston mentioned such fundamentals as buying groceries and preparing schoolchildren's lunches.

"Our project worker has gone on the reserve with a focus on helping families so that we do not need to become involved in removing children from their own homes.

"He has been seeking to strengthen family life on the reserve although we recognize little can be done in three months."

●

Mr. Clugston said many Indian women do not realize washing clothes saves on wear and tear as well as cleaning them; they don't know how to keep baby bottles clean.

"We will study the possible use of a home-maker as a friendly teacher.

"A woman who can help Indian mothers develop the basic skills of housekeeping."

Mr. Clugston said his intention is not to be critical but helpful. It is difficult for a majority of Indians on the reserve to cope with the conditions.

●

He said Mr. Singh's investigations would result in a couple of direct help projects in 1968—but he could not reveal details at present.

"The social need is tremendous and it's a really big job. There are some basic physical and social problems which will require a lot of energetic work to overcome.

"We are operating on the conviction the Indians will undertake to help us help them."

Joint negotiations are being carried out between the child welfare division of the social welfare department and the Indian affairs branch at various levels.

These are with regard to financing of resources and projects which may be put into effect on the reserves.

It's a hot political potato which Mr. Clugston would not comment on but many people think the provincial government could handle social welfare for Indians as well as non-Indians.

●

Meanwhile, child welfare is the main focus of the work of Mr. Singh.

Mr. Clugston says: "Our aim is to strengthen the families. We're trying to make child welfare obsolete.

"Or to show parents the best child welfare is in its own home."

N. SAANICH, SIDNEY

All Candidates Speak Monday

Election fever is spreading on the north end of the Saanich Peninsula where a total of 22 candidates is seeking election on Central Saanich, North Saanich and Sidney councils.

Elections are on Dec. 9.

All candidate meetings will be hed Monday in North Saanich and Sidney.

The Sidney meeting will be held in the Sidney Hotel and the North Saanich one in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Mills Road. Both start at 8 p.m.

Central Saanich will hold a public meeting Tuesday at the Brentwood Women's Institute Hall Tuesday.

Seldom has there been so much interest in elections, particularly in North Saanich and Sidney where the reeveship and mayoralty are being hotly contested.

TWO-WAY CENTRAL

In North Saanich it's a two-way fight between incumbent James B. Cumming, who is standing for a second two-year term, and Dr. Arthur B. Nash, who served as pro-tem reeve when the district was incorporated three years ago.

In Sidney, three are seeking the mayor's chair: Mayor A. W. Freeman, A. W. Sharp, former village clerk, and Dudley Johnson, a second-hand dealer.

In North Saanich where the status quo on council was not expected to be seriously challenged this year, the situation suddenly changed with the entry of a newcomer in municipal politics.

He is William (Ted) E. Clayards, 43, of 1217 Mount Newton Cross Road, who will shortly be retiring from the Royal Canadian Navy.

All other candidates are familiar to voters—incumbent councillors Harold Andrew, Charles Mollard, Philip Benn and Percy P. Lazarz, an unsuccessful candidate in several previous elections.

HANGOVER

There are no clear-cut issues at stake in the three municipalities but the lively interest generated in the elections in North Saanich and Sidney stems mainly from the November vote on amalgamating the two incorporated areas.

While the issue is dead (property owners rejected union) emotions over the controversial issue still run high, especially in North Saanich.

A proposed $1,500,000 sewage scheme is expected to be discussed in the Central Saanich elections, but regardless of the stand of the candidates on the issue, voters will have the last say on this question.

When details of the scheme have been completed early next year, a sewage bylaw referendum will be submitted to ratepayers.

MAN JAILED FOR HAVING LIQUOR STILL

LADYSMITH — Prices have inflated five times in two years for Jasper Sharanowski, 47, of Cassidy.

In 1965 he was fined $100 for possessing a still for manufacturing spirits without a licence.

A similar charge to which he pleaded guilty Thursday cost him a $500 fine.

It also sent him to jail for six months, and if he can't pay the fine Sharanowski will serve an additional six months.

his home was raided by Ladysmith RCMP Wednesday when they found an home-made liquor still.

Workout on Woodpile Suggested to Driver

NANAIMO (CP)—Magistrate Eric Winch suggested to a driver Wednesday that he find an emotional outlet after he was found guilty of dangerous driving.

He sped one mile through Nanaimo, running a red light and then stabbing himself.

Mark Unrau, 20, was told to "use an axe the next time, not knife—on a woodpile."

Unrau was fined $250 following the testimony of two RCMP constables.

The police officers said Unrau drove through a 20-mile-an-hour zone at between 40 and 45 miles an hour, spun his car around three times and then circled a car and went through a red light.

Unrau said he plunged the knife into his chest after going through the red light.

He was also placed under $250 bond and two years' probation.

BIDS CALLED DEC. 15 ON ROAD JOB

PORT ALBERNI — Tenders for the Johnson Road reconstruction scheme will be called Dec. 15.

Estimated cost of the project is $1,000,000.

Ratepayers two years ago approved the road construction scheme, but its start was put off until now by the highways department.

Included in the project is the reconstruction of the highway entrance to the old city of Alberni.

Testimonial For Maffeo

NANAIMO—Mayor Pete Maffeo will receive a testimonial dinner from the Nanaimo Junior Chamber of Commerce on Thursday.

Mr. Maffeo has been mayor of the city for 11 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lockstone Mumford, of Toronto, announce the forthcoming marriage of their younger daughter, Sheila, to Mr. James Arthur Goff, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Goff, 2198 Kendall Avenue, Victoria. The wedding will take place on Saturday, December 23, at St. James Bond United Church in Toronto. A reception will follow in the faculty club of the University of Toronto. (Miss Mumford's photo by LeRoy Toll, Toronto. Her fiance's is by G. M. Y. Simpson.)

Molnar-Bell Wedding Vows Heard In St. Luke's Anglican Church

Carol Evelyn Bell wore a floor-length gown of mate elysee, styled on empire lines with small crystal droplets encircling the elbow-tipping sleeves, when she became the bride of Phillip Alexander Molnar in St. Luke's Church. The gown was complemented by a full court train that swept back from the shoulders. Her headpiece was a small norganza floral, studded with seed pearls, which held a scalloped edged veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses centred with a single camelia. For "something old" she carried an heirloom lace handkerchief, loaned to her by the groom's grandmother.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff heard the vows uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell, 1736 Foul Bay Road, with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Molnar, 800 Lily Avenue. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The church was decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums in fall colors. Mrs. K. M. King was organist.

Miss Linda Moretti was maid of honor. Misses Joan Barber and Donna King were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was the bride's younger sister, Miss Marilyn Bell. They all wore matching floor-length dresses of emerald peau d'elegance styled on empire lines and toning headpieces of the same material. Their bouquets were formed of bronze chrysanthemums.

Edward Cameron was best man. The bride's eldest brother, William Bell, and the groom's brothers, Charles and Peter Molnar, ushered guests.

After the ceremony there was a reception in the Sir William Wallace Room of Holyrood House. A three-tier cake, decorated with yellow rosebuds, and made by the groom's mother, centered the head table. Arrangements of yellow roses were also on the bride's table. The buffet table was decorated with displays of fall colored chrysanthemums.

Charles Darkis, Qualicum Beach, proposed the toast to the bride.

Visiting Victoria for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bell, Penticton; Edwin Bell, the bride's youngest brother, from California, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lawson of Powell River.

For travelling the bride chose a blue and green double-breasted wool tweed suit with a blue vest, black velvet hat and black accessories.

After a honeymoon spent in Portland, Penticton and Vancouver, the couple will return here to live in the Garden Park Courts.

White House Wedding Will Cost the President Plenty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The New York designer, Geoffrey Beene, is making Lynda Bird Johnson's wedding gown and it will cost President Johnson a pretty penny.

The gown, with a price tag in four figures, will be made of heavy faille silk with a beaded high neck and long sleeves, and a long train fit for a White House bride.

Beene, 40, is a native of Haynesville, La. He studied design in Paris. It already has been revealed by the White House that he is doing the Goya red velvet bridesmaids' gowns.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, who wore yellow for her daughter Luci's wedding, is reported thinking of a pink or green frock to wear at Lynda's marriage. Designers Adele Simpson and Mollie Parnis, her two standbys, are doing her wardrobe for the wedding and the final pre-nuptial parties.

Lynda has been in a dilemma in choosing her hairstylist for her big day. Her Texas friends were hoping she would give the nod to Larry Steinman of Austin, who to their minds is tops in the southwest in the coiffure department.

"Larry" is the favorite of all of the females in the first family when they are in Texas and at one time or another he has had all but one of the bridesmaids as customers. Luci, an Austinite, and the Johnson family friends go to him for their fanciest hairdos.

In Washington, Lynda has been turning to coiffurist Evind, going to his salon most of the time, although he also has visited the White House for special events.

Alencon Lace Enhances Taffeta Bridal Ensemble

Janis Marsha Lee carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations and gold chrysanthemums when she became the bride of Fergus Gary Heywood in First United Church. The bride's gown was a nylon taffeta sheath with empire waist and matching coat. Alencon lace panels trimmed the dress and train. An heirloom locket belonging to the matron of honor was her "something old" talisman.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris heard the vows uniting Miss Lee with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus T. Heywood, 1575 McRae Avenue. Sidney Ash gave the bride in marriage.

Mrs. Ursula Bunt was organist for the ceremony. The church was decorated by white and gold chrysanthemums and red carnations.

Mrs. Wayne McArthur was matron of honor in a gold satin A-line dress. She carried a cascade of red carnations and gold chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids Misses Judy Soper and Linda Peebles wore identical A-line dresses in red brocade. They carried cascades of red carnations and gold chrysanthemums.

Misses Judy Ash and Kelly McArthur were flower girls, wearing red and white A-line dresses. They carried colonial bouquets of red carnations and gold chrysanthemums.

Little Victor McArthur was ring-bearer.

Best man was Steven Henry. Keith Donaldson and Kerry Heywood ushered guests.

The reception was held at the Club Tango, which was decorated with flower arrangements in red and gold, accented with gold-flecked candles. A four-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by the groom's mother, centred the head table.

The toast to the bride's happiness was proposed by Hans Siegrist.

Travelling to Victoria for the ceremony were Alex Nichol and Jack Lenman of Vancouver and Fred Milburn and Miss Lorraine Milburn of Sicamous, B.C.

For travelling the bride chose a white woollen suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After the honeymoon in Vancouver, the couple will return to live in Victoria.

Boxes of Rare Teas Are Tasteful Gifts

By Penny Saver

Friends from the United States visited us this summer and have since written to tell us how much they enjoyed their visit. They were impressed by the trees and well-kept gardens within the city and the closeness of such natural beauties as Goldstream and John Dean Park to the city centre. They praised the friendliness of the people they met during their camping trips up-Island and into the interior, but most of all they praised the tea that they had tasted while visiting our city.

Since they had asked me for the secret of good tea-making, which I was unable to give, I decided to consult a tea-expert. He showed me a box of assorted deluxe teas, complete with a booklet explaining how good tea should be made, what the various terms applied to tea mean, and how they may order their own favorite tea from Victoria. This struck me as the perfect Christmas gift and I bought sets not only for my American friends but also for friends in town and myself. The experiment is very worthwhile. An attractive box of eight assorted teas costs $2.75. A set of 12 is priced at $3.95.

This shop also sells canisters for tea. There is a variety of shapes, sizes and patterns to choose from beginning at 85 cents. The canister can be filled with any tea you choose (the tea costs extra, of course), and would make a lovely gift. Incidentally, the gift box teas are loose, but the shop also sells two-cup bags of tea in many of the blends. Small canisters filled with bags of English-style breakfast tea cost 75 cents and 85 cents.

While coffee is not their specialty, this shop also sells many fine coffees. These can be ground to any size you desire. My favorite is a rich mocha coffee which costs $1.08 a pound. Made from Arabian coffee beans, it has a richer, heavier flavor than most, and I find that I can cut out my two spoons-full of sugar, or even drink it black.

Dutch cocoa is another slightly different beverage that this shop has in stock. It is richer in cocoa fat and has more of the natural cocoa flavor. It comes in powder form, unsweetened, either with or without vanilla added. I saw a can of this cocoa with vanilla added for 65 cents.

If you would like to know where this shop may be found, please call me at 382-3131.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

December keeps us hopping with the anticipation of many exciting activities. Take time out to clip these helpful hints into your Beauty Binder and you will be all set to exude confidence "under the mistletoe."

Festively fragrant: If you can't open your gift bottle of perfume, hold the cap under hot water for a few seconds, then tap sharply with the back of a knife or scissors.

Smart spot: Add a provocative beauty spot (how about a tiny heart?) high on your cheekbone beneath the far corner of your eye or on your chin near the bottom corner of your lip. Use a dark sharply pointed eyebrow pencil or your tiny eyeliner brush.

For the smile that dazzles: Give yourself a real treat and buy some specially formulated pink toothpaste. It will beautify your gums and make your teeth look all the whiter.

Tippity-tip! For a pert young look, apply a bit of dark makeup base underneath the tip of your nose, adding a tiny dab of extra light creamy base to the upper tippity-tip.

Brow briefing: Don't start tweezing your brows unless you intend to make this a regular part of your beauty routine. Use a magnifying mirror, a good light, plus an effective tweezer. Test before purchasing to be sure that the ends come together perfectly. I find the scissor type tweezer simplest to control. Never attempt to 'dig out' hairs that are still below the surface and always pull in the direction that the hair grows. Eliminate broken hairs by using a hot compress before tweezing, an astringent or witch hazel after tweezing.

High brows: To create a lovely arch and fill the sparse spaces, use a No. 2 lead pencil, feathering your strokes to resemble hairs. The greyish pencil blends softly with dark brows. For light brows, use a gold pencil. Many makeup experts use two shades, smudging both together slightly with their fingers.

Best kept brows: Lather brows generously (while washing your face) with soap and water, then rinse thoroughly—just as you do your hair after shampooing. Keep them well-groomed by massaging nightly with a bit of castor oil or petroleum jelly. Use a clean eyebrow brush and brush backward, then upward. Finish by smoothing carefully in the shape you desire.

Lovelier lashes: If you use neither mascara nor pomade, give your lashes a stimulating brushing daily with a heavy brow brush. Rub a speck of petroleum jelly or castor oil on the bristles to make lashes appear lustrous and curly.

Lash clash: Do you loathe having cotton cling to your lashes when removing mascara? Substitute compressed cotton squares, gauze squares or tissues. Incidentally, baby oil is gently effective for removing mascara or false lash glue. Always follow by rinsing eyelids carefully.

Deep sleep: For a restful night of refreshing beauty sleep, add a liberal spoonful of molasses or honey or both to a cup of hot milk before bedtime.

DEAR ABBY . . .

These Flowers Win No Prize

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every Thanksgiving my husband's boss who lives out of the province sends us a huge bouquet of roses. The box they come in bears the name of a local florist, and their truck delivers them, so it's not as though these flowers have been shipped any great distance. Well, I have never seen sorrier flowers in all my life! It is getting to be an annual joke around here. They aren't even worth putting into a vase. I just open the box, and carry it right out to the trash.

Then I sit down and write a "thank you" note for the "beautiful" flowers. I told my husband this year I think we should tell his boss what kind of flowers he has been paying for. My husband says we should be quiet. What do you say?

MRS. M. J. L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I say a rose by any other name would smell. And so would the deal you've been getting from your florist. By all means let the sender know the kind of flowers you have been receiving. He would appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a problem I can't discuss with anyone. Teddy, our 12-year-old son wants to take ballet! He is slim, graceful, a very beautiful boy and not very masculine.

He's been taking ballroom and tap since he was nine, but I never dreamed he'd become interested in ballet. His father will die. He's a rugged sportsman and has a five handicap in golf. Teddy has always been a rather delicate child and never cared much for sports so I thought dancing would be a good exercise for him.

I am worried because you don't see many real he-men in ballet, and I do so want our Teddy to be a real he-man, marry some nice girl and have children. I would so love to have a little granddaughter. Teddy is our only child and I was so disapppointed when he was not a girl, I wept for a week.

Should I discourage his taking ballet, or do you think it's too late?

TEDDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: First you ought to find a psychiatrist with two couches. One for you and one for Teddy. The doctor can tell you if it's "too late," and if so why. Environment plays a very important role in shaping a child's destiny. Many a mother's "dream" of having a "little girl" has created a nightmare for the unlucky boy she bore instead.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when young married couples want to go some place, they just shove their kids off on their parents? They never seem to care if we have plans of our own. We wouldn't mind in case of emergency, but usually it's just to get rid of their kids for a while.

Abby, we love our grandchildren, but we are getting up in years now and can't run after them all the time. And the noise of their fighting gets on our nerves.

Our parents told us, "We raised ours, now you raise yours." Why do the children of today take advantage of their parents?

"NEVER SAY NO GRANNY"

DEAR GRANNY: If you never say no, maybe they don't know they're imposing. Some parents still say, "We raised ours, now you raise yours." So why don't you? It's just that simple. No one can take advantage of you without your cooperation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARK: Money isn't everything. Sometimes it's not even enough.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Unhealthy to Borrow Cosmetics from Others

Q. Someone told me that you should never use anybody else's mascara or let anybody else use yours because you might get an infection. Is this true?

Lowman

A. Yes. One epidemic of serious eye infection was traced to the habit school girls had of borrowing eye-liner pencils. Generally speaking, it is a bad idea to borrow any cosmetics. For instance, acne can be spread in this way.

Q. What is the difference between skin fresheners and astringents?

A. Fresheners are made of water, glycerine and alcohol. These are, as they sound, refreshing. Astringents have a higher content of alcohol and often contain other ingredients such as alum, camphor, and boric acid.

The alcohol in astringents may be too drying for a very dry skin and is recommended for an oily complexion.

Q. Which is best for health, white grapefruit or pink grapefruit?

A. They are equally rich in vitamin C. However pink grapefruit has considerably more vitamin A than the white variety.

Q. My husband drinks large amounts of milk, at least a quart a day. I worry about this. I wonder if all that calcium in the milk may be deposited in his joints and cause him to have arthritis.

A. You need not worry. Calcium is very important for the older person. It is thought that lack of sufficient calcium may be one factor in developing the fragility of the bones which often occurs in later years. Two 8-ounce glasses a day are recommended.

Q. I have an unattractive birthmark on my face. It is actually purple. Is there any cosmetic that will hide it.?

A. Yes. If you would like to know the names of some, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. The little blood vessels in my nose show. Is there anything I can do about it?

A. Leave off alcohol, highly seasoned foods, and food hot in temperature. These defects can be hidden with makeup and can be removed by a dermatologist. However, this is temporary and must be repeated periodically.

Bare Meals Help

A housewife from Lively, Ont., wrote to the Unitarian Service Committee at 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, that her family have one meat-less, dessert-less dinner each week. "The amount we save from this painless but relevant denial goes to help in a small way your efforts for others."

Underwear Moves To the Outside

NEW YORK (AP) — Girls: Throw away those old qualms about being seen in your underwear. Next spring and summer it may be the ultra-chic outdoors thing to do.

Outerwear underwear has definitely arrived, says a new line of airy lingerie shown by Formfit-Rogers and featuring splashy, color-swirling latest by Emilio Pucci.

As sportswear and cocktail dress designers wow the fashion world with little semi-sheer things for home and office which they say must be worn without bras, the bra makers are getting ready to strike back.

"It comes from the ease and comfort and freedom that's part of the decade we're living in," says young Ann Fulton, a trim brunette fashion commentator for the Formfit showings.

"Girls are not bothering with more than the bare essentials."

Very striking were two-piece lemon yellow pyjamas—flouncy upper, wide-bottom pants and bare midriff—and Pucci's willowy sleeveless "robe" of nylon tricot that ends just below the hips.

The robe was described as "something to answer the doorbell in" but it's clear this sexy number may be ringing doorbells itself at informal pool parties soon after the Pucci lines go on the racks in March.

Formfit is tempting those who like to travel light on weekends with a matching group of shift, bra and bikini shorts in green with white polkadots that comes with a drawstring tote bag.

A girl could start out with the shift over the bra and shorts, put the shift in the tote bag on arrival and go sunning or even swimming. It's still lingerie, Miss Fulton insists, and will be sold in the intimate apparel section, not in beachwear.

Signs for 60 More

Nature's Show 'Best Seller';

By FREEMAN KING

More than 20,000 people have attended one of Victoria's best free nature shows in recent weeks—the salmon run at Goldstream.

Gathered at the river have been cars from this area and up-Island, California, Washington, Oregon, and one from New York, as well as the visitors from other provinces of Canada.

Parties from schools, Scouts and Guides and many local clubs interested in nature have appeared.

Some are disappointed because the salmon do not plunge upstream in the numbers observed in some sections of the Fraser River spawning grounds. Some are angered by the gulls diving for eggs or feasting on dead salmon in the shallows, or the water ousils which swim with their wings underwater seeking the fresh-laid roe.

The spearing of salmon by native Indians under federal pedmit which limits their take to the size of their family is another part of the show.

There has been ample water for the spawning salmon and it is estimated 450 Coho and 5,000 Chums or Dog salmon have come in this year.

Federal fisheries authorities and provincial parks officials have been encouraged by the lack of interference with the salmon by the watchers.

With continued co-operation and a higher flow of water anticipated in two years when the Sooke Lake tunnel is completed by Greater Victoria Water Board, officials are hopeful the number of spawning salmon will increase.

And the annual run will continue as a major attraction for local people and visitors.

Sponsors Love Those Long Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television programming, which has been wedded to fixed formulas for 15 years, is undergoing a small-scale revolution because of the popularity of feature films this season.

That is the outlook as seen from the vantage point of Herbert S. Schlosser, who as West Coast program vice-president for NBC is one of the handful of men who decide what will appear on the home screen.

From the days of 12-inch screens, the half-hour program, particularly the situation comedy, has been a staple of television. This season the half-hours, particularly the new ones, have been hurting because of the competition of six nights of feature films on the networks.

"There will still be room for the half-hour show," observed Schlosser, "but the trend is toward fewer of them."

"The audience seems to be going more and more for the longer form. This means a continuation of the trend to movies, not only on regular nights but also as specials interrupting the regular programming, as was done with Hard Day's Night and River Kwai.

"There will probably be more hour shows and 90-minute shows as well."

"Why have feature films proved so popular this season?

"Because the audience has been getting a general run of bigger pictures," Schlosser said. "Many of them are only two years old, and that adds to the appeal.

"Also I believe the features are popular because the country is becoming more urban all the time. This means a more sophisticated audience that is receptive to feature film entertainment. You get a better audience profile for features; more people of higher income and upper middle-class watch them than most other programs.

That helps make features attractive to sponsors."

More Counterfeits Expected in City

City police say a new series of counterfeit $10 bills may turn up in Victoria soon.

The bills bear the serial number R over E 8621081.

Detectives report the bills have been passed in eastern Canada.

LACK OF QUORUM

Foreign Aid Committee Talks Halted

OTTAWA (CP) — Committee discussion on Canada's external aid program was postponed indefinitely Thursday when the Commons external affairs committee failed to raise a quorum.

After waiting half an hour, four Conservative members, led by Gordon Churchill, Winnipeg South Centre, stalked from the committee room.

"I think if the Liberals were here we'd be all right," Mr. Churchill said. Only 10 of the 24 committee members were present. Thirteen members form a quorum.

Chairman Jean-Eudes Dube, L-Restigouche-Madawaska, said the external aid discussion now may have to be put over until after Christmas since the committee next week is scheduled to turn to the Rhodesian problem.

The discussion started Nov. 2 when the committee heard charges on Canada's aid to Vietnam from Dr. Michael C. Hall, an orthopedic surgeon and medical teacher who spent three years in Vietnam.

The chairman blamed the lack of a quorum on the number of committee meetings scheduled. Four others were meeting at the same time.

Foreign students enrolled at Oslo University in the 1966 fall semester included 89 women and 100 men from 28 countries — 50 were Americans.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Sam Nash, age 11, of Clarkston, Georgia, for his question:

What is the greenhouse effect?

Provided plants have soil containing moisture and the proper chemical nutrients, they thrive their very best in an atmosphere rich in carbon dioxide. A hothouse condition is created by the carbon dioxide, like the one we provide artificially in a greenhouse. Inside such a glass enclosed home, almost all plants grow faster and greener, and tropical blossoms may bloom comfortably through the chilly winter season. The so-called greenhouse effect of carbon dioxide contributes some but not necessarily all of the factors required in foliage-filled greenhouse. However, the basic principle of the operation is the same.

Glass allows light, the visible light we see, to pass right through it. But solar readiation is a blend of many other forms of energy above and below the wave lengths of the rainbow spectrum of visible light. One is infrared, with wavelengths slightly longer than the red rays blended into white light. Glass absorbs this infrared solar radiation in large quantities. And invisible infrared is the solar energy that the solid and liquid surfaces of the earth turn to heat. As the glass walls of a greenhouse transmit visible light and absorb infrared heat so created to warm up the temperature inside.

Whenever an atmosphere rich in carbon dioxide is exposed to multiple energies of solar radiation, the effect is somewhat similar to a greenhouse. The carbon dioxide acts to hold the infrared radiation, and heat is produced in the environment. But unless suitable soil and plenty of moisture are present, this greenhouse effect cannot support thriving plant life.

Dry Wasteland

Space probing surveys indicate that the basic greenhouse effect exists on the planet Venus. It is almost 30 million miles closer to the sun then we are; and hence exposed to far more solar radiation. Its surface is shrouded in a dense atmosphere with an immensely higher proportion of carbon dioxide. This gas absorbs vast quantities of infrared creating a hot greenhouse effect. Probing spacecraft report that beneath its thick cloudy atmosphere, the surface of Venus may be as hot as 800 degrees F.

But there is no thriving plant life to enjoy the super greenhouse effect on Venus. The surface, it seems is a dry and scorching wasteland. Plants need to dig their roots into moist, wet soil. There is moisture in the vaporous clouds above Venus but if it ever falls as rain, the scorching ground would sizzle it to steam.

YOUR HEALTH

Pains Not Always Heart Trouble Sign

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

There are many people — often young women — who have a pain in their chest which, for a while, suggests serious heart disease. When careful examination shows no sign of such disease, and when the woman does not get short of breath on walking rapidly along a street, it does not look as if she had much cause for worry.

Alvarez

I have seen quite a few of these young women who had pain resembling that of angina pectoris which starts in the heart region and then goes down the left arm. But it did not come with exercise, and that was much against an origin in the heart. These women often had a beginning hypertension (increase in blood pressure) and sometimes their mother had the same type of pain.

I was just reading a paper by Dr. H. M. Horack of the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans, who told of a number of people — usually between the ages of 30 and 60 years — whose chest pain he thought was due to what is called the cervical root syndrome. Cervical means the neck, root refers to a nerve coming out of the spine, and syndrome is a group of symptoms. In these cases, the physician can feel some muscle spasm at the base of the neck. Traction applied to the neck may then give relief.

There are other chest pains which can be due to an arthritis in the joints between the ribs and the spine. Also, there can be chest pains in the front, due to a sort of arthritis between the end of the ribs and the cartilage (gristle) which fastens the front end of the ribs to the breast bone.

A pain in the chest which is due to an inflammation of the pleura, or the inner lining of the chest wall, or the outer lining of the lungs, usually comes with a cough, or with a deep breath. Pain in the chest that is associated with swallowing or belching or regurgitation of food can be due to trouble in the gullet or in the hiatus — hole in the midriff through which the gullet goes down to the stomach.

Sometimes a troublesome pain is in the chest-wall and due to a mild fibrositis in a rib. Or pain occurs in elderly people who have had an attack of shingles. The blisters healed up, but the pain remained for a year or more. The only treatment that I know of is to take some pain-reliever such as aspirin.

AROUND OUR SHORES

After the Big Game, They'll Pour . . . Concrete!

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

Among other things, Grey Cup Day could be called Canada's "Great Climax-and-Anti-Climax Day."

The players find theirs on the field. The fans find theirs in diversified post-game activities.

Like the foreshore gang at the RCNSA. When they've unglued themselves from the clubhouse color set (imported for the game), they'll pour concrete for their launching ramp.

Hewett

This project climaxes two months of work schedules juggled to accommodate low tides, which are always stubbornly inconvenient in the winter.

Construction of the ramp progressed through two stages. First, a retaining wall was built into the sea to zero feet of tide. This was backfilled with gravel between the bank and the wall, forming a 12-foot-wide launching ramp for boat dollies and trailers.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's effort, which completes the project, will see the pouring of a concrete slab over the gravel fill. It will consume 12½ cubic yards of concrete, the equivalent volume of the foundation for a good-sized house.

Beneficiaries of the completed ramp will be the small trailerable boats, mostly centreboarders. Now, dry land storage space can be utilized.

Immediately, 15 more boats, mostly Enterprises and the new 420s, will be accommodated on the deck just above the ramp. Ultimately, the storage capacity in this area is almost unlimited.

Small boat sailors will now have launching facilities at both yacht clubs (Royal Victoria completed theirs last spring).

This, of course, reflects the tremendous increase in centreboard boats of under 22 feet, particularly in the past two years. Their popularity is partly due to the ease and economy with which the average basement boatbuilder can belt out his own bateau.

★ ★ ★

The novice sailor can identify himself with other kindred spirits long before he launches his boat. Advice about building and rigging problems is always available from those who have survived the initial stages and are now sailing.

One such group, the Enterprise fleet, will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 14, at the RCNSA. They'll review progress and circulate information about both building and racing.

Concerning the former, there is still hope for the chap who hasn't started building yet.

A. E. Rumsby will construct hulls for those who feel they have neither the time, skill or energy. In fact, there's one hull available now. Phone him at 384-8881. Or, the group has information on partly-completed boats waiting to be finished.

Inquiries are particularly invited from non-members of a sailing club. They are welcome to attend the meeting, and can later arrange associate status till year's end. at RCNSA, if they wish to use the facilities.

★ ★ ★

The 13-foot Enterprise excels as a dual-purpose boat. It's one of the best of the planing dinghies for just plain day sailing with a family. It has a special cruising rig for this purpose.

Racing as a class, it is identified by its blue sails, which are a class specification.

Enterprisers can join in the Sunday racing in session at the RCNSA. The O.K. Dinghy skippers welcome their competition on a boat-for-boat basis, as they both rate the same. After Christmas, there will be class racing.

For further information about the fleet activities, phone Bryan Shaw at 658-5580, or the Fleet Measurer, Dr. John Dewey, at 477-5849.

SHORT TACKS: Speaking of basement projects, another group is well under way. The single-hander demountable catamaran class has 12 building in Todd's basement. The second section already has eight members signed up, and will start when they've lined up a building place. They'll be two weeks behind the schedule of the first group. Call Doug Beer, at 382-1330 for information . . . . There's always great rejoicing in a fleet when a competitive member returns to the active racing scene. Welcome back Lyle Russell to the El Toros. . . . If you're placing bets on the outcome of the Turkey Head series this Sunday, keep an eye on Rod McBride's green-hulled Thunderbird, Lemolo. Rod's collected a string of first and second places, even in the races which didn't count. . . . Jack Stacy inherits RCNSA foreshore development from Mel Steffans, who masterminded the ramp project.

STATE THROWS OUT CRASH HELMET LAW

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—A 1967 state law requiring motorcycle riders to wear crash helmets has been declared unconstitutional by Judge James C. Lynch.

The judge held the state has no right to tell an individual what he has to do to protect himself, and the law fails to set up specification under which an officer can determine whether a helmet meets requirements.

The crash helmet law was passed by the last legislature and upheld earlier in the month by Seattle Justice Court Judge Bill Lewis. The American Civil Liberties Union appealed the Seatle case to superoir court.

Judge Lynch dismissed the case here against Ralph Spencer, ruling the state law invalid.

Spencer was arrested by Wenatchee police in October while riding a motorcycle and wearing a leather helmet.

11 Traffic Charges Bring Fine of $110

A motorcyclist was fined a total of $110 in traffic court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to 11 minor traffic offences.

Allan Cloke, 851 Sevenoaks, pleaded not guilty to two additional charges—wearing a helmet improperly while on a motorcycle and passing when unsafe.

Thursday's fines included such offences as failure to produce registration, failure to produce driver's licence, failure to obey a stop sign, and failure to register a transfer.

His trial was set for Dec. 21.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Trodden, 2502 Empire, was fined $75 for driving while his licence was suspended.

Police reported Trodden was driving a car stopped for speeding on Tillicum Road Sept. 14. His licence was suspended in August.

Trodden was fined an additional $15 for speeding.

Public Invited to Attend Carol Sing at City Hall

Morning carol singing sessions will commence at Victoria city hall on Dec. 11.

As in former years various school choirs from the area will open their morning carol concerts shortly after 8:30 and will sing until 9:30.

The concerts, now an annual feature at city hall, will again be under the direction of Harry Bigsby.

The concerts continue until Dec. 15.

In past years members of city hall staff and the general public have joined in the daily sessions.

Assistant to the city manager William Hooson, said the general public is again invited to each of the concerts "either to listen or to participate."

Sharp's Tax Recipe Hits Income, Liquor, Tobacco

BUDGET HIGHLIGHTS

By The Canadian Press

Income, liquor and tobacco taxes increased.

Five per cent surcharge imposed on basic personal income tax, effective Jan. 1, but not applied to first $100 of tax.

Liquor and tobacco taxes increased 10 per cent, effective immediately.

Increases put liquor tax up 15 1-3 cents on 25-ounce bottle; beer eight cents on 24-pint case; cigarettes two cents on pack of 20; wines one cent on 25-ounce bottle; cut and pipe tobacco, 10 cents a pound.

Income surcharge worth $25,000,000 in fiscal year ending next March 31 and $185,000,000 in next year.

New taxes to be required next year for medical care insurance, due to start July 1.

Payment period for corporation income tax to start two months sooner than at present, effective immediately, increasing revenue flow by $290,000,000 in 1968-69.

Capital spending, subsidies and lending programs to be reduced, including housing loans.

Civil service growth to be restrained.

Budget deficit for current fiscal year, forecast in June at $740,000,000, now forecast at $785,000,000.

Current year's expenditures estimated at $9,900,000,000 with revenues of $9,115,000,000.

White Paper Next Step

OTTAWA (CP) — "All I intend to say at the present time about tax reform I said in my budget yesterday," Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons today.

The next word on the subject will be a government white paper, not expected for several months.

'Meany Budget' Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—It was announced as a mini-budget but it was nothing but a "meany budget" to Conservative critic J. Waldo Monteith.

"An irritating increase in income tax," Colin Cameron of the NDP said, and protested the decision against major tax reforms.

Opposition Leader Stanfield described it as "a costly price for the people to pay" for the government's earlier errors in judging the economy.

That summed up the major Commons reaction Thursday night after Finance Minister Sharp's budget speech announced a $520,000,000-a-year boost in taxation. Most of it will come from a surcharge on personal income tax.

Mr. Monteith, Conservative MP for Perth, was the only Commons critic to get the floor after the finance minister's 7,500-word speech.

"A very merry and prosperous Christmas to you, too," he called across to Mr. Sharp.

"At least it will be a somewhat less spiritous one," he added, referring to the increase of 10 per cent in federal taxes on liquor, beer and wine.

MISJUDGED ECONOMY

In a more serious vein, Mr. Monteith said the finance minister had failed to predict correctly what had happened to the economy for the last year. Only a year ago he had said everything was going well.

Now he was increasing taxes "almost on the eve of Christmas."

"When is this disregard for the plight of the taxpayer going to stop?"

Mr. Cameron, MP for Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands and his party's chief financial expert, told reporters outside the House he was disappointed that Mr. Sharp had apparently thrown the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation "down the drain."

The Carter report had decided properly that people should pay taxes according to their financial ability. But the minister had decided to do nothing about it.

Mr. Cameron said the minister's "nuisance taxes" will not control inflation. They should have been imposed on insurance companies and other areas recommended in the Carter report, not on the ordinary taxpayer.

All in all, the budget merely added to the economic problem.

STANFIELD CRITICAL

Mr. Stanfield said outside the house that the government had for some time been too complacent about inflation and the budget was a late attempt to restore public confidence in the federal hangling of economic affairs.

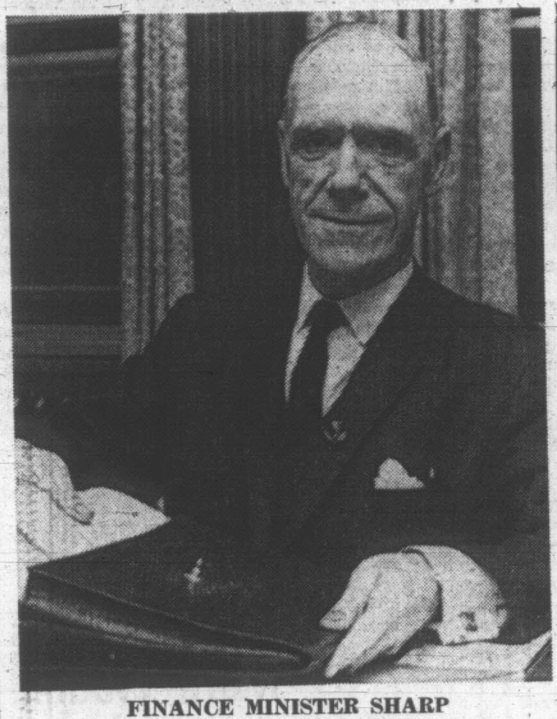
New taxes were likely to accelerate a slowdown in the economy rather than produce expansion.

The new Conservative leader declined to say whether he approved the government's apparent rejection of the Carter report.

Real Caouette, leader of the Creditiste group, said the budget was nonsense and would invite an increase in unemployment.

"We are asking the Canadian people to pay more taxes when they don't have enough money to make a proper living," he said.

A. B. Patterson, acting Social Credit leader, said the budget will fan the flames of inflation instead of dampening them.



FINANCE MINISTER SHARP
. . . last look before Commons speech

5% Surcharge Starts January 1

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco go up by 10 per cent in Canada today. Personal income taxes will face a five-per-cent surcharge next Jan. 1.

The tax increases are part of the government's anti-inflation program, Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons in his budget speech Thursday night.

The surcharge affects five of every six Canadians paying income tax. The other increases affect anyone purchasing cigarettes or drinks.

A 25-ounce bottle of liquor will bring in 15 1-3 cents more for the federal government.

Beer will cost about eight cnts or nine cents more for a case of 24.

Wine will go up one cent per 25-ounce bottle in federal taxes.

Cigarettes will return the federal treasury two cents per pack of 20 or 2½ cents per pack of 25. The excise tax on cigars will be raised from 15 per cent of the manufacturer's selling price to 17½ per cent. The excise tax on cut tobacco and pipe tobacco will increase from 80 up to 90 cents a pound.

Mr. Sharp emphasized his anti-inflationary policies of restraint on government expenditures and increased tax revenues are aimed at checking the rise of prices, costs and wages and to reduce excessive pressures on capital markets.

Even more taxes are in the offing, Mr. Sharp warned, if his budgetary measures are not successful in persuading Canadians to apply "rigorous restraints" in price rises, cost and wage increases.

If they continue to go up in the next five or six months then he will have no alternative "but a collective fiscal restraint exercised by Parliament."

Translated in layman's terms that meant simply—higher taxes.

Mr. Sharp said, "This is a case where the proverbial ounce of prevention now is far preferable to a pound of cure later."

Restraint Urged in Pay Hikes

He will launch a campaign early next year to mobilize public opinion to support "voluntary co-operative restraints in price, cost and wage increases."

The take from the tax increases in the budget will add $520 million to the government's revenues in the full fiscal year 1968-69.

Corporations are also hit hard.

A two-month acceleration is proposed on income tax instalments by corporations. This, said Mr. Sharp, will bring about greater equity between corporate and individual taxpayers in timing of tax payments.

The finance minister skittered around medicare. He made it obvious from his brief references to medicare that cabinet has no firm information as yet on how many provinces will be entering the scheme next July. A decision remains to be made inside cabinet on whether the medicare plan will be implemented in full or by stages July 1, 1968.

On the recommmedations of the Carter Royal Commission on taxation Mr. Sharp makes it clear the government will not buy them as a package. It was learned that the government has not yet made up its mind which recommendations will be implemented and which ones will be rejected.

Investment Needed for Growth

The minister made the point that Canada will need to generate and invest a large volume of savings over the next decade in order to carry out the economic growth and development desired.

To do this large amounts of foreign capital must be attracted to supplement savings.

Mr. Sharp said he agreed with those who felt the commission did not give adequate weight to this consideration in its recommendations.

Corporations do not escape in the budget. The change in the corporation tax is designed to give the federal treasury a substantial increase in receipts next year, without adding in future to the costs of production or distribution of Canadian business.

Corporations at present begin the payment of their tax in the fifth month of the taxation year to which it relates and complete these payments four months

Clarification Sought

LIQUOR PRICE UP NEXT WEEK

B.C. liquor stores are not likely to raise prices until early next week.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said this morning that the Liquor Control Board is trying to obtain clarification of the new federal tax increase so that it will know how prices will be affected.

Mr. Bonner said whatever the tax boosts are, they will be passed on to the public in order to protect provincial revenues.

But, he said, it may take more than the weekend to compute the increases.

He said the board does not know if the tax increase affects liquor on store shelves or just that in the warehouse or only purchases from suppliers beginning today.

He said the federal tax impact varies from product to product and clarification of how the increase will affect this also is sought.

Mr. Bonner also warned that Scotch drinkers may find that devaluation of the British pound doesn't help them at all when recent increase in wholesale prices and the new federal tax are calculated.

"As you can see, spirits are in a state of flux today," he quipped.

Price Spiral Must Stop, Says Bonner

Premier Bennett today declined any comment on Finance Minister Sharp's budget but three of his ministers indicated they were midly unhappy with it.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today said the time has come for the nation to stop the price spiral before it makes the economy so dizzy "that we fall down."

He indicated that B.C. would be willing to see the Economic Council of Canada given a national role for setting economic guidelines — particularly in wage settlements.

To make this work, he said all provincial governments would have to give a prior "moral support" to whatever the council decided was the allowable range for wage and price increases each year.

This would be a step towards the system used in Europe, particularly Sweden, and Mr. Bonner conceded it might be difficult for the Canadian public to accept but the effort must be made to close the gap between productivity and prices.

He said if only "we halved the coffee breaks across the country" the current economic difficulties could be solved.

HOUSING FUNDS

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said the B.C. Government considers the housing funds cutback the most serious section of the new budget.

He said this should have been the last place Ottawa picked to cut expenditures and the federal government's failure to give housing priority probably means

Hitch Snarls Cyprus Peace

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A last-minute hitch was reported today in an agreement among Cyprus, Greece and Turkey to end the recent threat of war. Cyprus was said to be holding it up. (See Page 19.)

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada likely will stand against any increase in the size of her United Nations peacekeeping contingent in Cyprus unless there are clear signs this would be a step toward an eventual political solution to troubles on the island.

COST OF CIGARETTES DEPENDS ON LENGTH

The cost of smoking escalates with the length of cigarette, according to predictions here on the heels of company price and government tax adjustments.

On a 20-pack prices are expected to be:

	Current	Expected
Regular-size	42-43c	45c
King-size	42-43c	46c
Extra-long	42-43c	49c

Machine prices uncertain, depending on cost analysis expected next week.

LABOR UNHAPPY

Business Leaders Approve If Ottawa Spending Cut

By AB KENT

Business leaders here met Finance Minister Sharp's mini-budget with reserved approval, while labor found it "disquieting" because employment will drop.

Two industrialists expressed concern that there actually would be government restraint on spending as Mr. Sharp indicates.

"If the federal government will exercise the thrift, caution and prudence which the minister says will be excercised in government spending, then I have no objection to the personal income tax surcharge," said J. Ernest Richardson, president of B.C. Telephone Co.

Yarrows Ltd. shipyard general manager John A. Wallace (ex-president of B.C. Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association) said:

"Restrictions have got to be applied — some kind of brakes. But I hope when Mr. Sharp comes down with government spending he will cut back excessive spending."

The view was echoed by Vancouver Island regional representative of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, William Du Moulin.

He said "any marked decrease in federal government borrowing at this stage would have a beneficial effect on the bond market. This would be very welcome.

"It is not certain as yet in what areas the minister of finance will cut back federal spending.

"When this information is made public I think we will be in a better position to judge the future economic outlook."

EGYPT CLAIMS THREE ISRAELI JETS DOWNED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Cairo radio said Egyptian anti-aircraft guns shot down three Israeli Mirage jet fighters today in the Suez area. Israel said only one jet was lost.

The Cairo broadcast reported the three planes fell on the Israeli-held eastern bank of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Suez. It said the pilots bailed out and one landed in the gulf.

An Israeli army spokesman said the pilot and navigator of the crippled jet bailed out over the gulf 12 miles south of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the Suez Canal. Planes and ships were searching for the fliers.

U.S. Denies Cong Arrested On Way to Truce Session

SAIGON (AP) — Well-informed sources said today a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

The U.S. embassy issued a statement later saying:

"Allegations about planned or actual meetings between high officials of the U.S. embassy and representatives of the VC-NLF as reported by The Associated Press are false. The U.S. embassy would, of course, not undertake any such contacts without the knowledge of the GVN (Government of South Vietnam)."

In Washington, a state department spokesman said: "We have nothing to add to what the embassy in Saigon has said."

The "actual meetings" referred to in the U.S. embassy statement apparently were in regard to reports from other sources that a meeting between U.S. officials and Viet Cong representatives did take place in a "neutral embassy" in Saigon within the last 10 days.

A Saigon newspaper said the proposed Bunker meeting was arranged by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency without letting the South Vietnamese government know about it. A member of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives also implied that the CIA tried to set up a contact with the Viet Cong without advising the Saigon government.

The sources who reported the meeting that didn't come off said it was arranged for early in November but national police arrested the Viet Cong envoy in Saigon before he reached the embassy.

The sources said it was believed the police did not know the purpose of the Viet Cong agent's visit to Saigon, but the agent "spilled the beans" after he was questioned.

CHILDREN OF ASIA

No Bed of Roses for Flower Girl

By KATHRINE THOMAS

Hong Kong is one of the most crowded cities in the world.

According to a 1966 census, there are nearly four million people packed into a mere 400 square miles of land.

Can we even imagine what life for the poor is like in such a teeming city?

Mrs. Ho Jo Chin who is 35 and the mother of seven children, lives in Hong Kong.

Her husband, is a bricklayer who used to make about $2 a day but, with a recent crisis in the building trade, he no longer has steady employment.

So Mrs. Chin gets up at 3 a.m. and walkes several miles to the flower market, to buy her stock for the day.

At 8 a.m. she takes up her position in the market. Long experience has taught her she can attract housewives by offering her flowers more cheaply than other vendors.

If she has had a lucky day, she may wind up with a profit of 50 cents.

There is no time for illness or almost no time to have a baby.

Mrs. Chin delivered her seventh child in a clinic in the morning, got up that afternoon and walked back home where the other children were waiting.

The next morning, haggard and worn, she brought the day-old girl to the Unitarian Service Committee to have her seen by a doctor.

She left the child in the care of the USC Nursery because she had to hurry to work at her stall in the market.

Without her sale of flowers her family could not survive.

Their home is a tiny room, one of hundreds in a huge resettlement block eight stories high, providing shelter for about 1,500 persons.

Mrs. Chin was shattered to learn there was something wrong with her child's eyes and that the baby would have to go to the hospital.

Medical services are expensive in Hong Kong for the poor. But Mrs. Chin was helped by the USC through funds perhaps donated by Victorians.

Her child was cured and now every day in Hong Kong you will find Mrs. Chin at the market rain or shine, selling flowers, the young child tied to her back.

Your contributions to the Times Christmas Appeal can help to make life for women like Mrs. Chin a little more bearable.

Contributions should be sent to the Children of Asia Fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice Gibson has reserved decision in anti-combine charges against five Vancouver freight forwarders following a three-week Exchequer Court hearing.

His judgment will be handed down later in Ottawa.

Charged under the Combines Investigation Act were J. W. Mills and Son Ltd., Kuehne and Nagel (Canada) Ltd., Overland Import Agencies Ltd., Denning Freight Forwards Ltd., and Johnson Termials Ltd.

The Crown alleges the firms between Jan. 1, 1956, and Aug. 1, 1966, unlawfully conspired to unduly limit the facilities for transporting or dealing in articles imported from the Orient and sent to Eastern Canada by railway pool cars.

The 30,000-pound-capacity pool cars are shared by a number of importers wishing to send smaller shipments to a common destination.

Subsidiary Sold By Laurentide

VANCOUVER (CP)—Laurentide Financial Corp. has announced it has sold controlling interest in a British subsidiary which had not been contributing materially to profits.

The Vancouver-based finance company said the British firm, Laurentide Financial Trust Ltd. of London, was sold to First National City Overseas Investment Corp. of New York.

Price was not disclosed.

Exchange Seats Bring Record Price

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two Pacific Coast Stock Exchange memberships have been sold at a record price of $65,000 each to two English firms.

They were bought Monday by Rowe and Pitman and Joseph Sebag and Company, both of London, for $2,500 more than the previous top sale.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye took most of the light action on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in trading today.

Both rapeseed and flax prices showed firmness due largely to the light offerings rather than aggressive demand.

Japan recently bought some Canadian rapeseed and there is evidence of continuing interest.

Oats and barley trade was light. Rye prices fluctuated mildly but steady Chicago prices and Japanese interest were stabilizing factors.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were all up ⅛ cent.

Liquor Stocks Decline

Only reaction on the Toronto Stock Exchange today to Thursday night's mini-budget was a drop in liquor stocks.

Finance Minister Sharp called for increased taxes on liquors.

Trading at Toronto was light.

The New York market put on a mixed showing. Trading was fairly active.

AT TORONTO Noranda gained 1 to 52, Massey-Ferguson ⅞ to 17⅜ and MacMillan Bloedel ½ to 24½. CPR slipped ¼ to 59¾.

In base metals, Denison picked up 1 to 79 and among western oils, Hudson's Bay Oil advanced ¾ to 45¾.

Among golds, Dome Mines was up 1 to 53½ in light trading and Kerr Addison ¼ to 16⅜. Giant Yellowknife slipped 15 cents to 8.25.

Trading was halted in shares of Meta Uranium, the most active mining stock so far this week. Earlier, Meta sold at 37 cents, up 2½ cents.

"The halting of trading is to permit a public announcement to be made by management of Meta and for further inquiries to be made by the exchange," a statement said.

AT NEW YORK the market seemed to be groping for a trend following Thursday's decline.

Shelving of the U.S. income tax proposal for the balance of this year was regarded as a bearish factor but news elements were not accorded much weight as the market was seen as consolidating recent gains purely on a technical basis.

AT MONTREAL gains and losses were about evenly matched in trading today.

Senior mines and oils were active. Noranda jumped one point to 52, and B-A Oil ½ to 37¾. International Nickel dipped ¾ to 122½.

Papers were mixed as Bathurst climbed ½ to 25 affter announcing a 50-cent fourth-quarter dividend. MacMillan-Bloedel was stronger and Fraser slid ½ to 17¾, reacting to news of sharply lower earnings.

AT LONDON the stock market fell further today and, although a few leading industrials were off the bottom, losses ranging to one shilling or more were widespread.

Fresh institutional selling of gilts, brought falls of as much as 5-16.

In a dull dollar section Canadian Pacific dropped five points. Inco and Noranda headed the list of falls elsewhere among Canadians. Losses in Canadian banks ranged to four shillings.

AT VANCOUVER Massey-Ferguson and Neon Products led the way in the industrial section today as prices strengthened in light trading.

Volume was 696,175 to noon, below the usual average to noon.

Prices remained firm, however, as Massey-Ferguson gained .75 from Thursday's close to $17.25. Neon added .37 to $8.87.

Royal American and Sunlite were the most active oil issues and both gained — Royal American .04 to $1.05 and Sunlite .06 to .89.

Brenda was the big gainer in the mining section, adding .55 to $7.75. Endako was up .37 to $12.25. Westland Copper slipped .10 to $1.14 and Craigmont dropped .25 to $12.50.

No Frosting On Cake GM Warns UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A meeting of the United Auto Workers General Motors Council was called today to set a date for a GM strike, if one is necessary.

The UAW and General Motors resumed negotiations on a new contract this week for the first time since Oct. 31.

General Motors has indicated it is willing to write a contract with the UAW that is within the limits of the economic agreement won for the union's 160,000 members at Ford Motor Co. and 103,000 at Chrysler Corp.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands on GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if the union goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "it will be in for a big fight."

The union told the company Monday that what it called "erosion of the bargaining unit" by moving automated jobs out of union jurisdiction will be an important issue.

Representation, specifically the company requirement that union committee men work at least an hour a day on their regular jobs, is also expected to cause trouble.

The union represents 380,000 workers at GM.

Generally, Ottawa does not hide its light under a bushel when engaged in a good work. In the case of the Centennial medals, however, the approach is so quiet as to be almost furtive.

I wish the state department had chosen a less modest approach in distributing its 20,000 tokens in all provinces. As matters stand, local medal recipients would go unnoted were it not for friends and relatives who are passing the news along.

That's not as it should be, and I hope before the year is out, Greater Victoria will choose to honor these medal winners with a band, several windy speeches, and a solid round of applause from a large assembly.

The idea will probably horrify medal-winners, who regard their services to their fellows in matter-of-fact fashion, and seek no praise for doing their jobs.

But they deserve a bash — and I hope they get one!

The other day, in came a sizzling letter from A. B. Randy, 3318 Oak Street, with bill for $3.15 from Reader's Digest Condensed Books attached.

"Never a week goes by," Mr. Randy writes, "that something does not come along, a new gimmick, new winnings, new invitation to subscribe to new books that you did not ask for and, if you do not return them, they go after you for payment."

This complainant, and others, have entangled themselves in a bit of business titled 'Reader's Digest Cross-Canada Lucky Number Draw.'

If you want to buy the merchandise this outfit has to sell — and remember, the key words here are buy and sell — I expect you'll get value for money received.

Otherwise, file those glowing persuasions in your wastebasket, because nobody's about to give you something ffor nothing with no strings attached.

Let me warn you further of a questionable practice now being indulged in by certain sales departments that drum up trade by direct mail.

These now assume that if you return the card or envelope without indicating a "Yes" or "No," your silence means assent. (This clause may be pointed out in fine print, so watch for it.)

While we're on the subject, be warned also that any person selling a fire-detection device should be prepared to demonstrate it.

If he can't or won't, back off, fast!

Door-to-door and direct-mail deals can be tricky. Where these are concerned, it's far safer to inquire of our Better Business Bureau before you sign rather than after.

Then, it's too late.

At intervals this last week and more, I have been diving into a highly readable anthology compiled, edited and otherwise assisted by a brilliant Victorian.

Her name is Ursula Jupp, and the book is called Home Port: Victoria. Its 168 well-illustrated and indexed pages carry true yarns about ships and men who have sailed from Victoria since the port was young.

These accounts were told at their meetings by old sailors of Victoria's Thermopylae Club, in which Mrs. Jupp holds the rating of stewardess and historian.

"Thirty years ago," the author tells us in her opening chapter, "the gatherings were composed almost entirely of true deep-sea sailors. Many had 50 or more sea-years behind them, and when in those days the call was made, 'Anybody with a yarn?' who knew what tale might not come from memories that totalled well over 500 years . . . ?"

By happy circumstance, Mrs. Jupp knows. She presents the record of sealer and steamer, clipper and towboat and their crews in a book which I hope will be followed by others no less interesting.

Home now, looking forward to Saturday when Lanny King Yee, his Chinese cooking class students, and their mouses and spouses will feast on 'Roasted spare-ribs dancing in the dew of tomatoes', 'deep-fried prawns under the watchful eyes of dragons', and other taste-treats washed down with the Tea of the Sixth Happiness.

Hungry-making, no?

GETTING READY for tonight's old-time costume ball are Mrs. Annie O'Connor and Walter Simpson, of Victoria Silver Threads Centre. They are among 500 registered pioneers who will compete for prizes in the Old Age Pensioners Hall, 1608 Government Street, starting at 8:30 p.m. This is the third and final costume ball organized by Greater Victoria Centennial Society. "Tickets were free but we ran out of them a week ago," said coordinator Jerry Gosley. (Times photo.)

SHIP CRACKS CHECKED

Several cracks have occurred in the aluminum panelling of the Canadian Coast Guard's $12,000,000 weathership, Vancouver, it was learned today.

The cracks are not considered dangerous, but the ship is back in Yarrow's Victoria yard while a faulty coupling on one of the ship's three turbo-generators is replaced.

The ship was to have sailed this morning for Weather Station Papa, 860 miles off Victoria. The voyage was postponed until the coupling could be replaced.

Repairmen are also investigating the cracks which have appeared in the aluminum panelling around the bridge area.

SAFE SHIP

"These cracks have nothing to do with the hull and the ship's safety is not affected in any way," said district marine agent L. E. Slaght.

"But the coupling has to be replaced and, if all goes well, the Vancouver will sail for Weather Station Papa Sunday morning."

The Vancouver is due to take over duties from her sister ship, Quadra, at the weather station. Each ship spends a seven-week stint at sea and five weeks in port.

TROUBLED

The 404-foot Vancouver has been haunted by trouble ever since she was launched in July, 1966. There have been difficulties with the radar tracking system, flume stabilizing shaft, the electrical system, and one of the turbo-generators.

Last week the Vancouver left Victoria Machinery Depot after undergoing a $65,000 routine overhaul.

"We decided to check the couplings on the turbo generators before the ship sailed," Mr. Slaght said, "and we found one of them was showing signs of excessive wear."

'Knew We'd Be Caught' Says Woman

A woman appeared in central court Thursday charged with three counts of false pretences under $50 and 10 counts over $50.

Valerie Einarson of Portage la Prairie had been charged earlier with two counts of false pretences under $50.

Thursday she pleaded guilty to all 15 counts and will be sentenced Dec. 7 after Magistrate Ostler has studied a probation officer's report.

"I guess I knew we would be caught sooner or later," said the 20-year-old Miss Einarson.

The man with whom she had been living, Glen Davis, 20, also of Portage la Prairie, Thursday pleaded guilty to one count of false pretences and was remanded to Dec. 7 as well for sentence.

Court was told Miss Einarson obtained cash and goods from stores after writing cheques on non-existent bank accounts.

Logan Park Trip For Youngsters

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Douglas-Hillside for an expedition to Logan Park off Interurban Road.

Young Hunter Killed by Bullet From Friend's Gun

A 19-year-old deer hunter was killed Thursday afternoon when accidentally hit by a bullet from his hunting companion's rifle in the Highlands District about three miles southwest of Brentwood Bay.

Dead is Robert Goodrow, of 3586 Calumet, a sales clerk at Capital Iron.

ROBERT GOODROW
. . . hit in chest

He was hunting with his friend Gerry Loudon, also 19, of 1579 Sonria Road, in rough bush country north of Durrance Lake, when struck in the chest by a .303-calibre bullet from Loudon's rifle.

There followed a desperate race for help by Loudon and later by police and volunteers before Goodrow's body was found near the foot of a 200-foot embankment shortly before dark.

Gerry, son of Times reporter Peter Loudon, first ran half a mile uphill to where Goodrow's car was parked on Ricky's Roost Road.

Within a quarter mile the car got stuck in loose gravel and the youth ran another mile to the home of Vernon Harknett on Durrance Road.

CUT HANDS

The house was empty and locked and Loudon cut his hands badly in smashing glass to get in and phone police.

When officers arrived Loudon tried to lead them to the accident scene but could not locate it.

Saanich police, Sidney RCMP, Victoria RCMP identification branch and Langford volunteer ambulance crewmen hurried to the scene to help in the search.

The body was found after a two-hour search and just before the Saanich police dog was put into the rocky, bush area to start tracking.

Goodrow and Loudon had been hunting about two hours before the accident. They were on each side of a gulley when Loudon fired at what he thought was a deer which his companion had flushed out for him.

After the body was found Loudon was taken to hospital to have cuts on both hands sutured.

FIRST DEATH

Goodrow's death is the first fatal hunting accident on the lower Island this season. The dead boy was wearing dark clothing and a red hunting hat.

Gerry was an experienced hunter, his father said. He began hunting three years ago under the guidance of a close family friend and expert hunter. It was because he had received expert training that he was allowed to go hunting on his own this year.

The two friends had hunted together several times before.

The victim, who graduated from Victoria High School last year, is survived by his mother, Joyce, at home, and a sister, Shirley, in Vancouver.

Sidney coroner D. G. Ashby said today an inquest would be held but a date has not yet been set.

U.S. JOBS?

Shipyarders Interviewed Next Week

A number of Victoria shipyard workers are inquiring about prospects of work in the United States, a spokesman for the Boilermakers' Union said today.

Some will be interviewed here Monday or Tuesday by an official from a shipyard at Pascagoula, Mississippi, which is seeking 75 shipfitters and pipefitters.

He is reported to be flying up here to get workers "in a hurry."

"Our chief responsibility in this regard is to advise members on wages and living costs," the union spokesman said. "In Pascagoula, the balance is very favorable and we would not discourage members from going there.

"At the same time, workers born after 1925 have to consider the possibility of being drafted for war service if they take employment in the United States."

RED TAPE CUT

The Pascagoula shipyard has promised that Victoria workers accepting employment will be subject to "a minimum of red tape."

The official who plans to visit Victoria Monday or Tuesday described it as a pleasant city of 35,000 on the Gulf of Mexico between Biloxi and Mobile Bay.

He said the firm had previously planned to seek skilled workers in Scotland, but decided to try Victoria on learning that Victoria Machinery Depot had withdrawn from shipbuilding.

'Know Your Horse' Course Set

Ever-increasing interest here in horses is expected to be reflected in a large registration for a horse course the Greater Victoria school board will start in January.

"Know Your Horse" will be covered in a series of 10 night school classes—one a week—at Central Junior High School, Room 207, starting Jan. 11.

Experts will lecture on a wide variety of subjects pertaining to horses. On the final night of the course there will be an open question session with all four of the instructors in attendance.

The lecturers will include three doctors of veterinary medicine, Dr. David Gaunt and Dr. A. Bonnell of Victoria, and Dr. David Reid of Duncan, and a Victoria farrier, Roy Jewell.

The weekly sessions will start at 7:30 p.m. and registration fee for the series is $15 per person.

Registrations will be accepted immediately at Greater Victoria School Board offices.

The lectures will cover such subjects as common ailments, conformation, legs, worms, teeth, mares and foals, breeding, feet and bad habits, feeding, shipping, and the use of restraints.

Strike Notice Served In Butchers' Dispute

Youngster Badly Hurt In Hit-Run

Bicycle Rider Condition Poor

A 12-year-old cyclist is in poor condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with head and internal injuries following a hit-and-run accident in the Colwood area Thursday.

Stephen Giles, 3324 Wickhein Road, was knocked down from his bicycle on Owens Road about 4:30 p.m. by a car which left the scene of the accident.

Two young people were treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital after the motorcycle on which they were riding went out of control on the wet pavement at Cook and North Park at 8:20.

Injured were Lee Malone, 16, of 1030 Nicholson and Jessie Janowski, 17, of 1579 Bay.

PEDESTRIAN HURT

Police said the elderly man was walking on Burdett near Quadra about 9 p.m. when he was struck by a car driven by Albert Brooke, 136 Beechwood.

Alen Longhurst, 3543 Richmond, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital in fairly good conditions suffering injuries received Thursday afternoon when his car was in collision with another vehicle, went out of control and hit a parked car and then hit a service station door.

Rupert Queen To Return On March 28

Queen of Prince Rupert will resume operation March 28 with a twice-weekly round trip between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert, it was announced Thursday.

She will step up to a regular round trip on alternate days schedule May 19, added Monty Aldous, general manager of B. C. Ferry Authority.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Gov. Walter Hickel of Alaska announced that one of three Alaska State Ferries now calling at Prince Rupert will be switched to the new Puget Sound run before the end of the year.

It will make a twice-weekly run to Puget Sound and will not stop at Prince Rupert.

The spokesman said Gov. Hickel had not given serious consideration to the move until Premier Bennett announced the Queen of Prince Rupert would not be returned to service this winter.

The ferry authority's flagship underwent final sea trials Thursday following repair of damage sustained Aug. 11 in a grounding.

More Phoney $10 Bills Feared Here

A new series of counterfeit $10 bills has appeared in eastern Canada and may show up locally, city detectives warned Thursday.

The bogus notes bear serial numbers R over E 8621081.

Earlier this week a number of phoney $20 bills were turned over to police.

Mainland Store First Affected

A pre-Christmas strike of Victoria and Lower Mainland butchers loomed today.

First strike notice was served this morning in the long-simmering contract dispute between six major grocery chains and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union.

Given notice was a High-Low store in New Westminster.

The notice expires Sunday and the union is then free to strike at any time.

Sixteen Greater Victoria stores of three of the chains are involved in the dispute.

According to the union, the chain stores have said they would construe strike notice to one store's operation as strike notice to all, and lockout action would be taken in all other units.

The Victoria area stores are those of Super-Valu including Maverick), Shop-Easy and Safeway. They are part of lower mainland bargaining units having a total union eleigiblity of 667 employees. Of these, 621 voted on strike action Thursday, 601 favoring the move, 22 opposed.

96.6 PER CENT IN FAVOR

The affirmative vote is worked out to 96.6 per cent in favor of striking.

The Super-Valu unit voted more than 94 per cent in favor, Shop Easy 100 per cent in favor and Safeway more than 97 per cent in favor.

The union is seeking a $1 hourly increase and a four-day 36-hour week. Current rates range from $2.30 an hour to $3.35 an hour.

The union earlier rejected a conciliation board report recommending a wage increase of 20 cents an hour in each year of a two-year contract.

Major Storm To Sideswipe Lower Island

A major storm struck the northwest coast of Vancouver Island today with gale winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour, gusting to 80.

The Greater Victoria area will feel the edge of the blast, weatherman Allan McQuarrie said this morning.

This means winds from the southeast at 35 to 45 miles an hour and rain. Strong west winds are predicted Saturday as the storm moves inland.

Gale warnings are out for all waters off Vancouver Island's north and west coast, said Mr. McQuarrie.

The storm centre passed right over CCGS Quadra on weather station Papa, 900 miles northwest of Victoria, Thursday night.

Within three hours the wind changed from east at five miles an hour to north at 65 miles an hour and the temperature dropped from 46 to 37 degrees in heavy rain.

Barometric pressure at the storm's centre was 28.05 inches, said the weatherman.

$327 in Clothing Taken from Store

Value of clothing taken from Elegant Knitwear in a robbery overnight Wednesday is now estimated at $327.

First reports on the Menzies Street store robbery indicated value of lost clothing at $222 but a further check of stock showed another $105 worth of ladies' clothing missing.

Ask The Times

Q. When was horse racing last held at Willows Park?—E.O.

A. According to the B.C. Jockey Club records, there were 14 days' racing from Sept. 11 to Sept. 27 in 1948.

A. What is the origin of the phrase "Up Guards and at 'em?"—C.J.P.

A. The command is attributed to the Duke of Wellington at the battle of Waterloo according to military historian Creasey, although writers have questioned this opinion, wondering on what grounds he attributed the statement to the Duke because it was a light infantry regiment involved in the final charge, at Waterloo, not the Guards.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

GONE TO SPIRIT LAND

A-Hoo-La, Friends Mourn Gentle Jimmy

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A-Hoo-La the sea lion, the salmon, the birds and all the animals are mourning today the loss of one of their greatest friends—kindly, gentle Jimmy Fraser.

Jimmy, a Songhees Indian, who was known across Canada as a weather prophet and story-teller, has gone to the spirit land of The One Who Dwells Above.

He died Tuesday in a Chilliwack hospital from old age, but he will rest among his ancestors when he is buried Saturday at the Songhees Indian cemetery following a funeral service at the Queen of Peace Church in Esquimalt at 9 a.m.

A mystic, Jimmy for many years predicted the weather with a remarkable degree of success.

CONSULTED SPIRITS

He claimed he based his predictions on the signs of nature or by "chatting" with birds, animals or fishes or by, consulting the spirits of these animals.

He was one of the last from a world that is gone, an animistic world when Indians were closer to nature and the basic things of life.

When he lived in his one-room shack on the Craigflower reserve, he rose every morning, and facing the rising sun, prayed to the spirit world.

To Jimmy the winds, the rocks and trees were not materialistic natural phenomenas, but spirit powers.

The west wind which brings rain to the coast, was a female spirit weeping for the loss of her lover, the south wind. A rock at sea was a spirit waiting to entice a boatman to his doom.

JIMMY FRASER
. . . listen tonight

Jimmy's relatives, most of them living on the Songhees Reserve, think he was close to 100 years old.

His grandfather was the famous "King Freezy," chief of the Songhees, when Sir James Douglas established his fort in Victoria. He was proud of his ancestors who were widely known as peacemakers before the arrival of the white man.

But Jimmy's great love was for animals.

"Listen," he would say, "Do you hear the voice of A Hoo-La the sea lion. She is telling me the salmon is on the run."

Or on another occasion: "The frog speaks of the north wind bringing snow to the hills."

And if anyone doubts the powers of Jimmy, let him listen tonight for the wails of A-Hoo-La.

RED HOT performance has won city firemen a special achievement award from United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal. Receiving award from Mayor Stephen are Alf Adamson, centre, Danny O'Connell, president of Victoria Firemen's Mutual Benefit Society. Firemen gave $1,254, a 700 per cent increase over last year. Liquor Stocks Decline

Only reaction on the Toronto Stock Exchange today to Thursday night's mini-budget was a drop in liquor stocks.

Finance Minister Sharp called for increased taxes on liquors.

Trading at Toronto was light.

The New York market put on a mixed showing but finished ahead.

AT TORONTO B.C. Sugar advanced 2¼ to 43¾ and Massey-Ferguson, Noranda and Falconbridge 1 each to 17½, 52 and 87, respectively. FPE Pioneer fell 1 to 30½.

In western oils, Canadian Gridoil jumped 1½ to 12, Scurry-Rainbow 1⅛ to 44⅝ and Hudson's Bay Oil ¾ to 45¾. Dome Petroleum fell ⅞ to 58⅛.

Among base metals, Rio Algom declined ½ to 34 and in golds Giant Yellowknife was down 60 cents to 7.80.

Trading was halted in shares of Meta Uranium, the most active mining stock so far this week. Earlier, Meta sold at 37 cents, up 2½ cents.

"The halting of trading is to permit a public announcement to be made by management of Meta and for further inquiries to be made by the exchange," a statement said.

AT NEW YORK the market seemed to be groping for a trend following Thursday's decline.

Shelving of the U.S. income tax proposal for the balance of this year was regarded as a bearish factor but news elements were not accorded much weight as the market was seen as consolidating recent gains purely on a technical basis.

AT MONTREAL gains and losses were about evenly matched in trading today.

Senior mines and oils were active. Noranda jumped one point to 52, and B-A Oil ½ to 37¾. International Nickel dipped ¾ to 122½.

Papers were mixed as Bathurst climbed ½ to 25 affter announcing a 50-cent fourth-quarter dividend. MacMillan-Bloedel was stronger and Fraser slid ½ to 17¾, reacting to news of sharply lower earnings.

AT LONDON the stock market fell further today and, although a few leading industrials were off the bottom, losses ranging to one shilling or more were widespread.

Fresh institutional selling of gilts, brought falls of as much as 5-16.

In a dull dollar section Canadian Pacific dropped five points. Inco and Noranda headed the list of falls elsewhere among Canadians. Losses in Canadian banks ranged to four shillings.

AT VANCOUVER Massey-Ferguson and Neon Products led the way in the industrial section today as prices strengthened in light trading.

Volume was 696,175 to noon, below the usual average to noon.

Prices remained firm, however, as Massey-Ferguson gained .75 from Thursday's close to $17.25. Neon added .37 to $8.87.

Royal American and Sunlite were the most active oil issues and both gained — Royal American .04 to $1.05 and Sunlite .06 to .89.

Brenda was the big gainer in the mining section, adding .55 to $7.75. Endako was up .37 to $12.25. Westland Copper slipped .10 to $1.14 and Craigmont dropped .25 to $12.50.

No Frosting On Cake GM Warns UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A meeting of the United Auto Workers General Motors Council was called today to set a date for a GM strike, if one is necessary.

The UAW and General Motors resumed negotiations on a new contract this week for the first time since Oct. 31.

General Motors has indicated it is willing to write a contract with the UAW that is within the limits of the economic agreement won for the union's 160,000 members at Ford Motor Co. and 103,000 at Chrysler Corp.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands on GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if the union goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "it will be in for a big fight."

The union told the company Monday that what it called "erosion of the bargaining unit" by moving automated jobs out of union jurisdiction will be an important issue.

Representation, specifically the company requirement that union committee men work at least an hour a day on their regular jobs, is also expected to cause trouble.

The union represents 380,000 workers at GM.

Treasury Bills Register Gain

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian bond market was off ½ point in quiet trading Thursday.

Long-term Canada and provincials were down ½ point with the 4½ per cent Sept. 1, 1983, issce closing at 80¼ bid and 80½ asked.

Short-term Government of Canada bonds fell 5 cents with the 5½ per cent Dec. 15, 1969, issue closing at 99.10 bid and 99.25 asked.

Day-to-day money traded at 4¾-5 per cent.

Treasury bills were up with the 91-day bills closing at 5.46 per cent and the 182-day bills at 5.65 per cent.

Income, liquor and tobacco taxes increased.

Five per cent surcharge imposed on basic personal income tax, effective Jan. 1, but not applied to first $100 of tax.

Liquor and tobacco taxes increased 10 per cent, effective immediately.

Increases put liquor tax up 15 1-3 cents on 25-ounce bottle; beer eight cents on 24-pint case; cigarettes two cents on pack of 20; wines one cent on 25-ounce bottle; cut and pipe tobacco, 10 cents a pound.

Income surcharge worth $25,000,000 in fiscal year ending next March 31 and $185,000,000 in next year.

New taxes to be required next year for medical care insurance, due to start July 1.

Payment period for corporation income tax to start two months sooner than at present, effective immediately, increasing revenue flow by $290,000,000 in 1968-69.

Capital spending, subsidies and lending programs to be reduced, including housing loans.

Civil service growth to be restrained.

Budget deficit for current fiscal year, forecast in June at $740,000,000, now forecast at $785,000,000.

LIQUOR PRICE UP NEXT WEEK

Price Spiral Must Stop, Says Bonner

Premier Bennett today declined any comment on Finance Minister Sharp's budget, but three of his ministers indicated they were mildly unhappy with it.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today said the time has come for the nation to stop the price spiral before it makes the economy so dizzy "that we fall down."

He indicated that B.C. would be willing to see the Economic Council of Canada given a national role for setting economic guidelines — particularly in wage settlements.

To make this work, he said all provincial governments would have to give a prior "moral support" to whatever the council decided was the allowable range for wage and price increases each year.

This would be a step towards the system used in Europe, particularly Sweden, and Mr. Bonner conceded it might be difficult for the Canadian public to accept but the effort must be made to close the gap between productivity and prices.

He said if only "we halved the coffee breaks across the country" the current economic difficulties could be solved.

HOUSING FUNDS

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said the B.C. Government considers the housing funds cutback the most serious section of the new budget.

He said this should have been the last place Ottawa picked to cut expenditures and the federal government's failure to give housing priority probably means

B.C. liquor stores are not likely to raise prices until early next week.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said this morning that the Liquor Control Board is trying to obtain clarification of the new federal tax increase so that it will know how prices will be affected.

Mr. Bonner said whatever the tax boosts are, they will be passed on to the public in order to protect provincial revenues.

But, he said, it may take more than the weekend to compute the increases.

He said the board does not know if the tax increase affects liquor on store shelves or just that in the warehouse or only purchases from suppliers beginning today.

He said the federal tax impact varies from product to product and clarification of how the increase will affect this also is sought.

Mr. Bonner also warned that Scotch drinkers may find that devaluation of the British pound doesn't help them at all when recent increase in wholesale prices and the new federal tax are calculated.

"As you can see, spirits are in a state of flux today," he quipped.

Hitch Snarls Cyprus Peace

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A last-minute hitch was reported today in an agreement among Cyprus, Greece and Turkey to end the recent threat of war. Cyprus was said to be holding it up. (See Page 19.)

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada likely will stand against any increase in the size of her United Nations peacekeeping contingent in Cyprus unless there are clear signs this would be a step toward an eventual political solution to troubles on the island.

'Costly Price To Pay'

OTTAWA (CP)—It was announced as a mini-budget but it was nothing but a "meany budget" to Conservative critic J. Waldo Monteith.

"An irritating increase in income tax," Colin Cameron of the NDP said, and protested the decision against major tax reforms.

Opposition Leader Stanfield described it as "a costly price for the people to pay" for the government's earlier errors in judging the economy.

That summed up the major Commons reaction Thursday night after Finance Minister Sharp's budget speech announced a $520,000,000-a-year boost in taxation. Most of it will come from a surcharge on personal income tax.

Mr. Monteith, Conservative MP for Perth, was the only Commons critic to get the floor after the finance minister's 7,500-word speech.

"A very merry and prosperous Christmas to you, too," he called across to Mr. Sharp.

"At least it will be a somewhat less spirituous one," he added, referring to the increase of 10 per cent in federal taxes on liquor, beer and wine.

MISJUDGED ECONOMY

In a more serious vein, Mr. Monteith said the finance minister had failed to predict correctly what had happened to the economy for the last year. Only a year ago he had said everything was going well.

Now he was increasing taxes "almost on the eve of Christmas."

"When is this disregard for the plight of the taxpayer going to stop?"

Mr. Cameron, MP for Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands and his party's chief financial expert, told reporters outside the House he was disappointed that Mr. Sharp had apparently thrown the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation "down the drain."

The Carter report had decided properly that people should pay taxes according to their financial ability. But the minister had decided to do nothing about it.

Mr. Cameron said the minister's "nuisance taxes" will not control inflation. They should have been imposed on insurance companies and other areas recommended in the Carter report, not on the ordinary taxpayer.

All in all, the budget merely added to the economic problem.

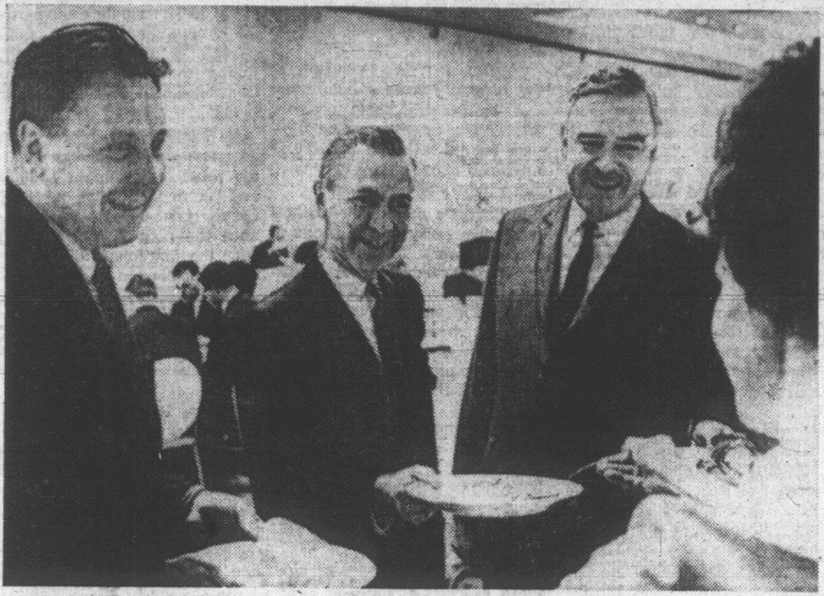
STANFIELD CRITICAL

Mr. Stanfield said outside the house that the government had for some time been too complacent about inflation and the budget was a late attempt to restore public confidence in the federal hangling of economic affairs.

New taxes were likely to accelerate a slowdown in the economy rather than produce expansion.

The new Conservative leader declined to say whether he approved the government's apparent rejection of the Carter report.

Real Caouette, leader of the Creditiste group, said the budget was nonsense and would invite an increase in unemployment.



GREY CUP BREAKFAST is enjoyed in Ottawa today by (left to right) Health Minister MacEachen, Metro Toronto Chairman William Allen and Ontario Premier Robarts as time nears for annual football classic at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Cloudy skies and 32-degree temperature is forecast as snowstorm that hit United States overnight is not expected to reach Ottawa until after the game. Hamilton is favored over Saskatchewan by three points. (CP Wirephoto.)

Income, Liquor Tobacco Suffer

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco go up by 10 per cent in Canada today. Personal income taxes will face a five-per-cent surcharge next Jan. 1.

The tax increases are part of the government's anti-inflation program, Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons in his budget speech Thursday night.

The surcharge affects five of every six Canadians paying income tax. The other increases affect anyone purchasing cigarettes or drinks.

A 25-ounce bottle of liquor will bring in 15 1-3 cents more for the federal government.

Beer will cost about eight cents or nine cents more for a case of 24.

Wine will go up one cent per 25-ounce bottle in federal taxes.

Cigarettes will return the federal treasury two cents per pack of 20 or 2½ cents per pack of 25. The excise tax on cigars will be raised from 15 per cent of the manufacturer's selling price to 17½ per cent. The excise tax on cut tobacco and pipe tobacco will increase from 80 up to 90 cents a pound.

Mr. Sharp emphasized his anti-inflationary policies of restraint on government expenditures and increased tax revenues are aimed at checking the rise of prices, costs and wages and to reduce excessive pressures on capital markets.

Even more taxes are in the offing, Mr. Sharp warned, if his budgetary measures are not successful in persuading Canadians to apply "rigorous restraints" in price rises, cost and wage increases.

If they continue to go up in the next five or six months then he will have no alternative "but a collective fiscal restraint exercised by Parliament."

Translated in layman's terms that meant simply—higher taxes.

Mr. Sharp said, "This is a case where the proverbial ounce of prevention now is far preferable to a pound of cure later."

Restraint Urged in Pay Hikes

He will launch a campaign early next year to mobilize public opinion to support "voluntary co-operative restraints in price, cost and wage increases."

The take from the tax increases in the budget will add $520 million to the government's revenues in the full fiscal year 1968-69.

Corporations are also hit hard.

A two-month acceleration is proposed on income tax instalments by corporations. This, said Mr. Sharp, will bring about greater equity between corporate and individual taxpayers in timing of tax payments.

The finance minister skittered around medicare. He made it obvious from his brief references to medicare that cabinet has no firm information as yet on how many provinces will be entering the scheme next July. A decision remains to be made inside cabinet on whether the medicare plan will be implemented in full or by stages July 1, 1968.

On the recommmedations of the Carter Royal Commission on taxation Mr. Sharp makes it clear the government will not buy them as a package. It was learned that the government has not yet made up its mind which recommendations will be implemented and which ones will be rejected.

Investment Needed for Growth

The minister made the point that Canada will need to generate and invest a large volume of savings over the next decade in order to carry out the economic growth and development desired.

To do this large amounts of foreign capital must be attracted to supplement savings.

Mr. Sharp said he agreed with those who felt the commission did not give adequate weight to this consideration in its recommendations.

Corporations do not escape in the budget. The change in the corporation tax is designed to give the federal treasury a substantial increase in receipts next year, without adding in future to the costs of production or distribution of Canadian business.

Corporations at present begin the payment of their tax in the fifth month of the taxation year to which it relates and complete these payments four months

EGYPT CLAIMS THREE ISRAELI JETS DOWNED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Cairo radio said Egyptian anti-aircraft guns shot down three Israeli Mirage jet fighters today in the Suez area. Israel said only one jet was lost.

The Cairo broadcast reported the three planes fell on the Israeli-held eastern bank of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Suez. It said the pilots bailed out and one landed in the gulf.

An Israeli army spokesman said the pilot and navigator of the crippled jet bailed out over the gulf 12 miles south of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the Suez Canal. Planes and ships were searching for the fliers.

Business, Labor Reaction Mixed

By AB KENT

Business leaders here met Finance Minister Sharp's mini-budget with reserved approval, while labor found it "disquieting" because employment will drop.

Two industrialists expressed concern that there actually would be government restraint on spending as Mr. Sharp indicates.

"If the federal government will exercise the thrift, caution and prudence which the minister says will be excercised in government spending, then I have no objection to the personal income tax surcharge," said J. Ernest Richardson, president of B.C. Telephone Co.

Yarrows Ltd. shipyard general manager John A. Wallace (ex-president of B.C. Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association) said:

"Restrictions have got to be applied — some kind of brakes. But I hope when Mr. Sharp comes down with government spending he will cut back excessive spending."

The view was echoed by Vancouver Island regional representative of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, William Du Moulin.

He said "any marked decrease in federal government borrowing at this stage would have a beneficial effect on the bond market. This would be very welcome.

"It is not certain as yet in what areas the minister of finance will cut back federal spending.

"When this information is made public I think we will be in a better position to judge the future economic outlook."

CHILDREN OF ASIA

No Bed of Roses for Girl

By KATHRINE THOMAS

Hong Kong is one of the most crowded cities in the world.

According to a 1966 census, there are nearly four million people packed into a mere 400 square miles of land.

Can we even imagine what life for the poor is like in such a teeming city?

Mrs. Ho Jo Chin who is 35 and the mother of seven children, lives in Hong Kong.

Her husband, is a bricklayer who used to make about $2 a day but, with a recent crisis in the building trade, he no longer has steady employment.

So Mrs. Chin gets up at 3 a.m. and walkes several miles to the flower market, to buy her stock for the day.

At 8 a.m. she takes up her position in the market. Long experience has taught her she can attract housewives by offering her flowers more cheaply than other vendors.

If she has had a lucky day, she may wind up with a profit of 50 cents.

There is no time for illness or almost no time to have a baby.

Mrs. Chin delivered her seventh child in a clinic in the morning, got up that afternoon and walked back home where the other children were waiting.

The next morning, haggard and worn, she brought the day-old girl to the Unitarian Service Committee to have her seen by a doctor.

She left the child in the care of the USC Nursery because she had to hurry to work at her stall in the market.

Without her sale of flowers her family could not survive.

Their home is a tiny room, one of hundreds in a huge resettlement block eight stories high, providing shelter for about 1,500 persons.

Mrs. Chin was shattered to learn there was something wrong with her child's eyes and that the baby would have to go to the hospital.

Medical services are expensive in Hong Kong for the poor. But Mrs. Chin was helped by the USC—through funds perhaps donated by Victorians.

Her child was cured and now every day in Hong Kong you will find Mrs. Chin at the market rain or shine, selling flowers, the young child tied to her back.

Your contributions to the Times Christmas Appeal can help to make life for women like Mrs. Chin a little more bearable.

Contributions should be sent to the Children of Asia Fund in care of the Victoria Daily Times.

U.S. Denies Cong Arrested On Way to Truce Session

SAIGON (AP) — Well-informed sources said today a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

The U.S. embassy issued a statement later saying:

"Allegations about planned or actual meetings between high officials of the U.S. embassy and representatives of the VC-NLF as reported by The Associated Press are false. The U.S. embassy would, of course, not undertake any such contacts without the knowledge of the GVN (Government of South Vietnam)."

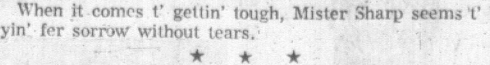
In Washington, a state department spokesman said: "We have nothing to add to what the embassy in Saigon has said."

The "actual meetings" referred to in the U.S. embassy statement apparently were in regard to reports from other sources that a meeting between U.S. officials and Viet Cong representatives did take place in a "neutral embassy" in Saigon within the last 10 days.

A Saigon newspaper said the proposed Bunker meeting was arranged by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency without letting the South Vietnamese government know about it. A member of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives also implied that the CIA tried to set up a contact with the Viet Cong without advising the Saigon government.

The sources who reported the meeting that didn't come off said it was arranged for early in November but national police arrested the Viet Cong envoy in Saigon before he reached the embassy.

The sources said it was believed the police did not know the purpose of the Viet Cong agent's visit to Saigon, but the agent "spilled the beans" after he was questioned.



When it comes t' gettin' tough, Mister Sharp seems t' be tryin' fer sorrow without tears.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds and rye took most of the light action on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in trading today.

Both rapeseed and flax prices showed firmness due largely to the light offerings rather than aggressive demand.

Exchange Seats Bring Record Price

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two Pacific Coast Stock Exchange memberships have been sold at a record price of $65,000 each to two English firms.

They were bought Monday by Rowe and Pitman and Joseph Sebag and Company, both of London, for $2,500 more than the previous top sale.

Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice Gibson has reserved decision in anti-combine charges against five Vancouver freight forwarders following a three-week Exchequer Court hearing.

His judgment will be handed down later in Ottawa.

Charged under the Combines Investigation Act were J. W. Mills and Son Ltd., Kuehne and Nagel (Canada) Ltd., Overland Import Agencies Ltd., Denning Freight Forwards Ltd., and Johnson Termials Ltd.

The Crown alleges the firms between Jan. 1, 1956, and Aug. 1, 1966, unlawfully conspired to unduly limit the facilities for transporting or dealing in articles imported from the Orient and sent to Eastern Canada by railway pool cars.

The 30,000-pound-capacity pool cars are shared by a number of importers wishing to send smaller shipments to a common destination.

Total revenue increased to $247,823,977 from $213,944,980 while expenses rose to $212,814,209 from $184,476,789.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Liquor Stocks Decline

Only reaction on the Toronto Stock Exchange today to Thursday night's mini-budget was a drop in liquor stocks.

Finance Minister Sharp called for increased taxes on liquors.

Trading at Toronto was light.

The New York market put on a mixed showing but finished ahead.

AT TORONTO B.C. Sugar advanced 2¼ to 43¾ and Massey-Ferguson, Noranda and Falconbridge 1 each to 17½, 52 and 87, respectively. FPE Pioneer fell 1 to 30½.

In western oils, Canadian Gridoil jumped 1½ to 12, Scurry-Rainbow 1⅛ to 44⅝ and Hudson's Bay Oil ¾ to 45¾. Dome Petroleum fell ⅞ to 58⅛.

Among base metals, Rio Algom declined ½ to 34 and in golds Giant Yellowknife was down 60 cents to 7.80.

Trading was halted in shares of Meta Uranium, the most active mining stock so far this week. Earlier, Meta sold at 37 cents, up 2½ cents.

"The halting of trading is to permit a public announcement to be made by management of Meta and for further inquiries to be made by the exchange," a statement said.

AT NEW YORK the market seemed to be groping for a trend following Thursday's decline.

Shelving of the U.S. income tax proposal for the balance of this year was regarded as a bearish factor but news elements were not accorded much weight as the market was seen as consolidating recent gains purely on a technical basis.

AT MONTREAL gains and losses were about evenly matched in trading today.

Senior mines and oils were active. Noranda jumped one point to 52, and B-A Oil ½ to 37¾. International Nickel dipped ¾ to 122½.

Papers were mixed as Bathurst climbed ½ to 25 affter announcing a 50-cent fourth-quarter dividend. MacMillan-Bloedel was stronger and Fraser slid ½ to 17¾, reacting to news of sharply lower earnings.

AT LONDON the stock market fell further today and, although a few leading industrials were off the bottom, losses ranging to one shilling or more were widespread.

Fresh institutional selling of gilts, brought falls of as much as 5-16.

In a dull dollar section Canadian Pacific dropped five points. Inco and Noranda headed the list of falls elsewhere among Canadians. Losses in Canadian banks ranged to four shillings.

AT VANCOUVER Massey-Ferguson and Neon Products led the way in the industrial section today as prices strengthened in light trading.

Volume was 696,175 to noon, below the usual average to noon.

Prices remained firm, however, as Massey-Ferguson gained .75 from Thursday's close to $17.25. Neon added .37 to $8.87.

Royal American and Sunlite were the most active oil issues and both gained — Royal American .04 to $1.05 and Sunlite .06 to .89.

Brenda was the big gainer in the mining section, adding .55 to $7.75. Endako was up .37 to $12.25. Westland Copper slipped .10 to $1.14 and Craigmont dropped .25 to $12.50.

No Frosting On Cake GM Warns UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A meeting of the United Auto Workers General Motors Council was called today to set a date for a GM strike, if one is necessary.

The UAW and General Motors resumed negotiations on a new contract this week for the first time since Oct. 31.

General Motors has indicated it is willing to write a contract with the UAW that is within the limits of the economic agreement won for the union's 160,000 members at Ford Motor Co. and 103,000 at Chrysler Corp.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands on GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if the union goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "it will be in for a big fight."

The union told the company Monday that what it called "erosion of the bargaining unit" by moving automated jobs out of union jurisdiction will be an important issue.

Representation, specifically the company requirement that union committee men work at least an hour a day on their regular jobs, is also expected to cause trouble.

The union represents 380,000 workers at GM.

D.O.T. Will Build New Lighthouse

A new lightstation costing $124,110 is to be built on Sisters Island, just off Lesquiti Island in Georgia Strait, the department of transport marine division has announced.

The new lightstation replaces the existing facilities which are to be demolished during construction of the new station.

Contract was won by D. Robinson Construction (1952) Ltd. of Nanaimo.

The new tower will be 55 feet high, six feet wide flaring out to 13 feet at the top. Two 36-inch rotating lights will be installed inside a 10-foot glass lantern. The lights will be visible for 15 miles.

A four-bedroom home will be included in the installation and four lightkeepers will be employed working in pairs. They will be transported to the station by helicopter.

The lightstation will be equipped with a marine radio beacon, two 10-kilowatt diesel generators and two sets of foghorns.

Easy Passage Expected For Divorce Reform Bill

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP)—Little appears to stand in the way of the long-sought overhaul of Canada's divorce laws within a few months.

The government plans to introduce in the Commons next week a resolution that will precede a divorce reform bill to be introduced later.

Justice Minister Trudeau has assured the Commons it is the government's intention to get the bill approval in principle before Christmas.

As a government bill, it will automatically receive powerful support from Liberall MPs although a free vote has been promised. And there's no sign of serious objection from opposition members.

Both factors point to a fairly easy ride through the Commons for the bill, which will greatly broaden grounds of divorce. The basic ground now is adultery.

Informants say the reform bill will largely follow the June recommendations of the all-party Senate-Commons committee on divorce. New grounds will probably include desertion, wilful non-support, cruelty and evidence of marriage breakdown such as alcoholism.

DIVORCE MADE EASY

The act may also make other changes to make divorce easier in the first major overhaul of divorce legislation in a century. The overhaul has been promoted by a handful of MPs for a decade.

Once in the Commons, the bill may undergo some cross-fire on broadening the grounds. There is a group that prefers marriage breakdown as the prime ground for divorce, rather than the listing of specific grounds as the bill is expected to do.

If the bill wins speedy approval in Parliament, there appear to be no reasons to delay its proclamation as law promptly. The moment it becomes law, it is thought many thousands will be able to take advantage of it.
